NEW YORK, July 5.—The bull movement was well maintained in today's stock market, although considerable realizing had to be absorbed, and the volume of trading fell off to around the 4,000,000 share level.

There was a notable disposition to take profits on the theory that technical position of the market had been weakened in the past few days during the period of advances of recent sessions.

Analysis of the report shows that for one account increased $227,000,000 and loans for account of town banks rose $44,000,000, while loans for account of decreased $35,000,000.

ONTARIO CUTS OFF
LIQUOR TO BOAT
RIDERS FROM U. S.

Long Lines of Americans at Cobourg Daily Arouse Canadian Drys.

By the Associated Press.

TORONTO, Ont., July 5.—The Ontario Liquor Control Board has ordered that no more temporary permits be issued at the Cobourg Liquor Store during the time the boat which crosses Lake Ontario daily from the United States is docked in the harbor.

American citizens arriving on the boat, the board has been informed, have been flocking to the store during the one or two hours at their disposal and queues have formed regularly on the street outside the store.

Temperance advocates in the town complained regarding the queues and the manager of the store recommended that it be closed.

"We could not do that," said Stewart McElenaghan, acting chairman of the board, "so we are refusing to issue temporary permits during the hour or two in which the boat is docked."

DRUNK, CHEMIST REPORTS

Analysis Made of Vital Organs of Wilmer Stultz Following Crash in New York.

By the Associated Press.

MINEOLA, N. Y., July 5.—The report of Dr. Alexander O. Goettler, who made a chemical analysis of the vital organs of Wilmer Stultz, trans-Atlantic flyer who was killed with two passengers in an airplane accident last Monday, declares "the man was very drunk at the time of his death."

The Nassau County Prosecutor's office announced Dr. Goettler's findings today.

Stultz and his companions were killed when his plane went into a tail spin while he was "stunting" at an altitude of 200 feet near Roosevelt field.

The District Attorney's office indicated that the crash was started against speakasles said to supply liquor to aviators.

KIRKWOOD M. E. CHURCH
PASTOR FALLS DEAD AT HOME

The Rev. William E. Sullens Succumbs Apparently to Attack of Heart Disease.

The Rev. William E. Sullens, 45 years old, pastor of Kirkwood Methodist Church, fell dead shortly before noon today at his home, 145 West Washington avenue, Kirkwood. Heart disease apparently was the cause.

The Rev. Mr. Sullens had been ill for several days but had not considered his condition sufficiently serious to consult a physician or remain in bed.

A native of Springfield, Mo., the Rev. Mr. Sullens was educated at Central College, Fayette, Mo., and Yale University, succeeding his father as pastor of Campbell Street Methodist Episcopal Church at Springfield. Six years ago he became pastor of University Methodist Episcopal Church at University City, transferring to the Kirkwood church three years ago. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Zay Sullens, and two children, Eleanor, 9 years old, and William E. Jr., 13.

GRAND JURY TAKES UP SCANDAL OVER
SMALL LOAN LAW

Circuit Attorney Starts Inquiry Into Charges Corruption Fund Was Used to Influence Legislature.

$40,000 REPORTED IN ESCROW HERE

Miller Seeks to Determine Whether Any of Alleged Transactions Took Place in St. Louis.

The St. Louis grand jury under the direction of Circuit Attorney Miller today began an investigation into the small loan legislative scandal in which charges were made that a large corruption fund was used to influence members of the Legislature.

The purpose of the local inquiry is to determine whether any of the alleged transactions took place in St. Louis and if so to institute prosecution in the St. Louis courts. As has been told in the Post-Dispatch, rumors of the use of large amounts of money in connection with the small loan legislation were widely circulated in Jefferson City and elsewhere during the last session of the Legislature, and the arbitrary action of Chairman Buford of the Senate Committee on Criminal Jurisprudence in refusing to report any of the small loan amendments caused a scandal in the closing days of the session.

The small loan law was enacted by the 1927 Legislature and provided that licensees under the law might charge interest of not more than 3 1/2 per cent a month, or 42 per cent a year, on loans not to exceed $500.

Senate Bills Pigeon-holed. In the 1929 Legislature numerous bills were introduced to repeal this law or reduce the interest rate and provide for closer regulation of the licensees by the State Finance Department.

The bills were held up in committee on the ground that the law was unconstitutional, although the committee had held a public hearing on them. Members of the committee stated that a majority had voted to report one or more of the bills, but that Chairman Buford refused to make the report. In this state of affairs the Ballou bill which had passed the House was referred to the Senate. Instead of referring it to Buford's committee, Lieut. Gov. Winters, as President of the Senate, sent it to the Senate Judiciary Committee, from which it was promptly reported with an amendment restoring the 42 per cent interest rate.

Rate Cut to 30 Per Cent. Senator Deamont of Cape Girardeau, who had made an unsuccessful fight in the Senate to attack the loan bills out of Buford's committee by vote of the Senate, took the interest reduction fight to the floor and succeeded in getting the Ballou bill passed with an interest rate of 30 per cent a year. The House just before adjournment concurred in this change and the bill was passed and signed by Gov. Cahoon.

Throughout the stormy course of this bill members of the Legislature frequently made reference to the lobby working to keep the 42 per cent rate and to rumors of a large corruption fund.

Previously the charge had been made in a $200,000 damage suit filed against certain small loan companies and individuals in the Circuit Court of St. Louis by the Service Purchasing Co., a salary buying concern, that enactment of the law in 1927 was procured by use of a large corruption fund in the Legislature.

Rumors of $40,000 Fund. The Post-Dispatch, investigating the charges made in that lawsuit, learned that prior to 1927 the salary buyers and the small loan companies operating in St. Louis had agreed in a meeting at Atlantic City on the kind of small loan bill that was to be introduced in Missouri and that it was not to contain the section sometimes found in such laws defining salary buying by lending money and making the salary buyers amenable to the provisions of the law.

It was learned that despite this agreement the bill as introduced contained a clause placing a penalty on the salary buyers.

TWO STRIKING CAR MEN KILLED IN NEW ORLEANS RIOT

A Third Is Wounded When Police Fire—Authorities Order Company to Suspend Operations.

MANY HURT BY STICKS AND STONES

Three Officers Tear Off Badge and Join Attackers—Track Torn Up, Switches Cemented.

By the Associated Press.

NEW ORLEANS, July 5.—Violence met violence today in the four-day street car strike here as the company attempted to resume service with imported operators under heavy guard.

The starting of three street cars resulted in two strikers being shot, one in the head, innumerable heads being bruised by bricks and sticks, and further vandalism. One of the two shot today and another wounded last night have died.

The City Commission this afternoon ordered the New Orleans Public Service Co. Inc., to discontinue all attempts to renew service for the time being. The Commission order also instructed the police department to disperse mobs congregated in the streets and about the car barns.

The disturbance centered around the Canal street barn. The first car to start out was greeted with a shower of bricks and was driven back to the barn after 20 minutes' operation. A second car was then started and a mob of more than a thousand men and a few women stormed it with bricks and sticks. The police guard, armed with shotguns and pistols, first fired a volley into the air as the mob pressed on, then lowered their weapons and aimed just above the heads of the crowd.

Many Minor Injuries. Police reserves, heavily armed, went to the scene in response to a riot call and attempted to drive the crowd back. Hundreds of minor injuries were reported as the crowd yelled and repeatedly stormed the car.

The second car got through and with broken window panes made its way through Canal street, accompanied by the boos and cheers of pedestrians. This car returned to the barn and a third was started. The crowd stopped it a block away with a storm of bricks, but the car got another start and went around the belt line, where it encountered soaped tracks and blocked rights of way.

When it started back for the barn, it was stopped in the middle of the street while the crowd of strikers and sympathizers rained bricks on it. Police fought desperately, but the crowd overpowered them. The motorman finally quit and a policeman drove the car to the barn.

Three policemen throw away their badges and arms amid the cheers of the crowd and joined the strikers. Many arrests were made. The third car was literally demolished on the lower end of Canal street when it attempted a second trip. The guards and car men deserted the car while the mob completed the wreck.

Starters' House Burned.

Toward midday the strikers set upon the starter's house on lower Canal street, tore it down with picks and their own hands and set fire to the wreckage. Then they applied the torch to a work car nearby, burned an abandoned streetcar and tore the burned work car to pieces.

Edwin Peyroux, president of the union, protested to the City Commission Council, because the police used firearms.

Brickbat throwing and pistol firing in riots at the Canal street and the Arabelle barns last night caused 71 arrests but the strikers were freed in court of charges of disturbing the peace late in the night. Many who participated in a fight of 1000 men and police at the Canal street barn when the company sought to transport 1000 workers to the barn suffered lacerations and contusions.

The disturbance at the Arabelle barn was quelled by policemen after a 45-minute fight with the strikers. Stones, bricks and other missiles hurled by the mob and free use of police night sticks caused most of the injuries. Windows in the car barns were broken. Public Service Co. officials de-

SAYS ANN LIVINGSTON SOUGHT OLD HUSBAND

Surprise Witness From St. Louis Asserts Wealthy Indian Was Her First Choice.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, July 5.—A wealthy Indian or a white man with plenty of money was what Ann Livingston sought for a husband in the days when she lived in Oklahoma, a second surprise witness testified today in the young divorcee's $250,000 breach of promise suit against Franklin Harding, oil burner manufacturer.

And Ann really preferred that her husband-to-be, if he were not an Indian, be rather up in years, William E. Logan of St. Louis testified.

These things Ann confided to Logan when the two worked in a Tulsa department store, he said.

Employed now at a filling station in St. Louis, Logan told Miss Livingston's attorney on cross-examination that he volunteered to come to Chicago to testify. He said he wrote Harding's attorney that he was coming to visit his brother and would be willing to take the stand.

Ann volunteered information as to the kind of husband she was looking for, said Logan, when a new man joined the store force. Logan first thought the new man was an Indian and Ann asked to meet him.

"Is he wealthy?" Logan replied he believed he was.

"That's what I am looking for, a rich Indian or an old man with money," replied Miss Livingston, who later came to Chicago to marry the wealthy Chicagoan she is now suing for breach of promise.

The plaintiff's former landlady, Mrs. James Beyer of Tulsa, wound up the defense case by testifying that Livingston sought to marry Harding, divorce him and "get what she could." The witness also said Mrs. Livingston told her two years ago that she was engaged to marry Charles Nix of St. Louis.

Mrs. Beyer stamped her foot and refused to answer when on cross-examination she was asked about being paid for testifying and about her own domestic life. The Court advised her to answer. She testified her former husband, Dr. J. Walter Beyer of Tulsa, had been taken from her by "a young girl."

She said her expenses were being paid while she was in Chicago.

OFF FOR FRANCE IN OPEN BOAT WITH OUTBOARD MOTOR

Youthful Norwegian Is Given Compass by Admirer Before Leaving Boston.

BOSTON, July 5.—The Elsie Mackay, a 16-foot open boat, equipped with a second-hand outboard motor, set forth from this port yesterday for Havre, France.

Her lone occupant, David G. Turner, 23-year-old Norwegian, whose chief asset appeared to be pluck, was confident that his craft would reach the other side of the Atlantic safely in about two months.

An attempt to get away a few days ago ended abruptly about a mile down the harbor, when engine trouble developed. The boat carried 75 gallons of gasoline, which Turner believed would suffice until he reached St. Johns, N. F., where he intends to refuel. Turner plans to subsist on canned food. The sky will be his roof at all times and his bedding consisted of a few blankets and a strip of canvas. Turner had planned to navigate without the aid of a compass, but shortly before he left an admirer presented him with one. His total financial resources were about $50.

36 HURT IN
STATION

Rear Coach on Frisco Suburban Is Struck by Observation Car of Burlington Flyer.

ACCIDENT LAID TO CONDUCTOR OF LOCAL

Executives Say He Allowed Engineer to Overrun Signal—He Asserts It Was Changed Too Late.

By the Associated Press.

Thirty-six men, passengers in the smoking car of a Frisco suburban train from Valley Park, were injured this morning in a collision with a Burlington flyer from Kansas City as the two trains were being backed slowly into the train shed at Union Station.

The smoker, a wooden car at the rear of the train, was struck full in the center by the steel observation car of the Burlington train, and overturned. The passengers, all residents of St. Louis County bound for work in the downtown district, were thrown into heaps on the lower side, showered by broken glass and struck by seat cushions which fell with them. The next Frisco car was derailed, but none of its passengers was injured.

At the City Hospital, 25 men were treated for cuts and bruises and sent home. Of the eight who remained at that hospital, seven were suffering from fractures and one from multiple lacerations. One patient had a possible fracture of the skull and another a possible fracture of the spine. These two cases were regarded as serious. Three were taken to St. Mary's Infirmary and three to Frisco Hospital.

Executives Blame Conductor.

P. W. Conley, Frisco superintendent and Henry Miller, president of Terminal Railroad Association, told reporters that Frank Chumley, conductor of the Frisco train, had permitted his train to overrun a signal. Chumley protested that he had received a proceed signal, which was changed suddenly, too late for him to signal his engineer to stop.

Yard employees who witnessed the accident and the crews of both trains gave detailed testimony during three hours this afternoon in the office of B. B. Hickman, superintendent of the Terminal Railroad Association. At the conclusion of the hearing a statement was issued in behalf of President Henry Miller, of the Terminal, which said that an investigation had been held, that the evidence would be considered on its merits and a decision rendered later.

The Frisco train was backing in from the east and the Burlington train was backing in from the west at a speed of about 10 miles an hour, when the crash occurred at a crossing about 50 feet beyond the train shed near the east side of the station. Both trains, due in the station at 7:25 a. m., were on time.

J. M. Perry, chief dispatcher in the Terminal Railroad's signal tower a short distance from the spot, said the Frisco train had proceeded against a point just beyond the Eighteenth street viaduct and a stop signal directly over the crossing where the collision occurred.

Perry said he realized the collision was about to occur and turned on a siren, audible for several blocks, which brought all traffic in the yards to a halt.

Siren Warned Passengers.

Passengers in the wrecked smoking car said they did not realize an accident was impending until the siren sounded as the trains were about to collide. Conductor Chumley, on the rear car, applied the signal cord and applied the air brakes just before the car was struck. He was thrown down with the passengers but was not injured.

C. F. Buchner and Charles E. Bull, who were sitting side by side on the west side of the car, said they saw the Burlington train approaching, but expected to see it turn aside until a moment before the collision occurred.

"Then we jumped to our feet," Buchner said, "and were standing in the aisle when the car went over. We all tumbled down in heaps but nobody seemed to get scared or hysterical. Somebody shouted, 'Take it easy! Take it easy!' It was only a few minutes until everybody was out."

TWO CHICAGO BOOTLEGGERS
ARRESTED BY PARIS POLICE

Men Said to Be Associates of Capone Had Been Living in Montmartre.

PARIS, July 5.—Admitting they were spending the proceeds of bootlegging operations in Chicago, two men were arrested today. They said they were William MacCherry and Robert Miller. The French police said the men were members of the gang known as "Scarface" Al Capone.

The prisoners said they left Chicago because it was getting "healthy." They landed in Paris July 13 from a vessel which sailed from Montreal. The French police had been warned of their coming, and at the request of the New York authorities had been shadowing them since they set foot in the country.

The authorities assert both have a string of aliases and that Miller's photograph appears in the police galleries of New York and Chicago under several names.

The men had been found with money around the Montmartre district, and a search of their pockets disclosed more than $10,000 in cash as well as blank checks and several allegedly fraudulent letters of credit. They are held temporarily under charges of promoting a fake oil company.

281 ARE INJURED
IN CELEBRATION OF FOURTH IN CITY

Most of Those Hurt Are Children—Total, Including Pre-Holiday Casualties Is 404.

Use of fireworks in Fourth of July celebrations yesterday resulted in injuries to 281 persons, most of children. All are expected to recover.

Counting 123 injured in premature celebrations there have been 404 injured in fireworks. Besides, four children were burned to death last Saturday in the Schmitt 5- and 10-cent store at West Florissant and Warne avenues when a stock of fireworks was ignited by a short circuit.

The city fire department answered 51 alarms between midnight Wednesday and 6 a. m. today. Many of the fires were attributed to falling skyrockets and fireworks thrown by children.

The fires caused little damage. A steady stream of injured children and adults passed through City Hospital yesterday to take anti-tetanus serum for burned fingers, arms and legs and singed eyebrows.

"Harmless" cap pistols had burned fingers, toothpicks had struck here and there, Roman candles had been discharged prematurely or tardily; cannon crackers and sparklers also had taken their toll.

The City Hospital received the majority of the cases, but others were treated at St. Mary's and St. Louis hospitals. St. Luke's Hospital, St. Mary's and Jewish Hospital.

In East St. Louis the injured were treated at St. Mary's and Christian Welfare hospitals. Others were treated at physicians' offices.

15,000 WATCH-FLYING CIRCUS AT LAMBERT-ST. LOUIS FIELD

Parachute Leap, Balloon Busting and Stunting Features; Similar Program Sunday.

A holiday crowd of about 15,000 persons was entertained at Lambert-St. Louis field yesterday afternoon by a special program of stunt flying, balloon busting, and a parachute jump. Encouraged by the enthusiasm of the crowd, Field Manager Parks announced that a similar program would be given Sunday afternoon.

Robert Grubb, a student at Universal Aviation school and a Lieutenant in the Balloon Observation Corps of the Royal Flying Service during the war, made the parachute leap from an airplane at an altitude of 3000 feet, landing safely on a natural bridge over the field. It was his first jump from a plane, although he had made several hundred leaps from balloons.

Lieut. Milford Sater, chief instructor of the Universal Flying School, won the balloon busting contest breaking three of five top balloons with his plane. Elmer Lindenberg of the Von Hoffman school and Ross Mahachick of the Universal school tied for second place, breaking two of five. Sam Lambert and Van Nettleton, private pilots, tied for third place breaking one of five.

Dale "Red" Jackson of Curtiss Flying Service won the stunt flying contest with a series of barrel rolls, loops, tail spins and upside down flying. Jackson and several pilots of the National Guard unit later entertained a crowd at the St. Louis Country Club with similar stunts.

The Lambert field program was in charge of O. R. Parks, who was assisted by Archie League, former pilot at the field.

NEW ORLEANS DELEGATION RETURNS HOME BY PLANE

Made Trip Preliminary to Opening of Regular Flying Route to St. Louis.

A delegation of New Orleans business men that flew to St. Louis Wednesday in connection with the opening of aerial passenger service between here and New Orleans by the Southern Air Express, left Lambert-St. Louis field shortly before 9 a. m. yesterday on its return flight.

The New Orleans men were met here by members of the Air Board of the Chamber of Commerce, headed by Stanley Clarke, chairman, Walter J. G. Neun, representing the city, and officials of local airplane companies.

James Wedell, president of Wedell-Williams Air Service, and John Worthen piloted the Ryan biplane of Southern Air Express, making the trip to St. Louis in eight hours and three minutes.

Formal opening of the tri-weekly service will be next week. It is planned to make the service daily later. The fare is $60.

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., July 5.—Arthur E. Randle of Santa Barbara and Washington ended his life by shooting himself in the head with a shotgun on Wednesday. He had previously deposited $1000 in a bank to pay for the cremation of his body and had arranged for his funeral. He left written instructions that his ashes were to be strewn on the grave of his wife. Randle was a Colonel on the staff of Gov. Longino of Mississippi in 1902. He moved to Washington in 1885. He financed the building of two railroads and founded five towns near the District of Columbia.

Originator of Listerine Provided Guardian for Heirs Before Their Birth

By Conveyance of Trust, Four Great Grandchildren of Dr. Joseph J. Lawrence Are Wards of Henry R. Strong, St. Louis Publisher.

ALTHOUGH the four minors who are the heirs of the $7,000,000 estate of the late Dr. Joseph J. Lawrence, originator of the formula for Listerine, enjoy the devotion of a stepfather, they are the wards of Henry R. Strong, St. Louis publisher and a close friend of the doctor. The situation was brought about by the terms of a conveyance in trust made by Dr. Lawrence and by the later will executed by his granddaughter, the children's mother.

The heirs are Josephine Lawrence Hopkins, 29 years old, John Randolph Hopkins, 18; Susie McRee Hopkins, 16, and Minnie Fox Hopkins, 11. During the winter they reside in an apartment on Fifth avenue in New York, not far from the site of the mansion their great-grandfather built on the same thoroughfare years ago after he left St. Louis.

They have a country home at Irvington-on-Hudson, N. Y., adjoining the picturesque old home of Washington Irving, which is still occupied by descendants of his family. The Hopkins estate is one of about 50 acres and is well kept about the picturesque old home. These heirs' tranquil lives offer no hint of the hardships Dr. Lawrence knew while he was amassing his fortune.

Stipulations of Conveyance.

When Dr. Lawrence, a former St. Louisian living in New York, drew up a conveyance in trust just 14 days before he died in 1909, only the eldest of today's heirs had been born. He stipulated that his fortune should go to his wife, Mrs. Josephine Lawrence, who died in 1921, and to his granddaughter, Mrs. Vera Lawrence Siegrist Hopkins, who died last year, three parts to the one to be divided among the four heirs.

When Dr. Lawrence conveyed the trust to James P. Dawson, his personal friend and attorney, as trustee, with William E. Garvin and Henry R. Strong, other friends, as successors in trust.

Upon the death of both his wife and granddaughter, the trust was to cease and the property go to any child or children of Mrs. Hopkins, or his successors should become guardian or guardians.

While Dr. Lawrence had no legal right to appoint a guardian for his great-grandchildren, especially those yet unborn, he was technically by making other relatives in North Carolina his beneficiaries in the event his wishes were not complied with.

The recent termination here of the trust estate of Dr. Lawrence, ordered by Circuit Judge Landwehr on Strong's application, found Strong the only surviving trustee, having died in 1917 and Garvin in 1925. The value of the Listerine royalty contract was variously appraised in depositions at from $7,000,000 to $10,000,000.

This legal procedure, briefly noted at the time, covered up older St. Louisians who knew Dr. Lawrence's secret of bygone days and recalled to them the arresting character of the man who built up his fortune.

How Listerine Got Its Name.

"In 1879," Strong said, "a great deal of publicity was being given Lord Lister, the London physician who in developing Pasteur's discovery, announced that with the use of carbolic acid, pus formations could be avoided in surgery. This rendered comparatively safe many operations previously found to be dangerous."

"But Dr. Lawrence, who lived in St. Louis then, was opposed to the use of so powerful an agent as carbolic acid and after a series of experiments, he perfected the formula for an antiseptic to take the place of carbolic acid. He named it after Lord Lister. For 25 years it was advertised and sold exclusively to physicians and not until several years after Dr. Lawrence's death was it advertised to the general public."

Dr. Lawrence was born in Edgecombe County, North Carolina, in 1836. When 25 years old, he organized a troop of cavalry with which he served the Confederacy during the Civil War. The letter of acceptance received from Jefferson Davis is still preserved in the family.

Published Newspaper.

Dr. Lawrence's disapproval of being subject to authority, so pronounced in his later life, was with him even then. The Confederate President's letter, he maintained, phrase, "When in service, it (the troop) must be under the orders of superior officers," suggesting that Dr. Lawrence must have attempted to lay down conditions in making his army.

After vainly attempting to cope with the commercial uncertainties of the reconstruction period, when he published for a time the first daily newspaper in North Carolina, The Daily Rough Notes, in Goldsboro, and later operated a drug store in the town of Wilson, he removed with his family to St. Louis. Prior to leaving North Carolina, he was the proprietor of the Greystone Hotel in the city.

time in Wilson the Medical Brief, but the difficulties encountered were so great that this enterprise was temporarily abandoned.

In St. Louis, following his genius for the manufacture of Listerine, he began the manufacture of standardized prescriptions to insure the correct percentage of ingredients which the drug stores of that day did not make certain. For two years his establishment was in two rooms at 100 South Main street, and during this time, as an example of Dr. Lawrence's pluck and determination, his friends recall that he walked daily from his home at "Thirty-fourth and Olive streets to his office. The growth of his business in time obliged a removal to 116 Olive street.

Sold Paper to Strong.

Although he resumed publication of the Medical Brief, it was upon his large-scale manufacture of uniform prescriptions, as distinguished from so-called "patent medicines," that his fortune was founded. Strong, who has published the National Druggist for many years, bought the Medical Brief some time before Dr. Lawrence removed to New York and now publishes both periodicals.

When Dr. Lawrence perfected the Listerine formula, Jordan W. Lambert, for whom the Lambert Pharmaceutical Co. was named, was a clerk in the Mellier Bros. drug store at 709 Washington avenue. As was the case with many other associates, he took a liking to Lambert and made him John R. Peacock, another young druggist, his partners in organizing the Lambert firm.

When Peacock sold out his interest in this firm, Dr. Lawrence started a new proprietary medicine, which he called Listerine, a large interest and placing him in charge of it.

Because of these expanding ventures, Dr. Lawrence finally sold out his interests on a royalty basis, since he believed it unethical that he should control the firms which advertised in the Medical Brief. After his death, Jordan W. Lambert Jr., having been admitted to the firm, changed the name of the firm to the Lambert company's policy and, securing an $80,000 advertising appropriation, began to place Listerine before the general public.

Pronounced Individual.

The 10 per cent royalty contract, still in force, promptly increased, so that, while the total since Dr. Lawrence's death was not disclosed in the court proceedings here, it amounted to $12,000,000 in the period from 1917 to last March. In 1928 the royalties totaled $700,000.

"No man," Strong said, "was more independent in thought and action than Dr. Lawrence. His first vote cast in opposition to his own father—and voting was a serious family affair in those days. He was a pronounced individualist, this conviction being so strong that he never, to my knowledge, joined any society or similar organization, medical or otherwise. He felt that he would be compelled to surrender at least some portion of his liberty of thought and action."

Authority whether in religion, politics, medicine or anything else, commanded scant respect from him.

"He had a keen insight into human nature and could measure men almost at a glance with singular accuracy. It was his boast that no man in whom he reposed trust, whether as an employee or a business associate, had ever proved false to him. Oftentimes, he would start a young man out as a solicitor for the Medical Brief, and if he didn't

PASTOR TO KILL SNAKE WITH CIGARETTE SMOKE IN CHURCH

Kansas Anti-Cigarette League Superintendent to Hold Demonstration at Sunday Service.

TOPEKA, Kan., July 5.—That the smoke from two cigarettes is sufficient to kill a snake is to be demonstrated at the Free Methodist Church of Topeka Sunday by the Rev. Alva P. Jones, superintendent of the Kansas Anti-Cigarette League.

It has announced that the performance will be held at the regular church service Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock.

Several years ago attention was centered on Topeka when a large congregation was shown how a cat could be killed by forcing nicotine to its mouth. This demonstration was held in church facing the State capitol building. Friends of the cat made considerable complaint against the cruel treatment administered in the church edifice.

KILLS ONE POLICEMAN AND WOUNDS ANOTHER AT HOTEL

Man Suspected of Stealing Auto Captured After Resisting Inquiry.

SPRINGFIELD, O., July 5.—One policeman was killed and another was critically wounded in a fight in a hotel yesterday with a man who was suspected of stealing an automobile.

The officers were found lying side by side in his room after the shooting. Detective Oliver Holterby, dead of three bullet wounds, and his partner, Howard Roush, unconscious.

Capture of the gunman followed his attempt to obtain medical treatment at South Charleston, where a physician notified police. The prisoner bore three bullet wounds.

MEMBERS OF BYRD PARTY CAN HEAR BREATH FREEZE IN 64 DEGREES BELOW ZERO

Ventilators on Houses Pour Forth Vapors Like Clouds of Steam—Kerosene Turns to Ice—Signs of Returning Sun.

By RUSSELL OWEN.
(Copyright, 1929, by the New York Times Co. and the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.)
This story is published exclusively in the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. All news articles from members of the Byrd party or from special correspondents assigned to this city.

LITTLE AMERICA, Antarctica, July 4.—The thermometer went down to 64 degrees below zero Tuesday night before beginning to rise, and it was cold.

It was so cold that, standing outside the entrance to the house tunnel without a hat to muffle the ears, the sound of one's breath freezing was plainly audible.

Could Hear Breath Freeze. If one stood sideways to the wind so that the breath would blow past the forehead ear there was distinguishable a faint shivering sound like snow blowing along the surface in a strong wind. There was a momentary interval between the expiration of the breath and the sound which intensified the effect, for there was no reason for believing that the sound was caused by the breath itself leaving the lips.

One after another of those in the house went up to experiment and verify this amusing phenomenon, but nobody lingered. Although it is possible to stand outside without extra clothing for a few moments, the cold quickly eats through lips, nose and ears and fingers and drives one to a hasty retreat.

Contrast in Temperatures. There is a striking contrast between the temperature inside and that outside. It was about 62 above in the house, while it was 63 below zero outdoors, a difference of 125 degrees.

That one can undergo such a violent change in temperature, even for a few moments, without extra protection seems remarkable. Just think what it would be to go from a comfortable house into a 125 degrees hot.

Kerosene Freezes. The cold causes some interesting things to happen. Yesterday it was found that a can of kerosene left out in the snow tunnel near the entrance had frozen solid. It was brought into the hut. And yet at home kerosene is used to prevent automobile radiators from freezing. Some of it was put in a test tube and frozen solid out doors and some in a cigarette can turned in a short time to a mushy consistency like tallow just about to melt.

It steamed tremendously when brought into the house as a finger poked into it was nipped as if by fire. A kerosene lantern was placed outdoors and although it was lighted the kerosene inside froze in three-quarters of an hour. Vapors as From Steam Engine. The ventilators letting warm air out at the top of the houses pour forth vapor like the exhaust of a steam engine and when the door is opened vapor rushes in in a cloud. It works both ways.

Commander Byrd has a ventilator pipe running from a hole in a snow bank outside into his room. Yesterday it belched steam two or three feet into the room. The moisture from his breath froze on his face around his mouth so heavy that he continually had to pull it away from his face to keep from freezing him.

Frost on Everything. It is so cold here in the halls and under the bunks that everything placed there condenses moisture and are covered with frost. Haul out a can of tobacco from under the bunk and it looks as if it had been outdoors in a snow storm.

Even the mattresses and clothes placed between them and the sleeping bags become full of frost. And yet, we are quite warm and comfortable and if precautions are taken when going outdoors it is possible in calm weather such as Tuesday to walk for some time despite the cold.

Sky Brilliant With Stars. The sky is brilliant with stars that shine with unusual splendor in the clear air and there is no moon to dim them. At noon Tuesday there was a faint pink color on the northern horizon where the returning sun is slowly giving a little more light whenever the clouds let us see it and with it coming at last our real winter. The next two months will be the coldest of the year.

But 64 below is new to us and today is fourth of July.

20000 A YEAR MINIMUM FOR TEACHERS FAVORED

Annual Rise for Ten Years and State Pension Favored by American Federation.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, July 5.—A "cultural salary" for school teachers was voted today by a majority by the American Federation of Teachers, an organization affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

The convention went on record in favor of a minimum annual salary of $2000, to be raised annually for 10 years.

Resolutions urging state pensions for teachers also were adopted. The federation reaffirmed its stand that teachers should not be subjected to restrictions touching bobbed hair, short skirts, dancing, smoking and card playing not imposed on members of other professions.

Mrs. Mary C. Barker of Atlanta was re-elected president for her fifth term, and Mrs. Florence C. Hanson of Chicago was chosen for a third term as secretary.

HELD FOR LETTER THREATS
By the Associated Press.
SEATTLE, Wash., July 5.—U. Uchimiya, 49 years old, a Japanese, said to have been sought for 13 years by two Governments as a writer of threatening letters to many prominent persons, including Presidents of the United States and the Emperor of Japan, is under arrest here. Uchimiya, who speaks excellent English, is said to have admitted having written many letters but refused to discuss them.

U. S. COMMUNISTS DETAINED BY SOVIET

Group Was Called to Russia to Discuss Row in Radical Party.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, July 5.—The New York Times says that a group of American communist leaders are being "detained" in Moscow under orders of the Communist International.

Among them are Ben Gitlow, former Socialist member of the New York Assembly, Bertram D. Wolfe and John Pepper, Hungarian aid of Bela Kun.

They were called to Moscow to discuss factional troubles in the American communist party and are expected to remain until the factional elements in the American party have been reconciled. Jay Lovestone, who until recently was head of the party in this country, and was known as the "American Stalin," defied the detention order and escaped to this country.

He fled after interception of a cable message to his adherents here instructing them to seize the party machinery and wrest control from W. Z. Foster, who succeeded him as head of the party.

The group in Moscow has the freedom of Soviet Russia but they face expulsion from the party if they stand on their rights as American citizens to take their departure or leave without permission.

Under orders from Moscow, the Times says, Lovestone has been expelled from the American Communist party as a "renegade."

$190,000 BUILDING PROJECTS IN CAPE GIRARDEAU PROGRESS

$150,000 Telephone Plant Under Construction; Dairy Building Near Completion.

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo., July 3.—Fair weather during the late spring and early summer season has allowed progress on a building program for this city in keeping with its business expansion during the past five years. Two of the major projects now under construction are the office building for the Southeast Missouri Telephone Co., to cost $150,000, and Sunday school and recreation building for the First Presbyterian Church to cost approximately $40,000.

Final construction work is now being done on the large plant of the Mid-Continent Dairy Products Co., which will manufacture several milk products. O. A. Owens is completing a three-story apartment house, and projects for which no contracts have yet been awarded are a large catering and service station to be erected by the Kelso Oil Co. and two new church buildings. A total of 34 building permits have been issued since Jan. 1, the group including about two dozen dwellings now under construction.

ILLINOIS COUNTY BUYS PARKS Picks Up Tracts at Reasonable Prices for Public Use.

JOLIET, Ill.—To preserve the rapidly decreasing timbered sections, this county is making purchases of tracts wherever the price is reasonable. The Board of Supervisors has just appropriated $20,000 for this purpose.

The tracts acquired will be converted into public parks.

Spanish Flyers Deceived by Clouds Which They Thought To Be Mountains on Azores

But They Were Unable to Find Islands After Arriving at Deceptive Formations and Were Forced to Alight.

This is the second chapter of the story of Maj. Ramon Franco, commander of the Spanish Government expedition which started for America aboard a Dornier-Wal 16 seaplane on June 21, only to meet with disaster near the Azores.

After being on the water for seven days and eight nights, during which ships of five nations searched for the plane, its crew of four men was rescued by the British airplane carrier, Eagle, June 29. While on the way from the scene of his rescue to Gibraltar, Maj. Franco occupied his time writing the narrative of his adventures.

By MAJ. RAMON FRANCO.
(Copyright, 1929.)

MADRID, July 5.—We had been flying sometime when we decided to change our course a little, and point for the South, trying to get a glimpse of the small islands that go to make up the outlying parts of the Azores group.

The flight should have lasted six hours, and we should have landed at Horta at 9 o'clock by our chronometer, which was in Spanish time, or 6 o'clock Azores time.

We "shot the moon," getting our reckoning, and figured our position to be 37.35 north latitude. Later on, we reckoned our position again, and we calculated ourselves to be 26 miles south of the course we had plotted.

Before dawn, through the clouds we could see in the dim light some peaks which might have been part of the Azores, although the time figured for our landing was still far distant. The peaks seemed so real that we had not the slightest doubt that they were mountains on the Azores—and toward them we pointed the nose of our plane.

In order to make sure of them—but they were only misleading cloud formations that rose above the level plane of the cloud banks, forming a heavenly archipelago.

We were deceived several times by the clouds, and had we met with real mountains later on, we would have doubted their existence—we should not be deceived again, we had vowed.

Dawn was approaching; the sun was rising above the immense expanse of the persistent cloud formations, and now we were able to ascertain our longitudinal position and the distance we were from the Azores. We figured our position to be 20 degrees and 15 minutes west longitude—and then, with sinking feelings in the pit of every stomach aboard the plane, we discovered we had flown directly over the Azores, which were obscured by the cloud layers.

We were exactly west of Horta. Then we thought that those cloudy mountains might have been formations over the islands that paralleled the contour of the terrain—a thing that often happens. We had to cross this bank of clouds, and after circling time and again, we were able to perceive toward the south a few narrow breaks in the clouds that gave us an opportunity to fly below the cloud bank to view the open sea. The Azores which we sought could not be found.

Never were men so disappointed. Not a fear entered our hearts—but to think that we had overshot our goal filled us with chagrin. We decided to land—what else was there to do? We would then be able, with the moon, to reckon our exact position and then try again to reach the lost goal. What qualms were beginning to assert themselves now, what fears that went without voice.

The sea was running high and there was a heavy, northeast wind. Toward midday the clouds began to disperse, and we could, as we wished, finally reckon our exact position. Our latitude was 35 degrees and 55 minutes north.

It would have been possible for us to rise again only under the greatest difficulties, because the sea currents were strong and dangerous, and again we set out for the Azores. We had trouble clearing the waves, and the wind blew up again from the northeast, greatly hindering and buffeting our plane.

Our gasoline consumption kept up apace as we headed directly into the rising gale. The result was not hard to foresee. The last drop of gasoline was consumed when we were still 50 nautical miles from Horta. This was the greatest disaster we had suffered, for at that very instant we realized that we could not continue our flight to New York. Our greatest goal was beyond our reach.

We landed on the Atlantic for the second time. We set up our radio SOS signalling system, which was run by a generator and a gasoline motor. We had ten liters of gasoline, which we thought enough to power our wireless, our last hope for being saved from death in the Atlantic.

We raised our antenna to a height of 20 feet, poles fastened to the nose and tail of the plane, and began sending out our SOS with our position.

Then came our next disappointment—we could not develop sufficient power to get signals even to our own aerial—and we had to tear out our set and install it all over again.

The receiving set, which during the flight functioned perfectly, now stopped working altogether, and we were completely isolated from the world in a spot in the Atlantic rarely frequented by steamers, and being pushed toward the south by the relentless northeast winds. Thus we were taken further and further away from Horta—which was so close by when we alighted. The wind did more—it whipped up the sea, and the waves grew higher and the undertow there made us tremendously uneasy. We still had the food left over from the previous night, consisting of a potato omelet, two small chickens and some fish cakes. Besides these we had provisions for eight days, but—very little water. We left Los Alcazares Airfield with only a small vessel (Botlojan

Semi-Annual TRIPLE SHIRT SALE

(Wilson Bros. samples and seconds—Merick special lots and seconds)

The Subways semi-annual sale offers over 30,000 shirts at greatly reduced prices. Use this opportunity to buy your season's supply.

Half of the lot are samples and slight seconds from Wilson Bros., whose shirts are noted for their fine tailoring and fabrics, also their full cut body sizes. Most of the balance are Merick shirts—an exceptionally good make which we feature. Slight fabric misweaves are classed as seconds under Merick and Wilson Bros.' rigid inspection and the majority of these would be passed as firsts by many other makers. Every shirt is carefully folded and laundered, ready for use. Any shirt which does not pass your own inspection may be returned for exchange or refund.

Prices are quoted on lots of three or more. Selection may be made from different groups. Prepaid mail orders with postage included will be carefully filled. Sizes 13 1/2 to 17 1/2. Whites, solid colors, striped and figured patterns. Neckband, collar attached and collar to match styles.

THREE SAFES FORCED, ROBBERS TAKE $2168

Jewelry Valued at $175 Also Stolen at Offices of Beverage Concern.

Safe robbers obtained $2168 in cash and jewelry valued at $175 in three robberies yesterday and last night.

The combination was knocked from the safe of the Big Bend Beverage Co., 3850 Easton avenue, and $1200 in cash and $175 worth of jewelry was taken. The burglars left through a rear door found open early today by police.

Falling to open the safe after the combination had been torn away, robbers used chisels at the offices of the Universal Credit Co., 551 Postmen's Bank Building, taking $400 and several checks which are not negotiable, according to F. J. Coyne, assistant manager. Entrance was gained by opening a window from an adjoining room, left open while repairs were being made.

A meat cleaver was used to break open the safe of the Schenck Meat Co., 2800 Gravois avenue, after the strong box had been rolled into a storeroom. The loss was reported to police as $568 in cash and $123 in checks.

Jewelry valued at $750 and $15 in cash was taken from the home of Russell Harrison, 4000 Hydraulic avenue, during the absence of the family yesterday afternoon. A man was seen to leave the house through a side door as the family arrived.

Joseph Siebel, 4166 McRee avenue, reported the theft of $132 in cash and a wrist watch valued at $25 while the family was on an outing yesterday afternoon.

Louis Diesel, druggist at 3902 Hereford street, was robbed of $260 by an armed man who held him up at 10:45 p. m. Harold Oranger, 4822 Shenandoah avenue, a customer, was robbed of $5.

earthenware jar) of water, holding three liters. Then, to our sorrow, we discovered only one liter was left—all the water we had in a sea of troubles. This was serious, for one can easily withstand hunger, but thirst—that is impossible. We decided to take the last measure—setting out some sort of container, in case of rain, so that we would have at least a few more drops to aid us in our struggle. That would not have been so difficult, since it rains frequently here at this time of the year, and rain was threatening at this very moment.

The best vessel we had, with which to collect the rain water was our collapsible canvas lifeboat, which we inflated by means of an airpump we carried with us. The boat also had a sail, and, unconsciously we saw there our only hope should the plane go down—something we deemed inevitable.

After a heavy shower, we collected a meager quarter of a liter. This failure was discouraging—but there was still one last resort—to filter the water, which we thought was pretty bad. We didn't want to drink this until we had consumed all that was left of our supply. At this point, we decided to establish a system of watches, with each man taking his "trick" by standing on the canvas on the upper part of the plane, and utilizing the powerful field glasses and having at his disposal the whole magazine of signals we carried, such as rockets, magnesium lights and an electric beacon, not to mention smoke cannisters and our flares.

Elements Battle Craft.
Had it not been for the restlessness we believed our families to be suffering, our condition could not then be imagined as anything but interesting. Heroes of some legendary tale, on the ocean expanse, living by their own resources, and waiting for the ship that never comes.

We were seeing then how slowly, but nevertheless surely, our food diminished, and how the elements were battling the fragile shell upon which we now were standing (I remember it so vividly now) trying to batter our frail craft and wear down its resistance.

However, our hope in ourselves, as we stand here, does not subside for a single instant, not even when the tragic moment of the twenty-seventh arrives, in which we find ourselves with the water reaching the middle of our bodies and the ship constantly battered and buffeted about from side to side by the unleashed fury of the sea.

We drop anchor to avoid drifting too much toward the south and to enable us to point the bow of what is now our ship toward the high waves, making easier our constant task of butting the waves. We at last arrange three sleeping cabins—two aft and one forward. In one of the aft cabins there is spread a piece of tarpaulin with its four corners tied, making a marvelous hammock; the other aft cabin is almost on the bottom of the hull, and has as a mattress of the motor covers. From one of these covers we take a piece to add to the anchor line, expecting to need it if the sea continues running high. The third bed is set up in our radio room just under the wireless set, and is supplied with the propeller covers to serve as mattresses. The other propeller covers we fill with oil and hang on the bow in order to diminish the intensity of the breaking waves and their demolishing action.

As every one knows, a very small quantity of oil, spread over the surface of the sea, calms the restlessness of raging water; and the oil that seeped through the cloth covers was sufficient to fulfill this purpose.

Quiet Manner.

By the Associated Press.
NORTHAMPTON, Mass., July 5.—Calvin Coolidge, former President of the United States, observed his fifty-seventh birthday on Independence day here after the manner of his quiet Vermont ancestors.

He received many telegrams, letters and cards from friends and former associates at Washington and elsewhere, and made his customary morning trip to the office. A 24-pound salmon sent from Canada by Robert W. Golet of New York was shared with neighbors.

Feeling the need of exercise, the former President made a second trip to his office on foot. Callers found him this evening seated on the porch of his two-family house. He asked them in to eat some of a huge birthday cake sent from New York by Lee Ping Quam, former chef, on the presidential yacht Mayflower.

TEN DROWN WHILE LIFE GUARDS SAVE THREE ON BEACH

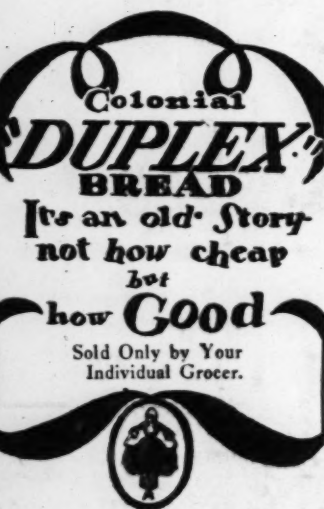

Nine Swept by Current Into Lake Michigan at Grand Haven in Watching Rescue.

By the Associated Press.
GRAND HAVEN, Mich., July 5.—Ten persons were drowned in wind-swept Lake Michigan, all drowning virtually simultaneously and within a radius of a few hundred yards.

Nine of the dead were bathers at a municipal park beach; the other was a girl, who with three companions, was swept from a pier at the beach by a giant breaker which washed the four into the lake.

While three life guards tried to pull the four struggling persons to safety, a terrific undercurrent apparently generated by the huge combers which first swept the pier, carried nine bathers to their deaths. Hundreds of persons ashore, gray holiday picnickers and bathers basking in a warm sun, looked on as the nine were whirled far out into the white-capped lake.

The dead are:
Mildred Fifield, 19 years old.
Robert Schindler, 19 years old.
Julius Tusch, 19 years old.
Leonard Kellogg, 20 years old.
Carl Rohloff, 21 years old.
Walter Schwartz, 19 years old.
John Giddings, 21 years old.

YOUTH AND WOMAN KILLED IN HOLIDAY AUTO ACCIDENTS

Robert Walters, 17, Fatally Injured When Driving With Members of Family on Outing.

Robert Walters, 17 years old, was killed yesterday afternoon when an automobile, one of two in which members of his family and friends were going on a holiday outing, overturned on Manchester road west of Berry road. His chest was crushed.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Walters of 7224 Sarah street, Maplewood, and played in several football games last season for Maplewood High School, where he was to begin his senior year this fall. He was riding in a touring car with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Pryor of Maplewood; their daughter, Marguerite, and her playmate, Zelma Giegelheimer.

None was seriously injured except Robert Walters, who was sitting in the open right front door of the touring car. Pryor, driving west, started to pass an automobile driven by the youth's cousin, Charles Walters of 221 Lacade station road, Webster Groves, but was forced back by an eastbound machine. The front bumper of his automobile caught in the rear bumper of the machine ahead. Pryor's machine left the road and overturned, crushing the boy's chest.

Mrs. Elizabeth Gilgrim, 40 years old, of 1909 Geyer avenue, was fatally injured yesterday afternoon on highway No. 66, near Bourbon, Mo., when an automobile driven by her son, Joseph, 19, overturned. Her husband, Peter Gilgrim, 48, was taken to City Hospital, suffering from an injury to his back. Their two small children, Edna and Anton, were uninjured.

Mrs. Fannie Stein, 50, of 1725A O'Fallon street, suffered broken ribs and cuts and bruises yesterday when struck by the machine of Motor Cycle Policeman Carl Schiogl as she attempted to cross Thirteenth street near O'Fallon. She was taken to City Hospital.

Marilyn Acton, 4-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Acton, 5946 McPherson avenue, is in a serious condition at the St. Louis Children's Hospital, suffering from a fractured skull and internal injuries suffered when she was struck by an automobile yesterday as she attempted to run across Grand drive in Forest Park, south of the Lindell pavilion. James P. McCormick, 4829 Hodiament tracks, driver of the machine, was not arrested, the parents telling police he was not to blame for the accident.

DRY CHIEF OF METHODISTS TO START CAMPAIGN IN WEST

Dr. C. T. Wilson Would "Wipe Out Anti-Prohibition Agent Sentiments."

By the Associated Press.
PORTLAND, Ore., July 5.—Dr. Clarence True Wilson, general secretary of the Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals of the Methodist-Episcopal Church, has arrived here to conduct what he said would be the start of a Pacific Coast campaign to "wipe out anti-prohibition agent sentiment." "Every unexplained killing in the United States," Dr. Wilson said,

"is now charged to prohibition agents. Persons who raise a cry about bootleggers killed by prohibition agents have not shed one single tear over the 248 State and Federal officers killed enforcing the law in the last 10 years."

WOMAN ARRESTED FOR GIVING AWAY HER EIGHTH CHILD
 Despaired of Supporting Eleven Persons on Her Husband's Uncertain $20 a Week.
 (By the Associated Press.)
 ST. JOSEPH, Mo., July 5.—A state warrant was issued here for Mrs. Jacob Cogdill of St. Joseph, charged with giving away one of her eight children without first obtaining permission of the Juvenile Court.
 Last November Mrs. Cogdill, despairing of supporting a family of 11 persons, her husband, herself, her children and a grandchild, gave her youngest child, then two months old, to George Reddick, keeper of a public dump. Yesterday W. A. Ziemendorf, humane officer, learned of the transfer and investigated. The baby was removed to a foundling home here, and the mother's arrest followed.

 She admitted the charge but pleaded ignorance of the law.
 Mrs. Cogdill is 45 years old, and her husband earns $20 a week and sometimes less, she said. Her married daughter is 16 years old.
 The mother, after being booked at the police station, was sent home to care for her other children.

COURT REVERSES LIQUOR CONVICTION ON REVENUE ACT

Elmer Mickle, Accused of Failure to Pay Whisky
 Tax, Is Freed by U. S.
 Appellate Judge.

A conviction under the Internal Revenue act, instead of under the Volstead act where conviction was certain but the penalty was less, was reversed by the United States District Court of Appeals, in an opinion rendered today.

The defendant, Elmer Mickle, instead of being charged under the Volstead law with possession of liquor, was indicted for removing from a distillery spirits upon which no Federal tax had been paid.

Mrs. Katherine Post of Fort Smith, Ark., mother of 16 children, was convicted in the same court last month under another section of the internal revenue act, and was sentenced to 18 months in the Federal Industrial House of Correction. Mrs. Post sold liquor to two prohibition agents, and instead of being charged with sale of liquor, was indicted for setting up a retail liquor dealer without a license.

The reversal was ordered because while under the record of the case, Mickle was clearly guilty of possession and transportation of liquor, the Government failed to prove that no tax had been paid on the liquor, one of the major elements under the revenue act.

The opinion, written by Judge
 Olin and concurred in by Judges Kenyon and Van Valkenburgh, reads, in part:

"Now in this case, the only proof having any reference to this indispensable element of the crime charged (failure to pay the Federal tax) was that there were no internal revenue stamps on any of the half-gallon jars of whisky which the appellant had possession of and was transporting.

"This merely raises a presumption of guilt. It is no proof.
 "Prior to the national prohibition act it was entirely lawful to have in one's possession and transport liquor in containers of less than five gallons without having revenue stamps on the containers.
 "Nothing was proved except possession and transportation of liquor, offenses on which, under the national prohibition act, he might have been prosecuted and of which, on the record he was clearly guilty. It was entirely within the rights of the Government to proceed against him under the internal revenue laws with their lesser penalties, but it then had a heavier burden of proof, which here it did not sustain."

The opinion declares that Mickle was entitled to a directed verdict of not guilty, but points out that he did not ask for it. He did ask, however, it continues, that the Judge, Frank A. Youmans, of the Western District of Arkansas, instruct the jury that mere proof of transporting intoxicating liquor was not proof of the crime charged.

"It was error," the opinion concludes, "to refuse this instruction, the judgment should be and is reversed for that error and because it appears from the whole record that there was total failure to prove an essential ingredient of the crime charged."

INJUNCTION RESTRAINS PASTOR FROM ALLEGED STOCK SCHEMES Minister Charged With Using Church Cult to Promote Sale of Securities.

(By the Associated Press.)
 NEW YORK, July 5.—Supreme Court Justice Mitchell May in Brooklyn Wednesday granted an injunction restraining Dr. Fen-wicke L. Holmes, pastor of the First Church of Divine Science, and William C. Farr from fraudulent practices in the sale of securities.

The minister, in an action brought by Attorney-General Hamilton Ward, was accused of using his cult to promote mining stock schemes. Justice May in his decision said his methods seemed to consist largely of "glittering generalities and specific falsities and concealment."

The injunction excluded William H. Holmes, the minister's brother, because he had not been served and Fremont Grant, Inc., because of the "apparent honesty of its present management." Both were defendants in the Attorney-General's action, which was institute

TEN DROWN MAY LIFE, SAYS LAMONT

Reparations Expert Writes It May Be Important Factor in Trade.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, July 5.—Broad possibilities of usefulness in new fields of post-war economic life are foreseen for the bank for international settlements by Thomas W. Lamont, a member of the Experts Reparations Committee which worked out the plan for the concern.

Political influences will be excluded from its operation, he says in the current issue of World Trade, Journal of the International Chamber of Commerce.

Describing it as a "natural and necessary evolution from the facts of the reparation settlement," he predicts that the bank may develop into an organization not only concerned with the handling of reparations, but largely with the furnishing of important facilities hitherto lacking in international commerce and finance.

"In years to come, it takes on broader functions," he writes, "it will be because, and only because, there is a practical and specific use of it in branches of economic life which are not now served."

In its capacity as trustee of the creditor nations, he explains, "it will receive and disburse to the paying agents the service on the German external loan, 1924," and it "will initiate upon the request of the creditors operations for marketing bonds, arranging the conditions and supervising the execution of contracts and will arrange for the distribution of the proceeds according to the participation of the several creditors in the bonds issued."

Safeguards were adopted to protect existing business and financial agencies from competition on the part of the bank, he points out, but it will perform a number of banking functions. Furthermore, he says, "it will provide a common meeting ground month by month for the governors or other representatives of central banks (of the nations concerned), and thereby become an increasingly close and valuable link in the co-operation of central banking institutions generally."

New conditions that have confronted the world since the war have shown such co-operation to be essential for the continuing stability of world credit, he observes, and he suggests that it may also "prove to be an effective means for opening up new fields of commerce and enlarging the volume of world trade as a whole."

SLAYER SENTENCED TO HANG

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 5.—John L. Howard, convicted of the murder last April of Victor A. Cooley, Pasadena automobile dealer, Wednesday was sentenced to be hanged at San Quentin prison, Sept. 27.

Howard was charged with beating Cooley so severely with a hammer that the latter died four days later. The State alleged that business differences and jealousy over Mrs. Cooley's affections prompted the fatal attack.

DOWNTOWN STORES TO BE OPEN TOMORROW

Merchants Abandon Policy of Closing Saturday in July and August.

Downtown stores, which for the past few years have closed on six Saturdays during the summer, will be open tomorrow, the first day of the reversion to the old plan of Saturday shopping. There will be no Saturday closing during July and August this year.

Store hours during July and August will be from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., a half hour shorter than for the rest of the year.

Employees are getting six equivalent days to compensate for this change of policy, either with an extra week's vacation or otherwise. In a statement of policy, the Associated Retailers say:

"Store owners and executives are of the opinion that the retailers, as public service institutions, are obligated to serve the community on every business day. Saturday closing of the stores has deprived thousands of employees in office buildings and banks the opportunity of availing themselves of the shopping advantages the large downtown stores offer. This likewise applies to workers in outlying districts, housewives, who have always found Saturdays to be especially convenient, and to tourists and commuters from neighboring communities.

"This new decision of the downtown merchants has a deep civic significance as well as an economic one. In closing their stores on Saturdays, the merchant eliminated an important attraction. They not only removed a strong interest for out-of-town visitors, but made the downtown district less appealing to St. Louisans, causing many who might prefer to find their entertainment and amusement in the city to go elsewhere."

Countries Exchange Ultimatum.

By the Associated Press.

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, July 4.—The Government has received an ultimatum from the Hungarian Railways Department saying that three frontier stations would be closed against Czechoslovakia if the latter did not immediately permit resumption of railway service via Hidasnemeti. Czechoslovakia has replied with a counter-ultimatum saying that all frontiers would be closed to Hungarians unless Vincent Pecha, who was arrested by Hungary yesterday as a spy, was released within three days.

WOMAN FOUND BEATEN TO DEATH; HUSBAND HELD
Mrs. Alberta Shorney of Jackson, Mich., Killed With Furnace Shaker.
By the Associated Press.
JACKSON, Mich., July 2.—While her infant son slept in a nearby bedroom, Mrs. Alberta Shorney, 23 years old, was beaten to death yesterday afternoon with a furnace shaker.
Her husband, Howard Shorney, 25, told police he found her on the floor downstairs when he returned from a brief errand. He was held for investigation.
Mrs. Shorney still was alive when police arrived but died soon after being taken to a hospital without regaining consciousness. The room in which she lay bore evidence of a struggle.

SHOWS DE PRIEST TEA SET NO PRECEDENT

Secretary Davis' Office Lists Negroes Entertained by Presidents.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, July 2.—The office of Secretary Davis has made public a report which was described at the labor department as listing Negroes who had been entertained by Presidents of the United States, compiled to show that Mrs. Hoover set no precedent in entertaining the wife of Representative Oscar De Priest, Negro of Illinois, at a White House tea.
The "preliminary report" to Mr. Davis was signed by Karl F. Phillips, a Negro, commissioner of conciliation, and covered "various entertainments at the White House" from 1878 to 1929. At the end it said: "The additional search, directed by the Secretary, is in course of progress."

The White House disclaimed knowledge of the report. Secretary Davis had left the city for the holiday before it was made public. The report, dated June 29, read: "1878: President Rutherford B. Hayes was a cousin of President Patton (white) of Howard University and was entertained by him at the University. At this entertainment President Hayes met Mr. John M. Langston, the first dean of the university law school, whom President Hayes later called upon, socially, at the Langston home."

Minister to Haiti Entertained.
"1886: The minister to Haiti was entertained by President Cleveland."

"1902: Hon. John C. Dandy (recorder of deeds) and wife were entertained at the White House."
"1904: Hon. Judson W. Lyons (register of the Treasury) and wife were entertained at the White House by President Roosevelt."
"1907: Dr. Booker T. Washington, principal of Tuskegee Institute, dined at the White House with President Roosevelt."

"1904: Frederick Douglass dined with President Lincoln at the White House."
"1854: Frederick Douglass was entertained by President Hayes at the White House."

"1858: Frederick Douglass dined with President Cleveland at the White House."
"1912: President Roosevelt entertained Hon. William H. Lewis, former assistant Attorney-General, at the former's home at Oyster Bay, New York, as overnight house."

"1870: Senator B. K. Bruce was entertained by President Grant and Mrs. Bruce entertained the members of the diplomatic set at her home at a reception."
"1871: P. B. S. Pinchback (at one time Governor of Louisiana) was entertained by President Grant at the White House."

"At President Lincoln's second inaugural reception, 1865, Frederick Douglass was entertained at the White House and as he entered the reception hall the greeting that Lincoln gave him in leaving a group of close friends to greet Douglass, was so very marked in its warmth that certain historians have spoken of it in their publications."

"President Coolidge entertained the President of Haiti when he was here in attendance at the Eucharistic conference."

"President Coolidge entertained President Borno of Haiti at a diplomatic reception."
"1929: Mrs. Hoover, the President's wife, entertained the wife of Congressman Oscar De Priest of Illinois at a White House tea."

GROVER'S SON SHOT WHEN HE THROWS BOTTLE AT ROBBER

F. Grant Brennan in Encounter at 954 Goodfellow; Thieves Flee With Money Box.
F. Grant Brennan was shot in the right arm Wednesday night when he threw a bottle at one of two men who held up the William J. Brennan Grocery Co. store at 954 Goodfellow avenue, of which Brennan is manager.
One robber stood guard over the clerks while the other went to the cashier's cage on the balcony. William J. Brennan shouted to a son, James, to call police. The bulk of the money was tossed into an unused safe.

The young woman cashier threw a box containing an undetermined amount over the balcony. The youth went downstairs and was met by Grant Brennan, a son of W. J. Brennan, with the bottle. The robbers fled with the money box shortly before police arrived.

WEED-GROWN SIDEWALK DOWNTOWN AROUSES PROTESTS

Civic Organizations Want Clark Ave. Side of Municipal Service Building Properly Paved.
Civic organizations are protesting against the unfinished condition of the sidewalk on the Clark avenue side of the city's new $1,000,000 Municipal Service Building between Eleventh and Twelfth streets. The new structure was erected in contemplation of a lower grade for Clark avenue, but funds were insufficient to rebuild the sidewalk and most of it is impassable and weed-grown.
The Jefferson-Gravols Business Circle, the Tenth Ward Improvement Association and the Cherokee Business Men's Association are among those protesting.

TEN LINES OPPOSE MANUFACTURERS' USING FREE BRIDGE

Brief Filed With I. C. C. Objects to Application for Through Routes and Joint Rates.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. WASHINGTON, July 5.—A brief and argument against the application of the Manufacturers' Railway of St. Louis for through routes and joint rates in connection with the projected use by the Manufacturers of the rail deck of Municipal Bridge has been filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission by 10 East Side trunk lines, which are among the 650 American railroads made defendants in the Manufacturers' application.

Those filing this brief are proprietary lines in the Terminal Railroad of St. Louis having connections with the Alton & Southern, an East Side switching line which also proposes to use the bridge. They are the Chicago & Alton, Big Four, Wabash, Pennsylvania, Baltimore & Ohio, Louisville & Nashville, Southern, Illinois Central, Missouri Pacific and Cotton Belt. The brief summarizes their contentions as follows:

That the proposed routing over Municipal Bridge is not in the public interest. That the Interstate Commerce Commission lacks authority to require establishment of this routing or participation in it by the East Side lines.

That is the Manufacturers is to engage in this trans-shipment business the total allowance for the services, out of the freight rates, including the Manufacturers' own switching rates, should be no greater than the allowance made by the East Side lines to the Terminal for similar service to industries located on the Terminal's tracks in St. Louis.

$10.69 Average Car Rate. For handling between the East Side lines and West Side lines and between the East Side lines and St. Louis industries, the brief sets forth the Terminal receives an average of $10.69 a car, except on coal, where the rate is 25 cents a ton, or $12.50 for a 50-ton car. The range within the $10.69 average is $6.25 to $14 per car, depending upon the commodity. The brief continues:

"It is these allowances that the Manufacturers asks be accorded it in addition to its present switching charges of 1½ cents per hundred-weight, minimum $6.50 per car on all commodities except coal, and 20.7 cents per ton on coal. In other words, the Manufacturers asks that it have and receive an allowance over and above the allowance of the Terminal for performing similar services, as follows: "Terminal allowance on commodities other than coal, $10.69 per car; Manufacturers asks allowance on all commodities other than coal, $14.47 per car. "On coal: Terminal's allowance, 25 cents per ton; Manufacturers asks allowance, 45.7 cents per ton."

"Built on Mistaken Idea." Relating that construction of Municipal Bridge began in 1909, with completion of the rail deck in 1914, a year after the vehicular deck, the brief says: "The primary purpose of the city in building the bridge was to furnish a means of transportation over the Mississippi free of toll. It was constructed upon the misconception that someone could be found who would be willing to perform a transportation service without remuneration."

Average length of the haul between the Terminal's connections with the East Side lines and its connections in St. Louis with the Manufacturers is no greater than the length of haul from the East Side lines over the proposed Municipal Bridge route. The brief declares, "The service required of the East Side lines in connection with the proposed route is greater and more expensive to them than the service in connection with the Terminal."

Routing over the Terminal is more economical, convenient and advantageous to the East Side lines than by way of Municipal Bridge, it is declared. A possibility of conflict in service between the Manufacturers and the Alton & Southern which would make the service more expensive to the Manufacturers than it contemplates is alleged in the brief. The East Side lines argue that the Municipal Bridge routing would impair the efficiency and increase the unit cost of the Terminal by cutting into the volume of the Terminal's traffic.

CANADA BARS FLORIDA FRUIT

By the Associated Press. OTTAWA, July 5.—An order in council has been passed prohibiting the importation into Canada of non-canned fruits or other plant products from the sections of the state of Florida where infestations of the Mediterranean fruit fly have been found.

Shipments of these products from all other parts of Florida and the state of Florida must be accompanied by a certificate of inspection signed by an official of the United States Department of Agriculture, stating that the products were grown in a non-infested area.

CRACKER SETS OFF DYNAMITE

Boys Escape, but 17 Windows Are Blown Out.

By the Associated Press.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., July 5.—

Two boys on celebration bent stuffed a stick of dynamite by the side of a building yesterday and set off a firecracker under it. Seventeen windows were blown out, men on the ground floor and three women eating lunch upstairs were knocked down and window around. The boys escaped unharmed. The boys escaped unharmed.

CITY OFFICIALS SEE HOW GARBAGE IS USED

Party Visits Loading Dock and Watches Hogs Fed at Island.

Aldermen and city officials, some of whom will travel at the city's expense this summer inspecting garbage disposal methods, examined the plant and facilities of M. Stanley Rea, holder of the present garbage contract, Wednesday, on a trip that took them to the city garbage dock at the foot of Chouteau avenue, where the city turns its garbage over to Rea, and then to Establishment Island, 56 miles down the river, where Rea feeds the garbage to from 4000 to 5000 hogs.

The summer inspection trip is projected because Rea's 5-year contract for garbage disposal expires next February and Aldermen and officials want to familiarize themselves with disposal methods and costs before awarding a new contract. Rea will bid for the new contract.

At the foot of Chouteau avenue the group saw city wagons backed on to a dock and their contents dumped into a 500-ton-capacity barge. A steamboat owned by Rea hauls a loaded barge to the island and makes a return trip every 24 hours.

At the island, the garbage is distributed to different feeding pens by a steam-driven cable bucket and a narrow gauge railway. Bucket-loads of garbage are dropped through a hopper to cars, the cars are hauled to roofed feeding pens, and there the reeking grayish-brown mess is dumped.

Garbage which arrives on a barge at the island looks not at all like the refuse that was dumped into it 24 hours before. Heat and pressure on the trip down, cook it into a sour mass that Rea says is even more palatable for hogs than fresh garbage.

The hogs are fattened in four months, from 125 pounds to between 200 and 225 pounds. The last month of their stay on the island, they also get corn. Rea says it costs him $1.09 a ton to get the garbage to the island, a work for which he receives 74 cents a ton from the city, but he is able to make a profit through the sale of hogs.

The land feeding pens, derricks, boats and barges represent a total investment of $250,000, Rea told the visitors. Expenses on the trip, including the chartering of a special train, were defrayed by Herman C. Waldman, Alderman for the Twenty-eighth Ward.

MRS. KIP RHINELANDER TO SUE FATHER-IN-LAW FOR $500,000

Plans Alienation of Affections Action Along With Separation Pica.

By the Associated Press.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., July 5.—Mrs. Alice Jones Rhinelander, quadroon wife of Leonard Kip Rhinelander, scion of an old New York family, today signed complaints in a $500,000 alienation of affections suit which she will bring against Philip Rhinelander, her father-in-law.

Mrs. Rhinelander plans the suit, her attorneys announced, along with the separation action which she will bring against her husband. The latter action, Mrs. Rhinelander's attorneys said, had been contemplated for some time but had been delayed because they did not know the whereabouts of Rhinelander, who recently was found living in Las Vegas, N. M., where he announced he was planning divorce proceedings against his wife.

In the action against her father-in-law, it was announced, Mrs. Rhinelander will charge that he was instrumental in taking his son away from her after they had lived happily together for three months.

RETRIAL FOR MAN CONVICTED WITH 'KING OF OSAGE HILLS'

Life Term of John Ramsey, Alleged Agent of Hale in Murder, Is Reversed.

The conviction of John Ramsey, sentenced to life imprisonment at Leavenworth in 1926 as the agent of William K. Hale, "King of the Osage Hills," in the murder of Henry Roan, an Osage Indian, was reversed and remanded for a new trial by the Federal Circuit Court of Appeals today in an opinion written by District Judge Farris.

Hale, whose conviction in joint trial was reversed by the same court in 1928, was convicted a second time and sentenced to life imprisonment last Jan. 26. The higher court had held that admission of Ramsey's confession in the first trial was prejudicial to Hale and that allowing a witness to testify to the contents of courtroom notes from Hale to Ramsey, relating to the murder of a man named Smith whose home was blown up was reversible error.

The opinion by Judge Farris, Circuit Judge Stone and District Judge Symes concurring, cited the testimony to the note as reversible error in the case of Ramsey. Ramsey was alleged to have killed the Indian, whom Hale had insured for $25,000, for $500 and a cheap automobile.

KICKED TO DEATH IN FIGHT OVER BEING CALLED "SISSY"

Paterson (N. J.) Youth Resented Remark Made Because He Wore Wrist Watch.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PATERSON, N. J., July 5.—John Nolan, 15 years old, was kicked to death yesterday in a fight with a boy who called him a "sissy" for wearing a wrist watch his widowed mother had given him as a graduation present.

Louis Torvello, 16 years old, saw John Nolan walking on Main street yesterday wearing his new watch. He jeered young Nolan, according to a police. Joseph Hebda, 15, and Tony Patton, 17, stood with Torvello in the fight that followed. Nolan went down. When the three boys drew back he was choking to death. A kick had dislocated his windpipe. He died as he was taken to a hospital.

The three youths are held.

Only Seven Lives Taken Explosives, but Hurt Are Treated For Burns and Other Injuries.

By the Associated Press.

One hundred and fifty-eight deaths in the United States last year were due to automobile accidents, the lowest number in the history of the country.

The Fourth of July death toll was 25 under the 1928, the reduction being due chiefly to the decrease in the number of deaths from automobile accidents. In only one division did 1929 fatalities exceed last year's, and that was in automobile deaths, with 70 this year as compared with 64 last year.

Fireworks continued to be a smaller part in the national independence day death toll, seven fatalities from this year were reported this year as compared with 11 in 1928, and these resulted from a fireworks explosion and fire July 4.

Drownings were responsible for the largest loss of life, as the last year, but there were 35 deaths from this cause this year.

Nearly one-third of the total toll was taken in the West. The Middle Atlantic which last year led the country with 46, had 39 fatalities, although more than the deaths from fireworks in that section. The North Mountain states had the death tolls, each section reported three.

Last year airplane accidents four lives, whereas yesterday two deaths were reported from causes. A year ago, too, the three deaths in automobile accidents resulted from a firework explosion and fire July 4.

AERIAL BOMB FALLS INTO CROWD; NEARLY 20 HURT

Mayor C. M. Holmes One of Those Injured in Celebration at Barry, Ill.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PITTSFIELD, Ill., July 5.—

Nearly 20 persons were injured last night in Barry at a Fourth of July celebration, some of them seriously, when an aerial bomb, after rising only 15 feet, dropped into a crowd and exploded.

Mayor C. M. Holmes of Barry suffered a torn right hand; Jesse Turnbough of New Hartford suffered serious cuts and burns on the legs and one arm, and Mrs. Claude Shinn, also of New Hartford, cuts and powder burns on the body.

Others including children were burned and cut.

Local physicians being unable to attend to the number injured, doctors from Pittsfield assisted in dressing the wounds.

After the injured had received medical attention, the fireworks display was continued outside the city limits.

CORONER FINDS G. W. CONNER DIED OF PERITONITIS

Inquest Held in Death of Man Who Refused to Allow Doctor to Attend Him.

The death of George W. Conner Jr., 27 years old, 5628 Arthur avenue, at his home yesterday, was due to general peritonitis caused by a ruptured appendix, it was stated in a coroner's verdict returned at an inquest this morning.

Conner, a department manager in the Sears, Roebuck Retail Store at 3708 South Grand avenue, was a Christian Scientist and although ill for a week, refused to be attended by a physician, his wife, Mrs. Louise Conner, told police. Funeral services will be held at 9:30 a. m. Monday at an undertaking establishment at 2623 Cherokee street. Interment will be in Park Lawn Cemetery. Surviving are his widow, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Conner Sr., and a brother, Richard Conner.

WOMAN SENTENCED FOR ARSON

Said to Be a Niece by Marriage of Lord Cecil.

By the Associated Press.

MALONE, N. Y., July 5.—Mrs. Mary Fitzhugh Thomas Cecil, said by police to be a niece by marriage of Lord Cecil, Viscount Chelwood of England, today was sentenced to not less than one and one-half and not more than three years in Auburn prison for arson. The arson charge was placed against her after a summer camp in the Adirondacks was destroyed by fire. The camp was owned by Sidney Colgate, Orange, N. J., and was rented from him by Mrs. Cecil.

CANADIAN MINISTER OF LANDS TO INVESTIGATE RESORT SALE

Charge Made Property Sold to Missouri Women Was Transferred to Party Worker.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
TORONTO, Ont., July 5.—Allegations that the lands department of the Government treated as "a scrap of paper," the sale of a summer resort property to two Missouri women, by transferring the property to a party worker, are being investigated by Charles McCrea, acting minister of lands and forests.

It is stated that last summer Mrs. Harry H. Chalcei and Mrs. Peter Thompson, of Maplewood, Mo., visited Lake Muskoka, a small resort on the T. & N. O. Railway, desiring to buy property for a summer cottage, and were informed that only two lots were available. They applied for this land in August, and in September last year paid cash for it, receiving the receipt, which is still in their possession.

Workmen who started to build a cottage for them were later notified that the land did not belong to the women. The allegation is that when the women learned of this they called at the lands office in Queens Park, and were told that the land was not there. The women said they would appeal to the American consul to get their rights.

Seskinka Lake is the site of a considerable summer colony, peopled mainly by officials and employees of the Abitibi Paper Co.

A new train from New York, No. 43, will leave there at 9:20 p. m., arriving here at 8:30 p. m. next day. A through sleeping car will be run also between St. Louis and Cleveland on a train leaving here at 12:20 p. m.

ESCAPED CONVICT NAMED AS SLAYER OF POLICEMAN

Earl Reed Sought After Being Accused in Confession of Three Companions in Holdup.

A general order was issued today for the arrest of Earl Reed, 28-year-old escaped convict, named as the slayer of Patrolman William M. McCormack in a holdup of a cigar store at 3908 South Broadway, June 25. On information that Reed had fled the city and taken refuge in a clubhouse near St. James, Mo., a squad of police drove there last night and at 5:20 o'clock this morning swooped down on the place and took the lone occupant prisoner. He proved to be "Big" McGauley, wanted in Detroit for murder, according to police circulars.

The police were armed with sub-machine guns and tear gas bombs and wore bullet-proof vests. Word had been received that Reed had declared: "I killed one cop and they'll never take me alive."

Five shotguns and a quantity of shotgun shells and revolver cartridges were found in the four-room clubhouse. A radio set also was there. News of the killing of Patrolman McCormack and the search for his slayer had been broadcast by police.

Accused by Associates.
Reed had been living with his wife and child in an apartment near Pershing and Clara avenues, but fled earlier this week when several of his associates were arrested and implicated him in the McCormack murder. Records show Reed was wanted for escaping from the Indiana State prison to which he had been sentenced for a highway robbery in which a truckload of rugs was stolen. Reed is also known under the aliases of Martin and Reynolds.

Signed confessions have been made, police announced, by three men, arrested after a woman friend of one had "talked."

The prisoners have signed statements confessing their part in the holdup and murder, police announced. They blame the actual killing on the man who is at large.

The prisoners were booked as Eugene Ware, 23 years old, a salesman, 1019 Leona street, University City; William B. Maloney, 31, merchant, 5833A Delmar boulevard, and Joseph Daher, 25, 2219 Alberta street.

Woman's Boast Gives Tip.
Florence Harrington, 26, 2407 Kienlen avenue, said to be Maloney's sweetheart, boasted in a West End beer flat that she knew something about the policeman's murder, according to police. The information was passed along to police, who learned that Maloney had been spending money freely, although he had no job. It was learned also that he had been away from his usual haunts on the afternoon of the murder.

Maloney, Ware and Daher were arrested for investigation and the confessions followed, police reported.

Patrolman McCormack, 62 years old, was shot down in the South Broadway cigar store when he was taken by surprise by one of two armed robbers. He had been detailed there in anticipation of a holdup. The story of the killing, as confessed by the prisoners, is reported by police as follows:

The men became acquainted in a West End saloon. On the day of the murder, they met in Reed's apartment on Pershing avenue and Daher, who formerly lived near the South Broadway cigar store, said a "good haul" could be obtained there. The robbery was agreed on.

Used Stolen Automobile.
Daher stole an automobile downtown and the four men drove to the vicinity of the cigar store. Daher got out and walked away, asserting he might be recognized in the neighborhood. Maloney remained at the wheel of the car, and Reed and Ware entered the store and held up the proprietor, Clyde Tribbey. Reed was about to loot the cash register when he noticed Patrolman McCormack taking a drink of water in a rear room. Reed ordered the policeman to put up his hands and struck him over the head with the butt of his pistol. The officer reached for his revolver and Reed shot and killed him. After stealing the policeman's revolver, Reed, with Ware, fled to the waiting car and they were driven away by Maloney. They abandoned the machine in front of 1703 De Kalb street.

At a "showup" yesterday, Ware and Maloney were identified by several persons who witnessed the robbery escape. Names of the witnesses were suppressed.

Maloney has been out on bond in an extortion case. Ware, Reed and Daher also have been arrested at various times.

Third Italian Deputy Suspended.
ROME, July 5.—Deputy Edouardo Breccia of Avellino has been suspended indefinitely from all political activities. He is the third member of the Chamber thus disciplined in recent months, leaving only 297 eligible to participate in the deliberations. As the Deputies were elected on a nation-wide slate of 400 last March, there is no way of replacing them by bye-elections since they do not represent special constituencies. The problem is likely to receive attention by the Council of Ministers on July 13 and at the next meeting of the Fascist Grand Council.

Judge Lands to Get Honor Medal.
CHICAGO, July 5.—Judge Kenneth Mountain Lands, baseball commissioner is to receive the distinguished medal of the American Legion, it was announced here Wednesday by the Americanization commission of the Legion. The medal will be awarded at a testimonial dinner here July 20, opening the seventh district jubilee.

PRESIDENT HIBBEN CALLS FOR ARMS CUT

Tells Americans in London Kellogg Pact Requires Further Step.

Special Cable to Post-Dispatch and New York World.
(Copyright, 1929, by the Press and Pulitzer Publishing Cos., the New York World and the Post-Dispatch.)

LONDON, July 5.—President John Grier Hibben of Princeton University, speaking last night at the Independence day dinner of the American Society here, deplored the interpretation of certain Americans who speak of independence as a complete freedom from relations to other peoples.

A particular responsibility now rested upon the United States and Great Britain to make the words of the Kellogg peace pact a reality, he said. A first step in a worldwide movement for the prevention of war lay in their taking the lead in good faith to reduce armaments.

President Hibben pointed out: "The world expects a complete understanding between these two powers," he said. "We rejoice in the possibility of the Prime Minister's coming to the United States in the near future. With our President and the Prime Minister face to face, all misunderstanding of the past can be swiftly resolved."

President Hibben said that the question of the rights of man, vital in 1776, had changed to the "duties of man," which now involved an active interest concerning America's international responsibilities.

President Hibben said in part: "While tonight we celebrate our independence as a nation, I deplore the fact that there are certain people in the United States who would interpret our independence as meaning a complete freedom from all relations to the other people of the earth, an attitude which they claim relieves us of any burden of any international obligations and responsibilities whatsoever."

"They fail to realize the new world in which they live, the world of common interests and reciprocal obligations. Through the increased facilities of communication and transportation, the world, a century ago so far, far away from us, has been brought to our very doors. The great Atlantic is no longer a barrier between England and the United States, but a ready highway bringing closely together the frontiers of our respective countries."

"And I believe you will all agree with me that a particular responsibility rests upon the peoples of Great Britain and the United States to take the initiative in showing to the world not by words, but by deeds that the peace pact must be regarded as something more than a 'scrap of paper.' If this pact means the concerted action of the signatories to it to prevent war, then the logical corollary to it is that there should be reduction of armaments as evidence of good faith and unquestionable purpose. In this undertaking Great Britain and the United States must lead."

"Our President has sounded a clear note of call to our people. In his inaugural address and his address on Decoration day he has announced not merely the foreign policy of our country in reference to the reduction of naval armaments, but our national obligation to fulfill in letter and in spirit our commitments to the great peace pact. All Americans rejoice, too, in the graciousness of tone which has characterized all of President Hoover's utterances on foreign policies. That tone expresses, I am sure, the spirit of the American people."

8-Year-Old "First Pick" Wins at Fairmount

PAYS $37.52; JOCKEY IS HURT WHEN HORSE FALLS

By Melvin D. Fulcher
Of the Post-Dispatch Sport Staff.
FAIRMOUNT PARK, July 5.—Light rain made the track slow this afternoon and the weather kept the attendance down to a low figure. However, it was about the usual crowd that has been attending on week days, being estimated at 2000 by first race time.

Annex Takes Opener.
The first race, which was for 2-year-olds that had not won two races, went to Annex, one of the favored ones, but she probably scored a lucky victory. Tote, from the B. B. Rice stable, and the post time favorite, was leading at the stretch turn when he fell very wide, carrying Emeryville and several others with him. This allowed Annex and Murnum to come in to the corner, saving much ground, which eventually made Annex the winner, with Tote coming again to be second and Murnum third.

The winner paid $9.74 to win. Tote paid more to show than to place, the prices being $3.42 and $3.30.
Yakovian Captures Second.
The Nugent Brothers put a winner across in the second when their Yakovian made good and paid $9.15. Yakovian showed the most speed after outbreking his field. At the head of the stretch, Funkie, coming fast, assumed a brief lead, but Yakovian, on the outside, closed gamely and passed Funkie for the money in the last few strides, to win going away. Pocket Mouse was third.

Jockey G. Fowler, who was astride Pink Blossom when that racer fell in the first race, was carried from the track in the ambulance and was reported to have suffered a broken collar bone. His mounts for the afternoon were taken by other riders.
Clay Mignon won the third over a big field of ordinary platers. He raced close to the early pace-maker, Little Guinea, and put that racer away at the far turn to assume an easy lead which he increased under mild urging, winning well in hand. He paid $5.24, being well backed at the finish.
Long Prices in Fourth.
Paying $37.52 to win, First Pick, an 8-year-old son of Friar Rock, defeated a big field in the fourth race, which was at a mile and a sixteenth. The winner was second most of the journey, following in the wake of the lead horse, Sturdy Stella, and finally passing her in the stretch, he came on to win easily.

Miss Wills Again Wins Women's Tennis Title at Wimbledon

By the Associated Press.
WIMBLEDON, England, July 5.—Miss Helen Wills reasserted her supremacy over the world's women players today by defeating Miss Helen Jacobs, fellow-Californian, in the final for the British women's singles championships by scores of 6-1, 6-2.
Many had thought that "Helen the second" might be able to extend the queen of the courts, but the match was all Miss Wills. The victory climaxed a series of phenomenal straight set triumphs over the best women players of Europe and the United States and gave Miss Wills the prized Wimbledon coronet for the third straight year. A few days previously she won the French championship, also in repetition of a triumph achieved last year.

The great American woman player never won a championship more majestically than on this occasion. She defeated Miss Jacobs with the same ease with which she disposed of five other opponents in the first set. Miss Wills led at 2-0 in the second set before dropping a game. Miss Jacobs fought out the long rallies bravely, only to have Miss Wills end most of them by shooting a fast one past her for the point. Miss Wills led at 2-0 in the second set before dropping a game. Miss Jacobs fought out the long rallies bravely, only to have Miss Wills end most of them by shooting a fast one past her for the point.

While the spectators were awaiting the start of the women's final, a surprise came in the form of the elimination of the Franco-English team of the Hen Cock and Miss Eileen Bennett in the quarter-finals of the mixed doubles. This formidable pair which recently won the French championship was beaten by I. G. Collins and Miss Margaret Whitely in a combination, by scores of 2-6, 6-4, 8-6.
The Wills-Jacobs title match, while watched intently by 15,000 pairs of eyes, stirred not the slightest excitement, for the result was looked upon as a foregone conclusion. The crowd's sympathies appeared to be with Miss Jacobs in her losing fight against the supreme strategist and mighty hitter who ran her unmercifully back and forth along the baseline until points, games and sets were scored.
Miss Jacobs' occasional winning shots were generously applauded, but mostly her efforts to be rewarded even by applause for although she prolonged rally after rally her ef-

COLUMBIA CREW BEATEN, BOSTON WINS, AT HENLEY

By the Associated Press.
HENLEY, England, July 5.—One American crew, the Columbia University lightweight, went down to defeat in the Royal Henley Regatta today, but the Browne Nichols School from Boston was more successful.

Columbia lost to the Trinity College eight from Cambridge by the crushing margin of four lengths. The Boston team won from Sidney Sussex College with ease.
The Browne Nichols boys will meet the conquerors of Columbia in the semifinals tomorrow. Apparently they will have to pick up a few seconds' time somewhere if they are to be victorious, as Trinity won from Columbia in 8m. 28s. for the mile and five-sixteenths, which is five seconds faster than the schoolboys registered. Browne Nichols was not extended, however, and may be able to achieve the feat.

Columbia's scrappy lightweight, victorious in all their previous start in England, were beaten in a grueling race that was rowed in the face of a stiff gale over the whole course. The wind, blowing dead against the crews, proved a bigger handicap to the Americans, who average only 150 pounds per man, than to their heavier rivals, and Trinity led almost from the start.
The American crews were entered only in competition for the Thames Cup, an event which is secondary in interest to the Grand Challenge Cup classic in which the finest eights of England and Canada are arrayed.
London Club Eliminated.
In the Grand Challenge preliminary today, the London Rowing Club, which eliminated the Toron Argonauts yesterday after first rowing a dead heat, was itself eliminated by the famous Leander Rowing Club's eight. The Leander crew defeated Mrs. C. G. McIlhenny and Miss Emryntrude Harvey, 6-4, 5-7, 6-2.
I. G. Collins, British Davis Cup player, and Miss Joan Fry, also of England, beat the Anglo-American combination of J. C. Regory and Miss Elizabeth Ryan by scores of 6-2, 6-3, to enter the final in mixed doubles.

Martha Norelius, Swim Star, Turns Professional

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, July 5.—Martha Norelius, New York woman swimmer, who holds most of the world records from 100 yards to 500 yards, announced here today that she had turned professional and would compete in the Wrigley marathon for women at Toronto Aug. 23.

Although Miss Norelius has sought reinstatement by the A. A. U., she told the Associated Press today that failure to consider her case in time for entry in the outdoor championships at Honolulu in August of this year influenced her to turn professional.
"If reinstated I could not have competed again until the indoor championships next February," she said. "The action of the A. A. U. in forcing me from the game for a full year was unfair. No swimmer could be expected to stay out of competition that long and retain her speed and ability."

FIVE GOLFERS TIE FOR BLIND BOGEY HONORS AT SUNSET HILLS CLUB

Five golfers tied in the blind bogey event yesterday at Sunset Hills Country Club, while C. A. Llan captured first prize in a flag tournament. Those who tied for the blind bogey lead are: D. J. Henry, H. T. Ashton, W. T. Koken, Dr. H. F. Hageman, and H. H. Fox.

THREE NEW MARKS SET IN CASTING CONTEST

By the Associated Press.
LIMA, O., July 5.—New world records for casting were established here yesterday at the annual convention of the Ohio Association of Angling Clubs.
Karl Kinnar of Geneva, O., broke two records. In the five-eighths ounce distance plug he made a single cast of 278 feet. The former world record was 253. In the one-half ounce distance his cast was 215 feet and the former record 195.
At Foss of Cleveland set up a new record of 263 feet for the quarter ounce plug. This was a single cast.

KLEIN'S HOMER DECIDES GAME; BOTTOMLEY AND HAFEY HIT FOR CIRCUIT

By J. Roy Stockton
Of the Post-Dispatch Sport Staff.
PHILADELPHIA, July 5.—The Cardinals lost to the Phillies in the series opener here this afternoon, running their string of successive defeats to ten.

The score was 10 to 9. Ernest Orsatti returned to duty in right field.
Frankie Frisch, who pulled a charley horse sliding to second base in the afternoon game yesterday, was unable to take his place in the battle front today and Carey Selph played second for the Red Birds.

First Inning—Cardinals—Douthitt singled past Thevenow. High popped to Hurst. Orsatti fouled to O'Doul. Douthitt was picked off first and was out, Dailey to Hurst.

Philadelphia—Southern pop fly fell safe between Bottomley and Wilson for a hit. O'Doul doubled off Bottomley's knee. Southern reaching third. Klein popped to Gelbert. Southern scored on Hurst's short sacrifice fly to Orsatti. Whitney doubled against the right field wall, scoring O'Doul. Thompson doubled to left, scoring Whitney. Thevenow filed to Douthitt. THREE RUNS.

Second—Cardinals—Bottomley singled to right. Hafey fouled to Lerman. Selph filed to Douthitt. Secondary out. Second when Thevenow muffed his ground-er, Bottomley stopping at third. Gelbert was safe on Thompson's fumble. Bottomley scoring and Wilson reaching third. Gelbert stole second. Haines struck out. ONE RUN.

Philadelphia—Lerman walked. Dailey fouled to Wilson. Southern popped to Selph. O'Doul popped to Bottomley.

Third—Cardinals—Douthitt fouled to Lerman. O'Doul made a good catch of High's fly. Orsatti grounded to Hurst.

Philadelphia—Klein doubled against the right field wall. Hurst walked. Whitney bunted and forced Klein, Haines to High. Orsatti lost Thompson's high fly in the sun, the ball hit him on the head and bounced away for a single, flinging the bases. Thevenow singled to left, scoring Hurst and Whitney, and when Hafey's throw batted away from High, Thompson reached second. High was charged with an error. Lerman popped to Bottomley. Dailey singled to center scoring Thevenow. Southern lined to Hafey. Haines appeared to be angry because of his webby support and merely lobbed the ball over for Dailey and Southern. FOUR RUNS.

Fourth—Cardinals—Bottomley walked. Hafey also walked. Thompson had a chance to turn a double or triple play on Selph's line drive, but the ball bounced from his glove. Bottomley scoring and Hafey reaching second. Wilson filed to Klein. Gelbert singled against the right field wall, scoring Hafey and sending Selph to third. Haines hit into a double play. Thevenow to Thompson to Hurst. TWO RUNS.

Fifth—Cardinals—Douthitt doubled to right. High out on a fast play. Hurst to Dailey who covered first. Douthitt reaching third. Orsatti walked. Bottomley hit over the right field wall for his sixteenth home run of the season, scoring behind Douthitt and Orsatti. Hafey filed to O'Doul. Selph grounded to Thompson. THREE RUNS.

Philadelphia—High made a nice out and threw out Whitney. Thompson popped to Gelbert. Thevenow lined to Gelbert.

Sixth—Cardinals—Collins went in to pitch for the Phillies. Thevenow threw out Wilson. Gel-

50 TO 1 SHOT WINS AT ARLINGTON PARK

CHICAGO, July 5.—A horse that was better than 50 to 1 in the morning betting, won the opening race at Arlington Park here this afternoon when My Premier got home in front and paid $117.38 for 12. Jockey L. McDermott was the rider of the long shot.

LAMBERT'S ST. LOUIS OWNED SLOOP WINS REGATTA IN 4 MINS., 19 SEC.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
LYNN, Mass., July 5. — Taking the lead at the very start and increasing it steadily to the finish, Gerald B. Lambert's handsome white sloop, Vanitie, made it five straight for the season against the Regolute, owned by E. Walter Clark of Philadelphia, winning the annual regatta of the Eastern Yacht Club yesterday by 8 minutes and 54 seconds in elapsed time and 4 minutes and 19 seconds in corrected time.

The Vanitie was again sailed by former Commodore George Nichols, of the New York Yacht Club, but when she reaches Islesboro, tomorrow afternoon, Secretary of the N.Y. Y.C. Francis Adams will take command and sail her in five races next week. This is the first time that any high governing official has ever sailed a major yacht in an important race.

In the contest yesterday, the Vanitie again showed that she is minutes faster than the Regolute when hard on the wind, but off the breeze she has some difficulty in saving her time allowance of 4.3 seconds to the mile, due to penalty for more sail and longer body. The Vanitie beat the Regolute seven miles to windward by 4 minutes and 40 seconds, but only while on the run home of seven miles, the Regolute was clinging like a leech until the wind shifted and compelled her to take in a balloon jib.

Lambert again sailed on his boat with young Charles Francis Adams as one of the afterdeck crew. The yacht will start off Penobscot Bay at noon today on the first cruise of the Eastern Yacht Club Rockland, with a 130-mile race to Rockland. It is expected that the Vanitie and Regolute will reach an anchorage before dawn tomorrow and will jog along up to Islesboro in the afternoon.

INDUSTRIAL TENNIS TOURNAMENT TO START WEEK OF JULY 22

The third annual Y. M. C. A. Industrial Tennis Tournament, conducted under the auspices of the City-Wide Industrial Athletic Association, will start the week of July 22. This year instead of singles and doubles eliminations, each plant will be allowed a team composed of three singles and two doubles teams, and a Round Robin Tournament will be played off. The industry winning the most matches will be declared the winner. Entries are scheduled to close Wednesday, July 10. A trophy will be awarded to the winning team and each member of the champion team will receive an award.

ST. LOUIS NET REPORTS OF ROW PLAYERS BEATEN WITH HOWLEY IN TITLE EVENT NEWS TO BALL

By Davison Obear
A Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
INDIANAPOLIS, July 5.—All remaining Missouri Valley tennis players were eliminated from the men's singles of the National Clay Court championship as a result of matches played at the Woodstock Country Club here yesterday. The most surprising upset was the defeat of Wray Brown, leading St. Louis player, by Emmett Pare, Chicago, and Georgetown University star, in a third round contest. Pare won the match 6-4, 6-3, 6-2. Pare was defeated by Fritz Mercier, Bethlehem, Pa., favorite for the title, while Harris Coggeshall, Grinnell College, went down before the brilliant play of Byron Grant of Atlanta.

Brown breezed through the opening set against Pare and was leading, 2 to 1, in the second when the tide turned. Brown began to weaken at this stage and finally lost the set. In the first set, Brown ran Pare all around the court. He gained many points on sideline placements. After leading in the second set, Brown found himself less accurate while Pare began to improve. The Chicago star won this set, 7-5.

The third set was close from start to finish. Brown had a 4 to 3 lead, but Pare evened the contest and won the next game on his service, which was very good throughout the set. Brown tried in vain to capture the next game, Pare winning the set, 6-4. The fourth set was easy for Pare. Brown had lost his punch. Pare winning it, 6-0. Brown entered the tournament somewhat at a disadvantage as he has had no opportunity to play tournament tennis while Pare has been participating in various events for a month. The complete score was: 1-6, 7-5, 6-4, 6-0.

Serrano Wins One Game.
Serrano had plenty of work in his match against Mercier. Although winning only one game in the entire match, Serrano forced Mercier to a number of rallies. The St. Louisan had the game point advantage on seven different occasions but failed to win. The score was 6-0, 6-0, 6-1.

Harris Coggeshall, Missouri Valley conference champion, met unexpected opposition from young Byron Grant, the Atlanta, Ga., player, Grant won in straight sets, 7-5, 6-4, 6-2. Coggeshall tried various methods of defense but failed to disturb the Atlanta boy who is the smallest player in the tournament. Grant made some excellent passing shots when Coggeshall came into the net. The Atlanta player kept up his reputation of "getting everything" and some of his returns were brilliant.

Wray Brown and Harris Coggeshall are in the quarter-final round of the doubles event. They have not played a match in the tournament. The Missouri Valley team will oppose the California combination of Gredhill and Vines in what should be a close battle.

WISCONSIN U. HURLER SIGNED BY GIANTS
By the Associated Press.
MADISON, Wis., July 5.—"Ted" Tholander, University of Wisconsin baseball pitcher for the last three years, who was graduated last week, has signed a contract with the New York National League baseball team. It has been learned. No details of the negotiations were made known.

Speed Record Broken
By the Associated Press.
ST. PAUL, Minn., July 5.—The world's record for a 25-mile automobile race on a one-mile dirt track was broken four times during a program at the Minnesota State Fair Grounds here yesterday. Charles "Dutch" Bauman of Indianapolis, won the event in 19 minutes, 84.5 seconds. The former record of 21 minutes, 15.3 seconds was set in 1918 by Fred Jory.

STATE BOXING BOARD TO HOLD MEETING HERE

By Damon Kerby

The State Athletic Commission, which governs boxing, and which will assume control of wrestling as soon as the new wrestling law goes into effect in about 60 days, will hold its first meeting since it was reorganized, at Hotel Coronado here, tomorrow morning.

New members of the commission are Seneca C. Taylor of St. Louis and R. G. Davis of Kansas City. They occupy the places formerly held by Harry Kaufman, St. Louis, and the Rev. Burris Jenkins, Kansas City. Chester C. Brewer, director of athletics at Missouri University, holds over as chairman of the commission.

The appointment of a secretary, chief inspectors, and deputy inspectors, will be the principal business in the first meeting of the new commission.

Harrison, a grocer, of Springfield, Mo., is present secretary. There has been no official intimation whether he would or would not be reappointed. This post of secretary is the only paid position in connection with the State commission. Several St. Louisans have been reported to be seeking the job, including Kid Bandy, a former fighter.

Butler in Line for Post.
George Butler, a deputy inspector in the St. Louis district under the old commission, is expected to be appointed chief inspector for the St. Louis district, the post now held by Maj. Eddie Handlan. At the last two local professional fights, or since the new commissioners were appointed by Gov. Caulfield, Butler has handled the duties formerly taken care of by Handlan.

One of the questions which will be considered tomorrow, it is understood, is whether Harry Kaba-koff will be allowed to continue his comeback campaign. Harry started it off as a result of that could be improved upon, where he won by a knockout in the second round of a scheduled four-round bout here on Wednesday night at the Battery arena. Art Hoffmann of Belleville was his opponent.

Kabby's Stamina in Doubt.
Harry looked good in winning, going at top speed in the first round and Art Hoffmann topped over in the second, but there were many observers, including friends of Harry, who said that he was fighting on his nerve alone, and that if forced to go more than four rounds with a steady opponent he consequences might be extremely unfortunate for Harry.

This opinion, expressed by St. Louisans who have followed the game here throughout Harry's career, was based on the fact that Harry suffered a bad break down following some beatings he received in the latter days of his fight career here, several years ago. Before the bout he was presented with a watch by an old rival, Charley Regan, on behalf of Harry's friends.

Jack Wilson, local featherweight, outpointed Roy Lodgson of Litchfield, Ill. in the only bout on the card that went the scheduled distance.

WESTERN NET MEET AT CHICAGO TO DRAW OUTSTANDING PLAYERS
CHICAGO, July 5.—Outstanding tennis stars of the country will assemble at the Skokie Country Club, July 15-21, for the Western championships.

Emmett Pare, 1928 champion, will be back to defend his title and will encounter the keenest competition from Julius Seligson, New York, number nine in national ranking; Keith Gledhill, California singles champion and holder of the Pacific coast junior title; Ellsworth Vines, another Californian; Louis Thamelmer, former Texas star; George O'Connell, Chicago, and James Quick of Texas, from whom entries he has been received.

Berkley Bell, No. 11 in national ranking; Wray Brown, Missouri Valley titleholder; John Doe, No. 8, and Harris Coggeshall, Des Moines, Ia., thirteen ranking player, also are expected to enter. Women stars entered are Miss Clara Louise Zinke, defending champion; Ruth Oexman, Cincinnati, fourth in Western ranking; Mrs. Reine, Saginaw, Mich., No. 2 in the West, and Miss Catherine Wolf, Indianapolis, Indiana champion.

Championships will be decided in men's and women's singles and doubles.

RUTH STILL ONE OF LEADERS IN HITTING HOMERS

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, July 5.—Mr. Babe Ruth, whose recent pain in the stomach has kept him out of the game, today said that what with his heart pattering and pittering, whatever that is, he greatly fears that he will be unable to beat the record this year by more than two or three home runs. This isn't precisely what he said, of course, Mr. Ruth being a modest feller and a great comfort to his maiden aunt. What he did infer was that he intended to lead the field home, irrespective of the apprentice allowance to which his illness had staked it, and that if it took more than 60 home runs, he was very intently acquainted with the man who would take them.

Ruth may not ring the bell with as many as 60, with time out for repairs, but if he keeps going at current production, he will be no closer than he'll have to time the difference with a stop-watch.

Seven Homers in 16 Games.
His seven home runs in 16 games since his return is an average that will bring him down to the wire we all have to take and I'm willing to bet.

DETROIT, Mich., July 5.—Floyd Fitzsimmons, promoter of the Dundee-Fields welterweight championship fight, July 23, today made Jack Dempsey two of the largest offers the Manassa man ever received. They were extended through Leonard Sacks, Dempsey's secretary, who flew here from Chicago for a look at Fitzsimmons' new arena and a conference before going to Los Angeles to report to Jack.

"Dempsey instructed me to get both Fields and Dundee on contracts, the winner to appear in a big Chicago show in the fall," said Sacks.

With more than 55 for the season. His total this morning is 17, as against 24 for Ott, 21 for Gehrig, 19 each for Klein, Hafey and Wilson, and 18 for Simmons.

"The way I see it is this," said he. "I had my greatest year in 1927. Why? Because I had a peacemaker in Lou Gehrig. This year I have five or six peacemakers and this to get me somewhere. Of course, somebody might pace me all the way in and then I'd be licked. But that's a chance I'll take. I never believed in myself as much as I do right now. I'm hitting them and I'm feeling great; never felt as good in my life as I have the last couple of weeks. It must have done me good to be sick. Naturally, I feel confident, after being out 18 days and losing a little ground as I did."

The boy friend, as a matter of fact, was understanding the matter. He lost plenty of ground while he was out. He got much of it back after his return.

FOUR NEW RECORDS ESTABLISHED IN SENIOR A. A. U. COMPETITION

TOLAN SCORES DOUBLE, TAKING SPRINT EVENTS IN GOOD TIMES

By the Associated Press.
DENVER, Colo., July 5.—Eddie Tolan may not be the "world's fastest human," but so far as the Amateur Athletic Union is concerned, the stocky little University of Michigan Negro is the 1929 champion in the 100 and 220 yard dashes. Furthermore, Tolan can run faster against Colorado winds than Claude Bracey of Rice Institute, Frank Wykeff, the "Glendale Greyhound," or Russell Sweet of the Olympic Club. He proved that yesterday in the senior championships.

Tolan won the century dash against an 18-mile an hour wind in 10 seconds, and bucked a 13 mile an hour blow in taking the 220 in 21 9-10 seconds. His sensational, driving finish won him the 100, for, like Wykoff, he was away to a slow start and was in third place 10 yards from the finish. In the 200, he came in fast on the last 100 yards, and had plenty of room to spare on Wykoff, in second place.

Against the steady wind that prevailed yesterday there was no hope for records in the sprints. One of the four new A. A. U. marks registered was on the track, nevertheless. R. F. Bowen of the Pittsburgh A. C. ran 440 yards in 48 4-10 seconds.

Other records: 157 feet 2 inches by Eric Krenz of the Olympic A. C. in the discus 13 feet 9 $\frac{1}{4}$ inches in the pole vault by Fred Sturdy of Yale. 204 feet, 9.75 inches in the javelin by Jess Mortenson of the Los Angeles A. C.

Four Champions Repeat.
The Olympic Club of San Francisco with 44 points, displaced their Los Angeles rivals from the team championship, the Southern California Club being close behind with 39.

Four senior champions retained their titles. They are Herman Brix of the Los Angeles A. C. in the shot put; Steven Anderson of the University of Washington in the 220-yard hurdles; Fred McDonald of the New York A. C., who has been a champion or contender since 1911, in the 56-pound weight, and Harry Hinkle, also of New York in the "heel and toe" three-mile walk. Anderson added the 120-yard low hurdles championship by beating out Dick Rockaway of Ohio State, the favorite. Herman and Anderson were the only contestants able to win two first places.

Among the noteworthy performances of the day were two by Colorado boys. Gordon Alliet of the University of Colorado won the junior championship in the 440-yard low hurdles Wednesday and came back to capture the senior championship in 545-10 seconds. Alliet beat out the defending champion, Morgan Taylor of the Illinois A. C. by 10 seconds. Alliet was the only junior champion to crash through with a senior title, though Ed Parker of Colorado College, who won the junior two-mile steeplechase, gave Dave Abbott, the national collegiate champion, a scare in the senior event. Parker, trailing by a wide margin in the first half of the stretch, put a great burst in the second and finished eight inches behind

Other new champions are: Sixteen-pound hammer, Jack Merchant, Olympe A. C.; six-mile run, Louis Gregorie, St. Joseph's C. C., New York; hop, step and jump, Robert Kelley, Olympe A. C.; 88-yard run, Phil Edwards, New York university; one mile run, Leo Leonard, Boston A. A.; high jump, Henry Lassalette, Los Angeles A. C., and broad jump, Edward Gordon, University of Iowa.

Junior Runners Shine.
The junior championships, which started the annual games Wednesday, saw five junior marks fall. Another mark was tied and still another beaten, only to be disallowed because Allett, a Colorado University boy, who ran the 40-yard low hurdles in 54.6 seconds, toppled over the final barrier on his dash to the finish.

In the 100-yard dash, Cy Leland of Texas Christian University

MANION ALREADY IN KANSAS CITY FOR "WESTERN"

By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 5.—"Chick" Evans of Chicago will try for his ninth title at the thirtieth annual Western amateur golf tournament on the Mission Hills course here July 8 to 13. In 1909 Evans, then a youth, won his first Western amateur crown, defeating Albert Seckel of Chicago, 1 up, in the tournament held at the Homewood Country Club at Flossmoor, Ill. He won again in 1912, 1913 and 1915, and from 1920 to 1923, inclusive. In 1916 he added both the national open and national amateur titles to his collection.

Evans still enjoys competing in the Western amateur tournament, and "I wouldn't miss it for anything," he said a month ago when asked if he would enter.

Evans is expected to arrive Saturday for a practice round. The preliminary start of the tournament is Monday.

Many of the top-town players already have arrived and a host of golfers, including the champion, Frank Dolphin of Portland, Ore., is expected Saturday. Among the early arrivals was the Kenton County player, James Manion, St. Louis; Eddie Held, former St. Louisan, now of New York, and Harrison (Jimmy) Johnston of St. Paul are among the entrants.

The best practice rounds took place in over the par course at the Hills. The top players were the 69's of Frank Aiyward, Kansas City, and Chester Jones, Lawrence, Kan. Aiyward was runner-up to Elliott Whitbread, St. Louis, in the Missouri State amateur tournament last week. Jones was runner-up at Hillcrest Country Club and Jones was runner-up to Maurice R. Smith, Kansas City, in the annual invitation tournament at Excelsior Springs, Mo., last spring. Both Aiyward and Jones are entered in the Western amateur.

Thomas Hawkins, 28, was wounded in back by Harry Goldman After He Demanded Money Back.

Thomas Hawkins, 28-year-old law washer, was shot in the back last night to obtain a $500 on a 15-cent Roman candle which proved a dud.

Hawkins, who lives at 1708 North Eighth street, is in City Hall.

Harry Goldman, 24-year-old clerk in the store, who shot Hawkins, is in jail.

The Roman candle was "blown" by Hawkins told police.

Goldman told the store to get the money back, but the clerk ordered me to return to leave and had my hand on the door when I felt a shot in the back and fell out on the sidewalk. That clerk shot me for no reason at all."

Goldman told a different story. "Hawkins came in and asked me 'What's the idea of selling a rotten firework?' I didn't realize I didn't sell you any rotten fireworks?" Then he explained his wife had bought the fireworks. I informed him the fireworks were not guaranteed and a Roman candle being a dud.

"He got sore and threw the candle at a perfume case. I picked up an automatic pistol for my right hand, and holding the pistol in my left hand, when it accidentally discharged, wounded him."

HEARING ON UNION ELECTRIC EXPANSION PLAN RESUMED

Petition Signed by 80 Persons Favors Purchase of Bagnell Power Plant Site.

JEFFERSON CITY, July 5.—The hearing on the application of the Union Electric Power & Electric Co. for authority to purchase the license, franchise, property and rights of the Missouri Hydro-Electric Power Co., holding the site on the Osage River at Bagnell, Mo., where a dam and power plant is to be built by the Union Electric Co., was resumed before the State Public Service Commission today. The first session of the hearing was held about a week ago.

tion of testimony both for and against the application and cross-examination. Most of those opposing the project are property owners living at Linn Creek and vicinity whose property will be at the bottom of the lake which will be formed when the dam is built. A petition signed by about 80 residents of Linn Creek was presented, urging issuance of the permit to the Union Electric company.

McGURK ACCEPTS MINE POST

STAUNTON, Ill. July 5.—Samuel McGurk, superintendent of No.
2 of the Mount Olive and Staunton Coal Co., announced today that he had reconsidered his acceptance of a position as superintendent of a mine located in Pennsylvania and owned by the Philadelphia-Reading Coal and Iron Co. He will remain in his present position.

Mine No. 2, which has a 5000-ton capacity and employs 600 men, was today converted into a complete conveyor mine. Up to this time the mine had partly hand loading. A $100,000 Arewall Goodman cutting machine, able to cut 500 tons a day, has also been installed and will enable the cutting of double the previous amount. Mc-Gurk also announces that Mine Manager Ben Chapman will remain at the time and that four assistant mine managers have been appointed. Those appointed were: Norman Chapman, Harvey Stroud, J.

W. Hoey and Leo Saake. The mine is in Madison County, east of Staunton. McGurk has been with the company 12 years.

POLICE BREAK UP STUDENTS' DEMONSTRATION IN BERLIN

Eleven Arrested at Meetings in Protest Against Bar on Treaty Anniversary Celebrations.

BERLIN, July 5.—Two student demonstrations were dispersed by police yesterday and while black-jacks were used to quell a fight between rival groups, no serious injury resulted.

Some 1500 students gathered in front of the University and held a noisy meeting in protest of government interference with "academic liberties" in connection with speeches on the anniversary of the Treaty of Versailles. Communist students attempted a counter demonstration and police had to separate the two groups.

Another student demonstration was held in front of the statue of Bismarck. The students dispersed after they had cheered Bismarck's memory.

Eleven students were arrested during the demonstrations, which were converted into protests against the Young reparations plan.

SICK WOMAN GETS SPECIAL NEWSPAPER, OMITTING DEATH

Edition of One Copy Printed So She Will Not Learn Her Father Has Died.

NEW YORK, July 5.—Because the news of the death of Albert C. Odell, construction superintendent of the New York Telephone Co., might have proved fatal to his daughter, who was a patient in Yonkers General Hospital, the Yonkers Herald recently published an edition especially for the daughter, omitting the obituary of Mr. Odell.

Mrs. Hazel Grady of No. 125 Elliott avenue, Yonkers, the daughter, was a regular reader of the paper. When the special copy had been run off, it was discovered two fraternal organizations had inserted paid notices referring to the death. Again the edition was re-made and the notices taken out. Mrs. Grady did not learn of her father's death until several days later, when her condition had improved.

30,000 GALLONS OF WHISKY STOLEN FROM WAREHOUSE

482 Barrels and 1955 Cases of Medicinal Liquor Replaced With Colored Water in Chicago.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, July 5.—Immediate action to condemn 482 barrels and 1955 cases of spurious bonded medicinal liquor will be started by the Federal Government, it was announced yesterday by officials.

The liquor recently was discovered substituted for bona fide whisky in the Sibley warehouse, the Government concentration depot for the Middle West. How the liquor, kept under close guard in the building, was stolen and the spurious whisky put in its place has not been disclosed.

Prohibition authorities said colored water, mixtures of water and alcohol, and raw alcohol had been used as substitutes. The theft was discovered as early as last August, one official said, and an extensive investigation has been carried on since.

W. H. Kennedy, Deputy Prohibition Administrator, said that "perhaps 25 or 30 persons have been under investigation and there will probably be 50 or more witnesses taken before the grand jury."

Officials said that 30,000 gallons of good whisky 10 and 12 years old had been taken from the warehouse and put on the market. At bootleg prices it was valued at more than $2,000,000.

"Did the liquor get into the hands of any of the well-known syndicates, such as Capone's, Salta's, 'Bugs' Moran's, or any of the gangsters?" Kennedy was asked.

"We think not," he replied, "but we can't say just how it got out of Government bondage."

The Government will seek to libel the spurious liquor because it is unfit for medicinal purposes. Kennedy declared that, if the action is granted and the liquor destroyed, the Government will lose nothing. The owners of the stolen liquor, he said, have no redress, except possibly through civil suits against the warehouse owners, and in addition must pay a tax of $1.40 per gallon on the spurious liquor which is destroyed.

DIES WATCHING BALL GAME

Cedar Rapids Doctor Had Wish to Meet Death There.

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia., July 5.—Dr. T. S. Waud, 84 years old, who often had expressed a wish to die while watching a thrilling baseball game, yesterday had his wish fulfilled.

In the second inning of the first game of a double-header here between Cedar Rapids and Davenport, Dr. Waud became excited over several close plays, sank back in his seat and died a few minutes later. It was some time before the body could be identified, although he was known to hundreds of baseball fans.

QUEEN AT STATION TO MEET THE

Officers of British Resc
Ship Also Get Ovation Celebration Ends Tomo row.

By ALFRED M. MURRAY,
Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

MADRID, July 5.—A general mourning from a victorious campaign could hardly expect a triumphal reception than that yesterday to the Spanish transatlantic flyers and the officers of the British airplane carrier, the ship, which rescued them after they had been shot down.

Spain's enthusiasm indeed surprised some Spaniards. It was which swarmed to the station this morning from all quarters of the capital numbered the thousands and when the train was met by Ramon Franco and his thousands of companions came in a multitude swept all police barriers. The police named the official reception committee members off to the side where they could not be freed for so long.

Don Alfonso, a cousin of King of Spain, who trained as a pilot in the United States a year ago, was there with the General of Madrid and the general commanding the region and the most representatives of the nation's universities and the municipal Showered With Flowers. The doctor women and girls showered flowers on the flyers as they advanced with difficulty to the station to the street. And it was only a repetition on a large scale of scenes which had marked the journey by special train from Algeciras. At every place the place bands turned out to greet the whole population to greet the flyers and their rescuers. At the station there was a man standing serenading the flyers with a solo.

In Madrid Franco and his thousands drove through the streets by cheering masses controlling difficulty by the troops. The Laurence of the Eagle was the flyers and four officers shared the equally public acclamation.

Queen Victoria was the first to give the party, King Alfonso in England. She shook her head all, asking for details of the venture and paying particular attention to the little mechanic, Pedro Madariaga, who had afterward that all his life the presence of royalty was the moment the Queen smiled and ask kindly about her, saying that she knew he must have been very busy.

Had Already Seen Mother. Madariaga had been home many and told the Queen how his neighborhood turned out to his arrival and how his mother had only gasp out, "My son!"

They showed me the station. They showed me the man had lost 10 pounds in weight. Madariaga also told her he had been too late for the Queen because when told he was to go to the palace he was arranged.

"I can't go without my mother," he said, and insisted on going to buy some.

Went. Eduardo Gonzalez Gallardo, also had a moving story. Enthusiastic neighbors had on carrying him up to his room on their shoulders to his mother. The old lady sobbed with joy when she saw him. The children lined the street. The Madrid suburbs in which Franco lives and let off equities to their hero. An eye-witness says that when Franco's wife, who had preceded him to Algeciras by motor, awaited at her home, he fell into her arms, exclaiming, "I'm all yours. My emotion is too much. I have never all these honors."

British Officers Honored. King R. A. Kilroy, the English officer who first sighted the flyers, also received a reception. At the hotel where he and his brother officers were guests, among a group of soldiers, not only made him sign a book, but took turns kissing him. RECEPTION
IN MADRID FOR SPANISH FLYERSFranco and Three

ital.QUEEN AT STATION
TO MEET THEMOfficers of British Rescue
Ship Also Get Ovation—Celebration Ends Tomorrow.By ALFRED M. MURRAY, Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.MADRID, July 5.—A general reception from a victorious campaign could hardly expect a more enthusiastic reception than that which awaited the Spanish transatlantic flyers and the officers of the British airplane carrier, the HMS Hermes, which rescued them off the coast after they had been given up for lost.Spain's enthusiasm indeed has been so great. The queen, who arrived this morning from all quarters of the capital numbered thousands and when the train with Ramon Franco and his three comrades came in the station, they were met by police and army officers and the official reception committee members off to the side so they could not be freed for some time.Don Alfonso, a cousin of the king of Spain, who trained as an aviator in the United States a few years ago, was there with the Governor of Madrid and the general commanding the region and the representatives of the navy, universities and the municipal authorities.Showed With Flowers.
The women and girls showed flowers on the flyers and welcomed them in their path as they advanced with difficulty from the station to the street. And this only a repetition on a larger scale of scenes which had marked the journey by special train up to Algeciras. At every stoppage the place turned out with whole populations to greet the men and their rescuers. At one place there was a man standing and serenading the flyers with a solo.In Madrid Franco and his comrades drove through the streets, cheered by masses controlled by the troops. Capt.
Durand of the Eagle which rescued the flyers and four of his officers shared equally in the public acclamation.Queen Victoria was the first to welcome the party. King Alfonso in England. She shook hands with all, asking for details of their adventure and paying particular attention to the little mechanic, Pedro Madariaga, who commanded afterward that all his timing of the presence of royalty vanished, the moment the Queen began to smile and ask kindly about his family, saying that she knew how hard she must have been.Had Already Seen Mother.
Madariaga had been home already and told the Queen he had arrived and how his mother could only gasp out, "My son!" and then, "those awful newspaper pictures." She showed him that he had lost 10 pounds in weight.
Madariaga also told her he had been too late for the Queen's reception because when told he was going to the palace he was embarrassed.I can't go without my white coat," he said, and insisted upon going to buy some.
Don Eduardo Gonzalez Gallarza, who home is near the railroad station, also had a moving greeting. He carried him up three times on his shoulders to his room. The old lady sobbed and with joy when she saw him and the children lined the streets of the Madrid suburb in which Madariaga lived and let off volleys of tears to her. An eye-witness says that when Franco found his wife, who had preceded him up to Algeciras, he told her, "I have been home, but I haven't seen all these honors."British Officers Honored.
R. A. Kilroy, the Eagle's pilot, who first sighted the Spanish plane, also received a great ovation. At the hotel where he and other officers were guests, the Government until tomorrow and an elaborate program of festivities in their honor has been arranged.
Everybody is asking Franco if he intends to try to fly the Atlantic again. His answer is:
"I don't know. It is up to the War Office. If ordered, I shall go."

'VIRGINIAN' STAR DIES

AND MOVIE STAR, DIESAmong Plays in Which He Appeared Were "Arizona" and
"The Squaw Man."

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 5.—Dustin Farnum, stage and motion picture actor, died Wednesday night in Post Graduate Hospital where he was taken a week ago. He had been in ill health for a year. He was 57 years old.His brother, William Farnum, his wife, the former Winifred Kingston, and his 4-year-old daughter, Estelle, were with him at his death.He made his stage debut with his brother, William, in their boy-hood home in Bucksport, Me. His first professional appearance was with the Ethel-Tucker Repertory
Co. in 1897.Among his great stage successes were "Arizona," "The Virginian," and "The Squaw Man." He also appeared with William Farnum in the "Little Rebel."Later he went into motion pictures where he enjoyed a continuation of his stage popularity.He was married three times.
His first wife was Agnes Maitland Johnston, who had appeared with him on the stage and whom he married in 1908. They were divorced in 1908.His second wife was Mary Bes-sant, whom he married in 1910 and divorced in 1914. He married a third time a few years later when he married in motion picture work in Hollywood.Burial will be in Bucksport, Me.
PARIS CELEBRATES FOURTH

PARIS, July 5.—Independence day has never before been observed in France as it was yesterday. It was almost as a French national holiday. Public buildings everywhere floated United States flags beside the tri-color of France. The Louvre, where Poincare has his office, was covered with new United States flags and throughout the city and the country many United States flags flew both from public and private buildings. Most of them appeared to be new.The column in the Place de la Bastille, commemorating the fall of the once famous prison was surrounded with American flags.BURGLAR FIRES SHOTS IN HOME came downstairs. When told what had happened she inspected the

FEELS PINCH OF LOW PAYProblem Unnoticed While Wealthy

Serious.By the Associated Press.
LONDON, July 5.—The question of salaries has begun to worry Great Britain's new Labor parliamentarians and as a result of discussion on the matter the country at large is awakening to the fact that the Government heretofore has been in the hands of wealthy men.Prime Minister MacDonald announced yesterday in the House of Commons that he had increased the salary of J. H. Thomas, Lord Privy Seal, from the 2000 pounds
(about $10,000) to 5000 pounds ($25,000), because he had undertaken extra duties also as Minister in charge of unemployment.There has been some discussion of the smallness of the salaries of the Prime Minister and the Chancellor of the Exchequer, which are $25,000 a year each, barely enough to keep up the official residences in Downing street. This was a matter of little concern when the officeholders were wealthy men but the situation is far different in the Labor regime.In the last Labor Government the Ministers pooled their salaries for the benefit of all.'INTERNATIONAL FLAG'

GENEVA, July 5.—Raising the "international flag" which he has carried three times around the world, and reading the "Declaration of Independence" of all nations, J. W. Van Kirk of Youngstown, O., yesterday staged a unique ceremony at Ariana Park here, where the new home of the League of Nations is to rise.Van Kirk's flag is made up of all colors of the rainbow, with a star in its field for each treaty-making nation. It was accepted by the original covenant framers, but later was rejected because the League feared that it might be misinterpreted as an indication of a tendency to set up a super-state.Van Kirk arrived in Geneva after having unfurled his flag at St. Petersburg, Rome, the Acropolis in Athens, the Mosque of Omar in Turkey, before the shrine of Confucius and Buddha in the Orient, at the Mount of Olives, Mount Calvary and Bethlehem.The League's contribution to recognition of the fourth of July was the depositing here by France of a Franco-American arbitration treaty identical with American arbitration treaties with Finland, Austria, Czechoslovakia, Denmark and Germany, all of which have already been registered with the League. France has thus far con-

LONDON, July 5.—With the conclusion of a long address by W.
N. Raeburn for the Board of Trade, the inquiry into the sinking of the steamer Vestrie last November, with heavy loss of life, was ended this afternoon. Butler Aspinall, Wreck Commissioner, and the assessors sitting with him now will consider their report.Raeburn said he found no evidence of confusion in the launching of the lifeboats, both the crew and passengers following the lead of Capt. Carey, who was "a man of great bravery and capability."Raeburn said that no doubt it would have been better if the SOS had been sent out earlier but pointed out that Capt. Carey's report showed that the ship might right itself seemed supported by the chief engineer's hopefulness.
There was no evidence, however, that a single life was lost, that might have been saved by an earlier call, the attorney declared.

dent Hoover went to the south period early in the evening to the work and later walked to the edge of the grounds, from where he watched a baseball game between Industry Typical and Warns of Danger Unless

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 5.—
Using the plate glass industry as an example, Senator Burton K.
Wheeler (Dem.) of Montana yesterday declared that powerful corporate interests, whose profits under the present Fordney-McCumber tariff act have been uncon-sionably large are stalking behind small manufacturers who have failed to install modern production methods."None of the great combinations of capital," Senator Wheeler said,
"has appeared before the Senate Finance subcommittee in support of higher schedules, for the good and sufficient reason that the lowest sheets of highly favored producers demonstrate beyond question that if Congress were mindful of the rights of the consumer and interested in maintaining national prosperity existing duties on many commodities would be reduced.""The burden of testimony heard by the subcommittee is that tariff legislation must be designed to yield profits to archaic manufacturers who are producing in obsolete plants under methods that have been surpassed by more progressive competitors.""Witnesses confessed that their factories failed to keep step with the march of industry, but this did not restrain them from relating doleful tales of reduced output and vanishing profits and from contending that they were being rates to protect them from the old standby of the lame-duck manufacturer, 'foreign competition.'""Arguments supporting higher duties on plate glass, stripped to their essentials, simply prove that those making them have gone to sleep while powerful rivals were reworking their processes to increase output.""If the Finance Committee wants to know the condition of the glass industry it should call before it the Libby-Owens Sheet Glass Co., and the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co., which control more than half of the plate glass production of the country.""By merely producing their books, officers of these concerns would dispose of the contention that the industry is in bad condition.""For the six years, 1922 to 1927, inclusive, the Libby-Owens Co. had profits averaging 80 per cent annually on its preferred shares and 40 per cent on its common shares.""Nearly half of the stock of the Libby-Owens Co. is water. Since the present tariff bill was enacted it has been paying a dividend of 70 per cent, in addition to annual cash dividends averaging 8 per cent.""The Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. has fared almost as well as has its competitor. During the six-year period it had average annual earnings of 24.88 per cent on its stock, of which a substantial percentage is water. In addition to regular dividends of 7 per cent it paid extra cash dividends of 50 per cent and a 20 per cent stock dividend.""These concerns are not openly seeking higher duties, but if they are granted by Congress their bloating profits, of course, will be further increased, at the expense of consumers who will be compelled to pay higher prices for glass.""In an investigation of the cost of producing plate glass in the United States and in Belgium, the principal producing country in Europe, conducted by the United States Tariff Commission, it was established that on the basis of relative costs at this time the American manufacturer does not need additional protection.""Half of the members of the commission reported that, in justice to consumers, rates should be reduced 12 1/2 per cent. That statement explains why the powerful producers are absenting themselves from the committee hearings and putting forward false evidence to the wall by the economic pressure exerted on them here at home."The speaker, unless President Hoover insists that his promise to the people be redeemed and directs specific attention to commodities on which higher duties should not be levied, there is real danger that the glass manufacturers and others who have already more protection than they need will be more potent with the Finance Committee than is the welfare of the millions who will suffer under new taxation."The Simple Annals of the City's Thirty Years' Experience With Street Car FranchisesStock Watering, Safe Cracking, Bribery, Secret Deals, Broken Promises, and Inflated Fares Based on Fictitious Values Litter the Record.IN 1898, an Eastern promoter bought a 50-year street car franchise at the City Hall in the name of the Central Traction Co. for $71,000.
He gave twenty-five $1000 bills to a majority of the members of the House of Delegates, and three to ten $1000 bills to a number of influential members of the City Council. The franchise permitted him to buy or build street car lines throughout the city.At that time the city had full control of fares and service, and 5 cents was fixed in the franchise as the fare to be charged throughout the 50 years.The Post-Dispatch promptly exposed the bribery, and a Circuit Judge instructed a grand jury to indict the bribe givers and takers if sufficient evidence was found, or to indict the editors of the Post-Dispatch for criminal libel. No indictments were returned and nothing further was done by the authorities until five years later.
When Circuit Attorney Joseph W. Folk proved the facts of the wholesale corruption as originally published in the Post-Dispatch. By that time the statute of limitations prevented prosecution of the City Hall bidders, but the promoter, having lived outside this criminal jurisdiction in the interim, was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary. Death saved him from the service.In 1899, two other Eastern promoters acquired the Central Traction franchise and bought up nearly all of the independent street car lines then running and merged them as the United Railways
Co. These properties later were valued at $26-600,000 by the State Public Service Commission.
The new company immediately turned on the water and issued stocks and bonds of an aggregate face value of more than $100,000,000, which they sold to the investing public at discounts ranging up to 10 per cent. The promoters took $11,000,000 of these securities as their commission for effecting the merger and for their franchise and went back East.In subsequent years, United Railways bonds dropped as low as 50 cents on the dollar on the stock market and the preferred stock dwindled to almost nothing. The common stock never had anything but speculative value.In the same year, 1899, the St. Louis Transit Co. was incorporated by men interested in the United Railways Co., and the new company got a new 40-year franchise at the City Hall, again providing for a 5-cent fare, and leased and began to operate the properties of the United Railways Co.In 1901, the St. Louis & Suburban Ry., the only important line then not in the merger, bribed 19 of the City Fathers to give it a franchise.
Again the crime was exposed, this time with immediate success, and the franchise was never granted. The Post-Dispatch induced one of the bribe takers to return from Mexico whence he had fled and turn State's evidence. Under Circuit Attorney Folk's guidance, the grand jury indicted 19 assemblymen, the bribe takers, and three city fathers, including the Mayor.The Assemblymen, including some of those who had taken the Traction Company bribe years before were sent to the penitentiary. One of the leading citizens fled the country. The others played tag with the courts for several years before the case was dropped. The interest of the Assemblymen in the case was not yarns and eventually were cleared on technicalities, as was the ex-Mayor, although one of them had confessed. As the directors of the company they had signed the checks for a bribe of $135,000 and turned them over to the "fixer" who was getting the franchise at the City Hall.In 1902 the city imposed a tax of one mill per passenger on the street car company, which the company refused to pay and resisted from the outset through all the devices its lawyers could think up.In 1904, the Transit Co. having made a failure of the business, through inability to perform the impossible task of paying the huge interest charges on the watered stock, surrendered its lease, and both franchises and the car lines were turned back to the United Railways Co.In 1913, the State passed the public service act in pursuance of the momentous Smythe-Ames decision of the United States Supreme Court, the effect of which was to deprive cities of control of rates charged by public utilities operating under franchises, and to allow the utilities a "reasonable return" not on their actual investment but on the cost of reproducing their properties new.
The State Public Service Commission was set up to regulate utilities, and from that time the City of St. Louis has been without power to regulate rates or fix franchises.In 1914, the city weary of the seemingly hopeless fight to exercise its absolute right to tax the corporation bethought itself of some possible resistal. The result was that it filed suit in 1914 asserting that the original franchise for the Jefferson avenue line had expired in 1912 and asking the Court to summon the United Railways Co. to show by what right it continued to occupy that street.The company glibly replied that it occupied Jefferson avenue by the dual rights conferred by the Central Traction franchise running to 1948 and the St. Louis Transit Co.'s franchise running to 1939; the city could take its pick.Circuit Judge Rhodes E. Cave decided that the street car company had no rights under the Central Traction franchise to operate any of the several lines beyond the lives of their respective original franchises, but did have the right under the St. Louis Transit Co. franchise to operate any or all of the individual lines up to the expiration of that franchise, 1939. The city accepted the decision as to the Central Traction franchise, which was in its favor, and appealed the decision as to the Transit franchise to the State Supreme Court. There, for some cause never explained to this day, the city's case was allowed to be dormant until abandoned, for what reason we shall see later.Meanwhile, in 1916, the city had established its right in the United States Supreme Court to levy and collect the mill tax, and the amount paid due was then over $2,000,000.In 1918 the United Railways Co. went to the City Hall and offered to pay the overdue mill tax and to faithfully pay it from then on. If the city would give it a new 20-year franchise and agree not to contest a $60,000,000 valuation on which to base street car fares. The Board of Aldermen granted the franchise.The city's referendum league obtained enough signatures to put the franchise to the test of a public vote by way of the referendum law. But,on the very eve of the filing of these petitions with the proper authorities, one of the company's employees hired a local locksmith who cracked the league's safe and delivered the petitions to other employees of the company who destroyed them.The employee who procured the safe cracker having turned State's evidence, the president and general manager of the United Railways Co. were indicted for burglary, but the charges were dismissed on a technical demurrer. The petitions themselves had no intrinsic value, hence no theft had been committed the court held. In that situation the street car company formally declined to accept the franchise and the Board of Aldermen then repealed it. None of the mill tax was paid.But this retreat of the company was only for the purpose of marshaling its forces for a new drive for a new lease of franchise life in another direction. As stated above, the city had failed to prosecute its appeal to the Supreme Court from Judge Cave's decision, but there was the ever-present possibility that it might do so and might even win. The effect of a final decision for the city would be to leave the company without any blanket franchise and the original franchises for the several lines would all shortly expire.In May, 1918, the State Public Service Commission granted the United Railways a 6-cent fare, and in December of that year the State Supreme Court sustained the ruling and held that the 5-cent fare contract in the franchise was null and void.In 1919, the company induced the City Hall to enter into a secret deal, the city's reward for which again was to be payment of the mill tax.
Under this deal, the city filed a stipulation with the State Supreme Court accepting and affirming Judge Cave's decision in the Jefferson avenue case and agreeing to never again question the company's right to operate all of its lines under the Transit Co. franchise and until 1939. The stipulation which was signed by Associate City Counselor H. A. Hamilton, was, of course, the act only of the City Counselor, who has no power to bind the city; only the Board of Aldermen, which he and his associates secretly helders took to the State Supreme Court. The State Supreme Court itself has rendered no decision.
Therefore, the city could institute a new suit to test the validity of the Transit franchise, and if the trial Court's decision went against it, could again appeal to the State Supreme Court. The question of legal authorities at the time was divided as to Judge Cave's decision, some expressing the view that the city would have won the case if it had pressed the matter in the Supreme Court.In any event, the company got for the time being what it wanted—the stipulation not to contest its franchise rights to 1939, but it failed entirely to keep its part of the agreement; none of the mill tax was paid. There was a great public outcry against this "H. A. Compromise" as it was styled, when the facts became known, but to no avail.With things in this situation, and the company defaulting in the payment of interest on some of its bonds, disgruntled security holders took action to force the company to pay. The case was adjudged insolvent and on April 2, 1920, former Mayor Rolla Wells was appointed receiver.In 1922, Mayor Kiel adopted a policy of no more franchises for public utilities and began to issue permits for the operation of busses, under which the city regulates service and fare and from whose authority there is no appeal to State Commission or courts.In 1926, the St. Louis Public Service Co., organized by Promoter J. K. Newman of New York and a group of St. Louis financiers, effected on paper a reorganization of the United Railways
Co. and applied to Mayor Miller for a new 20-year "service-at-cost" franchise, under which the city would agree not to contest a valuation of $60,000,000 on which the State Public Service Commission would base fares.In April, 1927, Promoter Newman declared in an interview in the Post-Dispatch that the extent of his profits through the reorganization would depend on whether he got a franchise. "If I get a franchise, I will be able to make a fortune. If I don't get a franchise, not so profitable; but I am going to get the franchise. I am not saying when, but I will get it. I have never failed yet and I won't fail in St. Louis."In July of that year, after the Post-Dispatch had exposed Newman's profiteering scheme under which he and his associates stood to make several million dollars if he should get a franchise, Mayor Miller, who had first approved the so-called "service-at-cost" franchise, publicly rejected it.On Aug. 1, 1927, the St. Louis Public Service Co. bought the United Railways property and franchise rights for $49,100,000 at public auction, and on Dec. 1, 1927, the new owners took over the property, terminating the receivership.The promoters capitalized the St. Louis Public Service Co. for about $50,000,000, and the reorganization scheme, $16,382,000 of United Railways preferred stock and $24,918,000 common stock, a total of $41,299,000 face value, was wiped out, "eliminated," as the promoters stated in their prospectus. At last the city got some of the mill tax, but no cash. It accepted $1,621,200 (face value) of Public Service Co. preferred stock for the $2,296,321 then due. The current tax is being paid as it falls due.In washing his hands of the trick "serviceat-cost" ordinance, Mayor Miller had appointed the Transportation Survey Commission to study the city's transit problem and bring in a report recommending a rapid transit program.The first thing the Commission did was to hire R. F. Keiker Jr., of Chicago, as engineer. Mr.
Keiker's first act was to recommend the "terminable permits" bill another scheme for getting the coveted franchise—a perpetual franchise this time—which the Commission immediately adopted as its own with the support of Mayor Miller and his cabinet who were members of the Commission, and which Gov. Caulfield recently killed with his veto. The carfare is now 8 cents and the company is demanding 16, or 4 rides for 25 cents, to yield 1 per cent on $13,500,000, the valuation allowed by the State Public Service Commission on the property for which the company paid only $49,100,000.In 10 years car fares have all but doubled and

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles; that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent, never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

St. Louis Airport Facilities.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

THE recent controversy in the newspapers regarding what Col. Lindbergh said or did not say in regard to the necessity of immediate work for runways and their location on the municipal field in the outskirts of St. Louis has certainly given the public something to think of. The public would only be too thankful finally to be advised of what is going to be done in regard to the construction of the field for use as an airport. There are many different opinions even within expert circles, but an official airing in the newspapers would certainly help a great lot to clarify the situation. There are many problems to be solved and an open discussion of them would not at all be harmful, neither to the committee work nor to the experts' opinion.

It is an open secret that St. Louis has been lagging behind considerably, being perhaps a little too conservative, and it is time now that the town officials really take a hand in this question without political interference, which is altogether a nuisance, and promote the work with dispatch and zeal and give the public a full report as to the final settlement of the whole airport construction problem. It should not have been out of the way to have offered the problem of the construction of the field to a national competition, whereby most certainly a good many new points might have been brought up which could have been molded into one form. Most often there is quite a diversified opinion between city officials, airport designers, pilots and others interested in the problem, but it is just as true that a competition can bring forth facts of the utmost importance. It is by no means a one-man proposition.

The first and best thing that could be done right now is to publish a map of the airport showing what it is going to look like after it has been finished in accordance with the present plans purport. To this map the public should be given an adequate explanation as to all main features, because the public is equally interested in knowing, and understands pretty well if given the proper tuition.

A Third Dissent.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

YOU have had two very fine editorials on the dissenting opinion of Mr. Justice Holmes in the Rosika Schimmer case. In each of these you have mentioned that Mr. Justice Brandeis concurred with Justice Holmes in his dissenting opinion.

In neither of these editorial articles have you commented on the fact that there was a third dissenting Justice, Mr. Justice Sanford, who said:

I agree, in substance, with the views expressed by the Circuit Court of Appeals, and think its decree should be affirmed.

As a matter of fairness, the dissent of Mr. Justice Sanford from the views of the majority ought to receive due notice and credit.

Disagrees With Critics.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

AFTER reading the criticisms of the Garden Theater's production of "Fanny Face" I naturally expected to witness a very inferior performance. On the contrary I saw a fast-moving, compact and highly amusing girl-and-music show which had an unmistakable professional finish and the most appealing chorus I ever saw on the stage.

This experience, together with the fact that the lumbering, unwieldy productions at the Municipal Opera, excite the weekly admiration of the newspaper reviewers, lead me to wonder what the critical standards are that guide these gentlemen. What can one make of a critic who finds the commonplace melodies of "Wildflower" and "Castles in the Air" agreeable, but can see nothing in the persuasive and original rhythms of a song such as "What Am I Gonna Do?"—a song that is as ingenious in its use of synecdoche as the Brahms symphonies?

And what can one say to the mentality that looks at those fresh, lovely and nimble girls at the Garden Theater and then complains because they can't sing as well as the Oratorio Society?

Wreckage at Old Eads Place.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

IN THE fall of last year the neighborhood of Capt. Eads' former home was rejoicing when the dilapidated old landmark was wrecked, but the rejoicing was premature.

After six months of wrecking and after everything was sold including the fenceposts, there is a pile of debris sky-high left, some of which is obstructing the sidewalks. This place is inducing the people to use it for a dumping ground. Weeds are growing even on the sidewalks. It's a place where cats and dogs may go to sleep and an el-dorado for mosquitoes with free rent.

The tax-paying property owners living north and south, and east and west of this estate, which belongs to St. Louis University, were compelled on account of this eyesore to reduce the rent and with this, of course, the value of the houses decreases in value. E. C. K.

WHAT MR. MUENCH CAN DO.

City Counselor Muench is merely blowing bubbles at the Public Service Co. when he questions the $63,500,000 valuation which the Public Service Commission has given the company on the property they bought for $49,100,000.

The unbroken line of State and Federal Court decisions from Smythe vs. Ames to the recent O'Fallon case, all upholding "reproduction new" valuation, proves that where a utility operates under a franchise the public must suffer under this fantastic theory until the franchise expires.

If he wants to really fight for the car riders with a chance of success, he will attack the company where it is weak. He will ask the company in court just what its franchise rights are. All St. Louis has known since the secret U. R. compromise between the city hall and the company in 1919, which sought to validate the franchise for all the lines until 1923, that there is a serious question whether the company has any right to the streets which many of its lines now occupy. The original Jefferson avenue line franchise expired in 1912, and the Grand boulevard, Eighteenth street, Bellefontaine, Cherokee and Tower Grove lines franchises expired in 1923.

When the city, in 1914 questioned the United Railways Co.'s right to continue the Jefferson avenue line after its franchise had expired, Circuit Judge Rhodes E. Cave held that the St. Louis Transit Co. franchise, now the property of the Public Service Co., gave the right to operate all of the individual lines, regardless of the expiration of their several original franchises, to 1939, the date of expiration of the Transit franchise. The city appealed to the Supreme Court, but instead of pressing the appeal, for some unknown reason filed a stipulation signed by an Assistant City Counselor accepting Judge Cave's decision and agreeing never again to contest it. As was pointed out at the time, this stipulation in no way bound the city; only the Board of Aldermen by enacting an ordinance could do that.

It was also held by eminent lawyers that the city would have an excellent chance to have Judge Cave's unfavorable decision reversed if it would prosecute its appeal. That is what City Counselor Muench could do today, by bringing a new suit in the case of the Jefferson avenue line or any other line for which the original franchise has expired.

The city has heretofore been at the receiving end of the reprisal club. It has been threatened with higher and higher valuations and correspondingly higher fares unless it should give the company a new franchise. One of the obvious reasons for the insistent efforts made in the last 10 years for new franchises is the street car company's own misgivings as to the validity of the Transit Co. franchise. Perhaps if the city would turn the weapon of reprisal on the company for a change, the company would listen to reason and accept a fair return on the $49,100,000 which it actually invested in the property on which it is demanding a profit on $63,500,000 and a 10-cent fare to yield the same.

MAXIM SILENCERS TO THE RESCUE.

We applaud the announcement that Maxim silencers are to be used on the racket of night work on the River des Peres sewer to a kittlelike purring that may lull to sleep instead of disturbing the rest of tenants in the Union-Pershing neighborhood.

Tenants whose nostrils in the past have been offended by the River of the Fathers, complained that as vigorous an assault now was being made on their ears. It is right and fitting that the condition be remedied. It would be an olfactory disaster to halt the bond issue project by injunction, as one lawyer threatened, and it would be a shame to continue annoying those who would sleep. We are hopeful that the silencing device will satisfy all interests, or, both senses.

THE $2 BILL.

The people of the United States have been superstitious about the $2 bill. This is particularly true around race tracks, where a $2 bill is a sign of bad luck.

Nevertheless, the new paper-money which is to come out July 10 is to include the $2 bill. It will bear on its face a portrait of Thomas Jefferson, and on the back it will carry a picture of Monticello. Heretofore there have been several issues in this denomination, one of which carried the portrait of Jefferson. Another carrying the portrait of Winchom was so successfully counterfeited that the Government virtually ceased to print it.

The new $1 bill, like the old, will carry the portrait of Washington. Probably the Treasury felt that if anybody could make the $2 bill go it would be Jefferson. Jefferson said the object of the United States Government was to make everybody happy and give everybody a share of this world's goods. Had he lived in our own time and been helping in the formation of a republic he would have said that its primary object was to give everybody at least a Ford. Perhaps the degree to which that promise has been fulfilled in the United States will triumph over the superstition as to the $2 bill. Certainly a bank note, something of itself agreeable to anybody, ought to take on added charm with the happy and prosperous masses of America when it carries not merely the portrait of the man who did it but also a picture of the home in which this beautiful dream-come-true was born. If that doesn't do it, the $2 bill would just as well be given up.

Chairman Legge of the Farm Board is giving up $90,000 a year to serve on that body. However, his sacrifice will be lost on the greedy tariff barons who are trying to exploit farm relief.

THE PASSING OF THE PITCHER.

If we have correctly decoded the messages from G. H. Q., our Cardinal pitchers are all right. They possess everything appertaining to mastery of their craft—speed, strategy, curves and control—and yet the opposing batsmen continue to plaster them all over the melancholy terrain. And the Cardinals are slipping. They have subsided into fourth place, and in the snappy verbiage of Prof. Richey, descensus averti facit est. Yes, it's as bad as that.

The diagnosticians are chattering about a "rabbit" ball, but that strikes us as a toothless, insipid symbol. From our disconsolate seat in the grand stand the ball, as it disappears over the horizon looks like anything but an innocent bunny. It looks like a hyena, saber-toothed tiger, deadly cobra and border patrolman all rolled into one unspeakable agony.

As a matter of fact, we acquit the ball of any complicity in the burlesquerie to which the once acclaimed national game has sunk. It's the fellows that write the rules whom we would summon to the bar of judgment. They have waged a relentless war on the pitcher. Rag by rag they have stripped him of his prerogatives, voided his privileges, black-balled his devices, penalized him and strait-jacketed him until they have just about reduced the great occultist of the diamond to the status of a robot. Once an art, baseball is now an artillery. Brain has been junked, brawn glorified and the fans are flocking to the fairways.

THIS MATERIALISTIC AGE.

Long ago Burke pronounced the death sentence on the age of chivalry, and from time to time literary prosecutors reiterate that verdict in elaborate indictments. Yet the newspapers dealing necessarily with things as they are, continue to tell the deathless story of romance, in actualities of derring-do unselfishness and sacrifice.

It is the heritage of youth "to jest at the dawn with death." So we accept as a commonplace a transatlantic flight, with its long scroll of missing, but in the rescue of Maj. Ramon Franco and his comrades we realize that the spirit of the conquistadores still abides, even though the purple galleons of Spain have drifted into the sunset.

Thanks to the newspapers, too, we are privileged to meet Mr. Alexander Legge of Chicago. Mr. Legge has consented to serve as chairman of the Federal Farm Board, giving up a salary of $100,000 a year for a place that pays $12,000. And the story is told how, when promoted to the presidency of the International Harvester Co., the board of directors, recognizing that he was not a wealthy man, voluntarily doubled his salary. He declined the offer on the ground that he did not want the money and did not need it.

The profession of medicine presents another martyr, Dr. Paul A. Lewis, who died in Bahia, Brazil, of yellow fever, paying the same final price as did his colleague of the Rockefeller Institute, Dr. Hideyo Noguchi, in the fever-stricken town on the African gold coast a year ago.

Franco, Noguchi, Lewis and Legge—Adventure, Science and Business—Spaniard, Japanese and American—each in his separate art and all proclaiming the kinship of genius, the democracy of service, the brotherhood of man, and blotting out as mean and paltry the miserable superstitions of race and class prejudice.

This materialistic age, we are convinced, is the forerunner of humanity's emancipation.

OUT IN THE OZARKS.

Presumably Mr. Keith McCance, formerly State Game and Fish Commissioner, knows the Ozarks and their attractions as well as anyone in Missouri. It was during his regime that the State's excellent park policy, though instituted before his time, became effective. It was also the period in which good roads and conservation joined hands to make the Ozarks a recreative asset to all the country around.

Mr. McCance has just compiled for the Automobile Club of Missouri a guide to the Ozarks. Nobody who has ever toured that beautiful country is going to believe that his directions are going to keep most travelers in the Ozarks from getting lost. If that could be done the Ozarks would be divested of one of their chiefest charms. However, Mr. McCance knows and tells what is there if one can get there, and his directions probably will reduce wandering from one road to another to the minimum to date. The difficulty that will hardly be overcome is that almost nobody explicitly follows such directions. If we did that, we would not be the people we are and Dr. Clarence True Wilson would not want to use the army and navy to make us different.

MR. HOOVER AND THE TARIFF.

It is not surprising that Mr. Hoover is worried by the protests of foreign nations against the tariff bill now before the Senate. It may be said that the whole country, including much of the Republican press, is worried by them. Senator Borah is worried. So is Senator Watson. Neither of these gentlemen believes the bill can pass the Senate.

Senator Smoot blames the Democrats on the Senate committee, but the blame belongs to the Republican leaders in Congress who disregarded the President's wishes in framing the tariff bill. As it came from the House, this bill makes 916 increases and 64 decreases in the rates of the present law, in addition to numerous changes in administrative provisions. It is impossible to call such a bill "limited," which was what Mr. Hoover had in mind and expressly requested. It is equally impossible to ascribe such a bill to farm relief, a sophistry rejected by even such stalwarts in the party as Senator Capper of Kansas. If the Senate cannot pass the bill, or if it cannot be amended to meet the President's expectations, it will be best for everybody concerned to have the bill fail. The people who tried to stretch "limited" revision to cover their own greedy purposes will be rebuked, our foreign markets will not be upset by reprisals and the farmer will not be subjected to a consequent higher cost of living.

An Italian tabloid in New York has enlarged its paper because a subscriber found it too small to wrap up his lunch in it. He probably has a watermelon for lunch.

'UNTIN' BOWLER.

An amphibian plane with a very curious name is at present winging its way from Chicago to Berlin on a flight that may have considerable significance, commercially and geographically. It is the 'Untin' Bowler, owned by Col. Robert R. McCormick of the Chicago Tribune. How the plane got its rather odd name is interesting.

Col. McCormick was in London, outfitting himself for a big game hunting expedition in Africa. He went into a Bond street shop and asked the very superior clerk for a hat—some kind of a derby that would at least partially protect the head in the event of a fall. "Oh," said the clerk, who, despite his obvious superiority, retained a Cockney accent, "you mean an 'untin' bowler." The phrase amused Col. McCormick and, moreover, the hat proved an excellent one, which did actually afford him a margin of safety in several falls. Therefore, when he came to buy a plane, the most logical name that occurred was 'Untin' Bowler. The luck, we hope, will go with the plane as well as the hat.

Alarmed by the dull tourist season, France is considering the repeal of her landing and sailing taxes, being convinced, perhaps, that it was a mistake to catch them coming and going.

NEW CURRENCY

JULY 10TH

Uncle Sam

"DID THEY GIVE THE OLD CURRENCY TO THE FARMERS?"

A Dry Senator's Wet Letter

New York Herald Tribune thinks Gould letter is a straw showing the way of the wind; Baltimore Evening Sun is grateful to the Senator for throwing light into dark recesses; Boston Evening Transcript wonders if the incident will create another dangerous issue as to the right of citizens to make liquor at home.

"VERY FAIR RESULTS."

From the New York Herald-Tribune.

THE country is indebted to Senator Arthur R. Gould of Maine for a generous peep into the mind of a dry legislator. Mr. Gould represents a state that has been dry since before the Civil War and that was among the first to incorporate prohibition in its Constitution. Though he voted against the Jones act, he is counted as one of the phalanx in the Senate that upholds prohibition as a national institution. As he says himself, "I come from a prohibition state, and I am supposed to be a prohibitionist." Then he goes on, "but I am about as loyal to the prohibition element as some of these Southern Democrats are to the Democratic party."

The quotations are taken from one of his revelatory letters to the Fresno Vineyard Co., thanking it for past courtesies and testifying to the "very fair results" he obtained from its product after following instructions. "While I find it is not policy to be out-sold by my competitors," he writes to his correspondents, "I don't mind telling you and the world that I believe a license for light wines and beer would be a great improvement over the present prohibition law that seems impossible to enforce."

Mr. Gould's own moral courage in the matter has not been of the conspicuous variety, as his confession reveals, but it is evidently growing with the lapse of years. These letters of his were written in May, 1927. Today he cheerfully acknowledges the sentiments they contain and even amplifies them with reference to the wine his neighbors in Northern Maine are making from elderberry blossoms and grapes. "God put these flowers and grapes on the earth," he asserts, "and He intended them to be used."

He has found out, in other words, that he may count on considerable support in a candid opposition to Volsteadism. It is a straw showing the way of the wind, not only in the rockribbed prohibition Pine Tree State, but in the less wholesome atmosphere of wet-dry Washington.

THE SOUL OF A SENATOR.

From the Baltimore Evening Sun.

SENATOR GOULD of Maine gets into the papers by the discovery that his opinion of Volsteadism is not greatly different from that of most residents in a letter not intended for publication, he wrote: "I come from a prohibition state and I am supposed to be a prohibitionist, but I am about as loyal to the prohibition element as some of these Southern Democrats are to the Democratic party. I note they are obliged to be Democrats to hold their jobs in Washington, but some of them often vote with the Republicans."

When one stops to consider the level of loyalty of some Southern Democrats to the Democratic party—for example, Senator Simmons of North Carolina—one realizes that the Senator from Maine has hit upon a positively brilliant figure of speech. If Gould is at heart no more a dry than Simmons is a Democrat, then he is acquitted of any suspicion of dryness save for political purposes.

The letter shows how the mind of one dry-voting member of the Senate works, and immediately the question arises, For how many of his colleagues does Gould speak? For more than one, we may be certain. The realistic perception, the happiness in choice of phrases and the moral obtuseness revealed in this letter are familiar enough. Why, then, does the attitude toward Volsteadism also is common to many occupants of senatorial chairs?

The public is indebted to Senator Gould for throwing a flood of light into many dark recesses.

SENATOR GOULD AND THE BUNG.

From the Milwaukee Journal.

EVERYBODY who has tried to put a bead on grape juice will understand Senator Gould's difficulty in getting proper fermentation. The politically dry Senator from Maine, who was selected with the support of the Anti-Saloon League, even has difficulty in getting the "bung" out of a keg of the product of the St. Louis company to whom he wrote that, "I may have an opportunity to do you people some good in Washington." The bung's out now, and if Senator Gould runs for re-election he promises him more fermentation than he has ever seen before.

ANOTHER DANGEROUS ISSUE?

From the Boston Evening Transcript.

IT was only an inevitable question of time when the point raised in the Gould incident would be brought out into the open. The Volstead Act expressly provides as follows: "The penalties provided in this Act against the manufacture of liquor without a permit shall not apply to a person for manufacturing non-intoxicating cider and fruit juices exclusively for use in his home, but such cider and fruit juices shall not be sold, delivered except to persons having permits to manufacture vinegar." However much warrant this reasonably plain provision may supply for Dr. Doran's statement following the Gould case, it was unmistakably the understanding in Washington, when the Volstead Act was in process of legislation, that these lines were inserted with the deliberate intention of quieting the criticism of farmers who saw themselves potential criminals if they and their wives made cider and wine at home. It has since been declared by many that the home products of natural fermentation, as opposed to beverages like beer, in which yeast is used, were exempt from the operation of the law, provided they were not intoxicating. In fact, and Colonel John Philip Hill of Maryland secured a court ruling to that effect. Moreover, the Bureau of Prohibition, whatever else may be said in criticism of its activities, never has authorized the raiding of homes in which wine and beer were being made, except on evidence that the liquors were being sold.

Will the Gould incident raise another dangerous issue or will it only injure Senator Gould politically, if he is again a candidate? He has told his dry constituents that the prohibition laws cannot be enforced and that he is prepared to vote for light wines and beer, to bring about a better situation. Is he a pioneer in a more temperate temperance policy, or must the farmers and their wives also come under the prohibition ban?

WASHINGTON DAY BY DAY

CONTRARY to the popular opinion, the aid to the President of the United States does more than pass resolutions at White House teas and attend state dinners in showy gold-braided uniforms. They do attend White House teas, but no extra pay. Even the elaborate uniforms are paid for out of their own pockets.

But what the average person does not know is that all of this outward show takes "after hours"—after the aid has worked men in Washington, and no extra pay. Even the elaborate uniforms are paid for out of their own pockets.

As a matter of fact, the dozen or so men who serve the President in the capacity of aids are among the most hard-worked men in Washington. And they are not the only ones. The White House is a busy place. Even the elaborate uniforms are paid for out of their own pockets.

ONLY a casual visit to the office of these men is sufficient to prove that they do more than idle away their time. They are not the only ones. The White House is a busy place. Even the elaborate uniforms are paid for out of their own pockets.

Maj. J. M. Eager of the Field Artillery is chief of the intelligence section.

Capt. John C. Drinkwater of the engineers is on duty every day at the chief of staff of the army department.

Lieut. John E. Upston has a desk at the office of the chief of the army and when his time is not taken up he is hopping across the country on business.

In the office of the quartermaster, Lieut. Don E. Lowry is handling transportation matters.

Lieutenant-Commander John H. Egan is in charge of the aviation department of naval aeronautics.

Lieut. K. M. Hoefel handles duties for the navy in the division of the navy in the experimental and the bureau of naval ordnance.

Capt. John Halla is the recreation director of the navy in charge of the officers' training course at the war college.

Lieut. Edward H. Young has a desk at the headquarters troops at the Arlington barracks.

HISTORY OF PSYCHOLOGY. By W. B. Pillsbury. (W. W. Norton & Co. Inc. New York.)

THANKS to the popularization of Freudianism and the growing demand for eight-cylinder manhood, it is quite a la mode to indulge in psychologizing the doing it, more or less. To do psychology often seems to be a highly reprehensible "cog" in the other fellow and a sign of the apparent best of terms of mean motives. To be a victim of the wherby a better it seems to signify a victim of being strenuously psychod by a type with something of his own mental process as transparent as a pane of glass.

Under the circumstances, it might be well for the generality to spend some time in review of the history of arriving at wholesome suspicion. Dr. Pillsbury's work here noted offers a reader of average understanding a valuable opportunity. For years Dr. Pillsbury was a professor of psychology at Columbia University. In 1910 he was elected president of the American Psychological Association. He was a pioneer in the psychology of the mind and in 1923 he was elected professor at the Sorbonne. He is now in charge of the department of psychology at the University of Michigan.

SULINE CONVENT CHAPEL IN COUNTY DEDICATED

Chapels in Glenon County, Minn., are officially opened for building on Sappington Road. The chapel of the Ursuline convent and Academy at Monticello, Sappington Road, St. Louis County, were dedicated Wednesday by Archbishop Glennon, assisted by a group of clergymen.

The Rev. William F. Barr, C. S. C., of the Province of the Holy Fathers, delivered the dedicatory sermon, commenting on the work of the Ursuline sisters. He stressed the importance of religious training in the school. Archbishop Glennon also paid tribute to the "Sisters."

The building includes a church, a school, a convent, and is surrounded by 25 acres of woods.

Wholesome Suspicion

HISTORY OF PSYCHOLOGY. By W. B. Pillsbury. Ph. D. (W. W. Norton & Co., Inc., New York).

Thanks to the popularization of Freudianism and the growing demand for eight-cylinder psychology, it is quite a la mode to indulge in psychologizing these days. Nearly everybody seems to be doing it more or less. To the uninitiated, it seems to be a very simple matter to apply the principles of psychology to the process of discovery. It is highly reprehensible "common sense" in the other fellow and "common sense" in the other fellow and "common sense" in the other fellow. To the uninitiated, it seems to be a very simple matter to apply the principles of psychology to the process of discovery. It is highly reprehensible "common sense" in the other fellow and "common sense" in the other fellow and "common sense" in the other fellow.

But it is not only we of the general public who seem to be psychologizing. Even the most expert of psychologists are not immune from the temptation to indulge in psychologizing. To the uninitiated, it seems to be a very simple matter to apply the principles of psychology to the process of discovery. It is highly reprehensible "common sense" in the other fellow and "common sense" in the other fellow and "common sense" in the other fellow.

Under the circumstances, it is well for the generality of us to spend some time in reviewing the history of men's guesses on the subject by way of arriving at a wholesome suspicion. Dr. Pillsbury's work here noted offers any number of average understanding of a valuable opportunity. For years Dr. Pillsbury was professor of philosophy and director of the psychological laboratory at the University of Illinois. In 1910 he was elected president of the American Psychological Association. At Columbia in 1912 he was exchanged with the Sorbonne, Paris, where he was in charge of the department of psychology at the University of Michigan.

Beginning with pre-Socratic thinkers, Dr. Pillsbury sets forth a direct and easily readable "story" of the development of the interpretation man has made of his acts and his thinking through the ages. He deals with Watson in America and Kohler in Europe. It is a long way, as we view time, from the Atomists to the Behaviorists, from Demokritos to Watson; but if these may be regarded as representative of the beginning and the end of thinking about the human mind, many a reader is likely to wonder if any real progress has been made. Happily, as Dr. Pillsbury's story shows, these are not the beginning and the end. Fashions come and go in the theorizing as in everything else, and the time-mood determines the prevailing direction of search. It is not improbable that along the way somewhere some thinker, now neglected, may have come much nearer to the truth we seek than either the ancient or the modern mechanist. For a wild guess, Fechner might be named in this connection. And there was one F. W. H. Myers who, naturally enough, considering the highly "practical" persuasion of our day, is not mentioned at all by Dr. Pillsbury.

OUR PUPPET SHOW. By Francis de Croisset. (Harpers.)

The observations of a French dramatist on two puppets of the theater—love, jealousy and friendship—play and playwriting; it is the story of a man who has evaded plots and technique for the spirit of the theater. The author, like a showman, points at themes and manners with a mocking detachment.

The book is written with an epigrammatic wit. Somerset Maugham contributes an amusing introduction.—R. S.

THE LITERATURE OF AMERICA. Edited by Arthur Hobson Quinn and Albert Craig Baugh. The Board of Temperance and Social Service of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in annual session here, adopted a resolution yesterday expressing its "confidence in the leadership" of Bishop James Cannon Jr. of Richmond, Va., its president. The action was taken, the resolution said, in view of "recent attacks on Bishop Cannon instigated by enemies of prohibition."

The board considered numerous documents and statements presented by Bishop Cannon, relating to his alleged dealings in stocks. The board declared it was convinced "the attacks on Bishop Cannon are engaged with evident unanimity, have been instigated by enemies of prohibition with the sole purpose of discrediting a great and influential leader of the prohibition forces of the nation."

CATHOLIC DAUGHTERS OPPOSE STRENUOUS WOMEN'S SPORTS

Galveston Meeting Deplores Conditions of Training and Taking Part in Olympic Contests.

By the Associated Press.

GALVESTON, Tex., July 5.—The Catholic Daughters of America, in international convention here, yesterday went on record as opposed to strenuous competitive athletics for women. A report of the Education Committee deploring conditions under which women trained and took part in Olympic contests, was adopted by the delegates, who represent Catholic women's organizations of five nations in the Western Hemisphere.

TWO CIVIC GROUPS LINE UP FOR MADDOX

Resolutions Urging His Reappointment Adopted by South Side Bodies.

Resolutions defending Superintendent of Instruction John J. Maddox and urging his reappointment have been adopted by the Southampton Development League and the Arsenal-Watson Park Improvement Association.

As has been told, Supt. Maddox is slated for dismissal when his four-year term expires July 14. Assistant Superintendent Corling is scheduled to be appointed superintendent for the four years. Myrt A. Rollins is the only member of the Board of Education who has announced he will support Maddox.

Maddox is "a capable executive, a fearless leader, and an outstanding educator," says the resolution of the Southampton Development League, signed by Elmer B. Klein, president, and O. D. Hampe, secretary.

"In the belief of many," the resolution continues, "the public school system in recent years has been well managed, and consistent progress made in the development and improvement of teaching methods and expansion of facilities to keep abreast of their growing needs."

Maddox is entitled to "considerable credit for this progress," the resolution adds, and therefore opposition is voiced to "any move to replace a man as capable and successful as Mr. Maddox."

The resolution of the Arsenal-Watson Improvement Association, signed by Secretary Horace F. Robinson, is similar in language.

MAJOR-GENERAL COLE DIES

Commander of Pacific Coast Marines Ill One Day.

By the Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 5.—Maj.-Gen. Eli K. Cole, commander of the United States Marine Corps, Department of the Pacific, died last night at a hospital here. He became ill Wednesday. He was 62 years old.

In his 39 years of service in the Marine Corps, Gen. Cole saw action in the Spanish-American War, the revolution in Haiti in 1914, and as commander of the Fifth Marine Brigade in France in the World War. He was transferred to the Pacific coast from Quantico, Va., in 1927, succeeding Maj.-Gen. Wendell C. Neville, who took over Cole's command in Quantico. He was born at Carmel, N. Y., Sept. 1, 1867, and was graduated from the naval academy in 1888. His widow and a son, Maxwell, survive.

MARRIAGE LICENSE SLUMP

BEAUMONT, Tex.—The new marriage law in Texas may be fine in other sections of the State, but it is a blow to this county, as far as issuance of licenses is concerned. With Beaumont only a two hours' automobile ride from points in Louisiana, where licenses may be obtained in the old way, the young swains are declared to be inclined to do that rather than loosen up with the medical examination fee and wait three days.

Only 121 licenses were issued up to June 13. After that was a lapse of five days before another was issued, and up to July 2 only 11 more had marched up to the Clerk's office for the nuptial papers. Records show that the ratio has dropped from approximately 10 a day to two a day.

NEW HALF DOLLARS PROPOSED

Funds to Obtain Markers for Old Trails Sought.

By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, July 5.—Officials of the National Old Trails road announced here today they would ask Congress to authorize the coinage of 20 million souvenir half dollars, which would be sold at a profit to raise funds for milestones along the trail.

The road extends from Washington to Los Angeles. Trails officials, including Harry S. Truman of Kansas City, president, would sell the half dollars for $1 each and erect mile stones which would cost $75 to $100 each.

Actress to Wed Boxer

NEW YORK, July 5.—Agnes O'Laughlin, New York show girl, has announced her engagement to Joe Benjamin, lightweight boxer and one-time associate of Jack Dempsey. Newspapers reported that it was over Miss O'Laughlin that Benjamin and Dempsey came to blows in a New York hotel several weeks ago. Dempsey, however, denied at the time that there had been any scrap. Benjamin was divorced two years ago from Marian Nixon, motion picture actress.

A. T. HAEBERLE, U. S. CONSUL IN DRESDEN, VISITS ST. LOUIS

Arnulfus T. Haeblerle, United States Consul in Dresden, Germany, is visiting his brother, Dr. Frederick S. Haeblerle, 3206 Hebert street.

Settlement of the reparations problem, Consul Haeblerle said, had given new impetus to German industries, many of which had failed to make a profit since the war. The physical condition of the German people, he said, had been improved through universal participation in systematic forms of exercise. Many youths, particularly the factory workers, he said, take long hikes, wearing a minimum of clothing and staying in the sun as much as possible.

Mr. Haeblerle will go to Washington next week to confer with officials of the State Department before sailing for his post. He formerly was in the consular service in Latin America.

2000 VISIT SHAW'S GARDEN

More than 2000 persons visited Shaw's Garden yesterday, the first Fourth of July the garden has been open.

In recent years many persons have been disappointed to find the gates closed on the Fourth and on Labor day. Many drove to St. Louis from a distance with a holiday visit to the garden as a main objective. For this reason, the garden beginning this year will be closed only two days in the year, Christmas day and New Year's.

Clara Bow's Mother Wants Divorce

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 4.—Tui Lorraine Bow filed suit for divorce from Robert Bow, father of Clara Bow, film actress in Superior Court Wednesday. In her complaint Mrs. Bow, also an actress, charged Bow with cruelty and asserted the husband had kept her awake at night "talking to himself." Bow, she alleged, had also accused her of being too friendly with other men. A property settlement has been made out of court, it was stated. The couple separated June 12, the complaint stated.

A faded picture of Anna Held in a curio shop window. Flippers with long hair and fresh roses entwined in the knots. Tombstone maker's sign: "Monumentalist." Everybody stops to watch a fellow carry a chair across the street. Broadway is the spot line—can't they wear 'em, west they don't."

The disgust a traffic cop can put in his "Go ahead!" Gaudily painted ice cream carts going to public parks. The scar-faced pugilist who trots about with a beautiful pair of white police dogs. Amelia Earhart, the female Lindy. Trembling old men who mutter at zipping autos. George Jean Nathan's hair always has the tinkle of just getting up. Boys who wear thin bracelets like Noel Coward. The restaurant where Adolphe Menjou used to work. Those mannikins with golden white hair, jet black eyebrows and pantherine strides.

Wonder if Fannie Hurst ever sits any place in a theater but a stage box. The well-dressed couple who stroll about apartment-house districts with a hurdy-gurdy. August Hecksher, the lively 83-year-old GOTHAM used to have many cafes where writers and artists were favored guests but they are gone. The most celebrated personage was the James Francis tavern in the Thirties. On the walls of the tap room were some of the excellent work of Ernest Lawson, Robert Henri, and George Luks. Francis, an excellent fellow, never refused to buy the painting of

SOUNDS swell. But many of us observe that if the genius does not eventually own the firm he steps out and owns another while the loyal employee is pensioned at sixty—with half pay and best wishes.

WE often wonder if this metropolitan gurgling about week ends in the country is not a form of hysteria. I have never been a week end guest without a dose of disgusting weather. All I have to do is look up a train for Danduraff-on-the-Knob or some other rural retreat and a cloudburst descends. It takes ten days in town to dry out from a week end trip.

MAN ALLEGED TO HAVE SHOT PROHIBITION OFFICER IS HELD

Lumber Mill Employee Surrenders, but Employer Escapes; Wounded Man Likely to Recover.

By the Associated Press.
ROCKFORD, Ala., July 5.—William Faulkner, 30-year-old lumber mill employee, yesterday was brought to the Rockford jail following his surrender last night at Weogufka, Ala., in connection with the shooting yesterday of W. H. Gillespie, Federal prohibition officer.

Duncan Blocker, lumberman and Faulkner's employer, who escaped with him in the course of a raid on a still near here shortly after dawn yesterday, was still at large today.

Faulkner, it was announced, will be charged with assault to murder, resisting an officer, interfering with a Government officer in the discharge of his duties and distilling.

Three other men arrested at the

Faulkner's surrender followed an all-day search by Federal, State and county officers, which was brought to an abrupt halt at dusk yesterday when bloodhounds lost his trail.

Gillespie is expected to recover from the gunshot wounds which sprayed his face, chest and abdomen. He was shot down as he and three other officers emerged from a thicket near the still.

FLOOD ON TORONTO BEACHES

TORONTO, July 5.—The worst flood in years in the beaches district here was caused yesterday by a southeast wind which increased in intensity throughout the day. The life saving crew was called out to remove residents in boats from their inundated homes. Emergency equipment was sent for to rescue a man in a canoe 200 feet off shore who was unable to land. A life guard attempted to reach him without success.

SEARCH FOR BODY OF PEAK CLIMBER FAILS

Guides at Mt. Rainier Cross Crevasse Glacier to Find Man Who Fell Into Ice.

By the Associated Press.

RAINIER NATIONAL PARK, Wash., July 5.—Unsuccessful in their first search for the body of Forrest Greathouse of Seattle, who presumably perished last Tuesday when he and five other mountain climbers fell into a hidden crevasse near the top of Mount Rainier, mountain guides renewed their hunt today.

The search for Greathouse involved a perilous trek across Ingraham Glacier's icy crust, which conceals many deep crevasses. The crumbling ice was the cause of Tuesday's tragedy. The mountain climbers, all tied to a rope, plunged down a steep incline of ice when one of their party made a false step, fell and dragged the others down.

The body of Edwin Weisel, Milwaukee attorney, was recovered late Wednesday after Robert Strobel, one of the six, had made his way out of the crevasse and down to Camp Muir, sending rescuers after the others.

Of the four men who escaped death after being swallowed up in the crevasse, three were injured. L. H. Brigham, official guide of the mountain climbers, last night expressed the belief that Greathouse's body never would be found.

"Greathouse was under a chunk of ice when I first located him after the fall," said Brigham. "I cut him free and propped him up but he was badly hurt."

Brigham, D. Y. Bradshaw of Cambridge, Mass., and E. P. Weatherly of Kansas City, Mo., also escaped from the crevasse after they had found themselves unable to aid Greathouse. They said Greathouse was dying and that they could not lift him.

Charles Brown, a ranger, led a party yesterday which made its way to the crevasse where Greathouse was thought to be lying. A guide, John Day, was lowered 75 feet into it, but failed to find any trace of the body.

Returning to Camp Muir, the overnight stopping place for Summit parties at the 10,000 foot level, Brown made the long hike down to Paradise Valley 5,000 feet below to talk with Strobel.

After his talk with Strobel, Brown said he thought Greathouse's body would be found higher up in the crevasse searched yesterday.

While the guides were exploring the crevasse the trail behind them to Camp Muir was destroyed by the opening of fresh faults in the glacier and they had to break a new trail back to the stone shelter hut in the rocky saddle between the Paradise and Cowlitz glaciers.

ENGINEER WHO LEAPED FROM TRAIN LEFT $30,000 ESTATE

Worry Over Wife's Ill Health Is One Explanation of Brookfield Man's Death.

MACON, Mo., July 5.—Friends of Elmer Daugherty, veteran Burlington Railroad engineer, whose body was found in East Ford Creek near here, declined today to believe he had committed suicide despite a coroner's verdict suggesting that possibility.

Daugherty was in good health and owned about $30,000 worth of property in Brookfield, his home. Some believed he had worried over the health of his wife, who has been ill two years.

"From all conditions of the body it shows that Daugherty must have leaped from the engine or fallen out," the jury found yesterday. "Whether he jumped off purposely or was mentally afflicted, thinking he was meeting a train, the jury is unable to decide."

Roscoe Cassity, fireman, who was also in the cab of the St. Louis-Denver Limited, said Daugherty handled the train in and out of Macon in the usual way and he did not notice anything unusual at that time.

Body Recovered From River.

Now you can have Hot Weather Comfort

—without Blasts of Wind

Nature's way of cooling is by the gentle movement of air past you, absorbing moisture and aiding evaporation. Moving air is live air that invigorates and keeps you stimulated.

GUTH-FAN cools in Nature's way without health endangering blasts of wind. It discards the old way of blowing air and yet it gives you 50% more air circulation than a 16 inch standard fan.

Through a revolutionary principle it draws the air up from below, moving it past you as a gentle current of air. It moves the air out at an oblique angle in all directions and all around the room, creating diffused air circulation that's cooling as all outdoors.

GUTH-FAN operates above you where a fan will do the most good. It fills the room full of revitalized air that moves so gently that it doesn't blow dust around or disturb papers on a desk right under the fan.

It attaches to any ceiling outlet as a fan only or it combines with modern and artistic lighting fixture designs, giving you the year round benefit of adequate light and healthful revitalized air.

MISSING TWO MONTHS IS FOUND SLAIN IN CANAL

of Chicago Coal Dealer Discovered in Auto Drainage Channel Drained.

Associated Press.
CHICAGO, July 5.—The subterranean waters of the Sag Drainage canal, on the far southwest side of the city, disclosed yesterday the body of a man missing for two months ago of Robert Hansen, South Side coal dealer. The body, with the skull missing, was found in his automobile, 200 feet from shore. An unidentified man had not been seen and had been dead several weeks.

A motorcycle policeman discovered the car in the canal. The car was at Lockport, Ill., had been opened early in the day and a canal level had fallen three feet, exposing the top of the automobile. The machine was rusted and covered with mud.

The license plates showed the car was Hansen's. A check of police records disclosed that on May 2, Hansen had been reported missing since May 2, by his wife, Emma.

A $250 ring, which Mrs. Hansen said her husband was wearing, was missing, although the dead had gloves on both hands.

MRS. SMARTLEY Knows Her Groceries

MRS. GOOFUS ran in to see Mrs. Smartley for just a minute. After half an hour of unexciting preliminaries, the two girls finally settled down to a frank discussion of the neighborhood divorce case.

It seems the wife had been neglected . . . the husband 'phoned nearly every day that he would be detained at the office for the evening.

"Wasn't that perfectly terrible?" Mrs. Goofus is now speaking. "The nerve of that man . . . to imagine he could get by with such an alibi!"

"It doesn't look so good," Mrs. Smartley admitted, "but, my dear, perhaps he was actually compelled to work nights to catch up with the family budget. The way that woman spent money . . . why, she once told me she didn't care what her groceries and meats cost . . . think of that! When it's so easy to read the food ads in the Post-Dispatch and go to the stores and shop. I know I save at least ten dollars a week on my table by doing that very thing."

"I save at least ten dollars a week on my table by doing that very thing."

Mrs. Smartley was right in suggesting the food ads in the Post-Dispatch. During 1928 this one newspaper carried more food advertising than the three other St. Louis newspapers combined. Here are the figures:

MISSING TWO MONTHS IS FOUND SLAIN IN CANAL

Chicago Coal Dealer Discovered in Auto Drainage Channel

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, July 5.—The body of a man, missing for two months, was found in a drainage canal on the far southwest side of the city, disclosed yesterday the police. The body, which was found in a drainage canal, was identified as that of Robert Hansen, a Chicago coal dealer, who had been reported missing since May 2, by his wife.

LINE TO DISCONTINUE

Ill. Power & Light Co. Discontinues Service to Schram City and Taylor Springs. The Illinois Power & Light Co. has decided to discontinue its service to Schram City and Taylor Springs, Ill., after several years of operation. The company has been operating for several years, but the service was discontinued last night by the Illinois Power & Light Corporation, owners of the present franchise.

Minister Has Yellow Fever. WASHINGTON, July 5.—The American Legation at Monrovia informed the State Department yesterday that William T. Francis, American Minister to Liberia, is slowly recovering from an attack of yellow fever. His condition was considered critical last night.

BOY CONFESSES SLAYING FATHER AND BURNING BODY

Sheriff Accepts Version That Whit Parker Came Home Drunk and Threatened to Kill His Son.

By the Associated Press.
PIGGOTT, Ark., July 5.—George Parker, 15 years old, has confessed that he shot and killed his father, Whit Parker, 50, and then fired their farm home to cover up the crime. Although he gave two versions of the actual shooting, it was the belief of Sheriff George A. McNeil that the elder Parker came home drunk Tuesday night and threatened to kill his son. The slayer was ordered held on a murder charge. George told Dr. George Cone, in the presence of the sheriff, that he killed his father as the elder Parker approached him, cursing, with a shotgun in his hand. Later the boy told the sheriff that his father chased him out of the house and that he returned and shot him through a window. The boy then said he went to a hiding place and got $20 of his father's money. He next poured kerosene "all over everything" and set fire to the house. The lad was arrested when he brought new clothes "to go away". He had lived alone with his father for several years. His mother died 12 years ago, and although his father had since remarried, he had been estranged from his second wife for several years.

SPARTA, ILL., SIGNS CONTRACT

Arranges for Pumping Station Power for 5 Years at Lower Rate. SPARTA, Ill., July 5.—After several weeks deliberation the City Commissioners at a meeting this week passed an ordinance granting a five-year contract to the Illinois Power & Light Corporation for the supply of electric energy to the city pumping plant at a flat rate of two cents per kilowatt hour. The ordinance will go into effect at once.

Under the old arrangement, with no contract in force, the city was paying an average of 8 1/2 cents per kilowatt for power and at this rate paid out $2841 last year. The city's water supply pumped from the big lake into the mains. Under the new rate the cost for power will be approximately $2725, a saving of more than $1160. The City Commissioners are considering the matter of installation of a Diesel engine in order to reduce pumping costs.

RECIPES FOR DISHES IN WEEK'S MENUS

Quickly Digested Dishes Are the Ideal Type for Summer Meals.

It will be noted that in this week's menus I have suggested quite a few cold meals, and that salads, fruit and gelatin desserts, vegetable salads and cold sliced meats have been used rather freely.

For supper on Sunday night, you may prefer to boil a small smoked tongue yourself on Saturday and have it ready to slice cold. This provides an end that can be chopped and used to stuff the tomato salad for next day's lunch. In many cases it is more convenient to buy the ready cooked tongue from the butcher or delicatessen, especially if there is only a small family. In this case use cottage cheese and a few chopped bits to stuff the tomatoes.

Summer Fruit Cup.
Wash and hull enough berries to make one cupful when they are cut in half. Shred a small fresh pineapple and mix lightly with the berries. Sprinkle with one-third cup of powdered sugar and then pour one-half cup of orange juice over the mixture. Cover and place in the ice box to chill for several hours. Place in serving glasses and garnish with a large whole berry.

Cream of Watercress Soup.
Wash and pick over one large bunch of watercress. Cut in pieces, put in a saucepan with one small sliced onion and one pint of boiling water. Boil slowly for 30 minutes, then rub through a coarse strainer saving all of the liquid. Sauté one pint of milk and 2-1 to the cooked watercress. Melt three tablespoons of butter, add three tablespoons of flour, and when well blended stir in the liquid. Cook until slightly thickened, season with two teaspoons of salt, a little pepper and a few grains of nutmeg.

Serve in bouillon cups and garnish with a sprig of fresh watercress, a spoonful of whipped unsweetened cream, a very thin strip of lemon peel or a little paprika.

Coffee Sponge.
Dissolve one package of lemon flavored gelatin in one and one-half cups of clear boiling coffee. Cool, and then chill until beginning to thicken. Whip one-half pint of cream until stiff and sweeten with two tablespoons of powdered sugar. Add this to the thickening gelatin, and whip with an egg beater until the mixture is stiff enough to hold its shape.

Pile into serving glasses and garnish with a maraschino cherry. Serve very cold.

Nut Bread.
Mix and sift two cups of flour, four teaspoons of baking powder, three-fourths teaspoon of salt, one-fourth cup of sugar and the grated end of half an orange. Rub in one-third cup of shortening, working the mixture until thoroughly blended. Beat one egg and add one cup of milk, stir this into the dry mixture. Add one cup of coarsely chopped pecan or walnut meats and mix thoroughly.

Pour into a well-greased, medium-sized bread pan and let stand for 20 minutes.

Bake in a moderate oven until well cooked.

Cool before using, and if possible let stand for 24 hours as this will improve the flavor and slicing qualities of the bread.

HOUSEWIVES SHOULD INCLUDE EGGS IN THE FAMILY MENU Few Articles of Food Are More Nutritious And Wholesome Than Eggs.

This is the time of the year when eggs are about the cheapest, and when they may be used more freely in the family menu.

Because of the protein, minerals and vitamins that are packed inside the shell of the egg, it is a valuable food for children and adults.

A recent leaflet issued by the Department of Agriculture, and entitled "Eggs at Any Meal," gives some very interesting facts about egg cookery together with recipes for about twenty different ways of using them.

It is a good plan to form the habit of making use of the material put out by such authoritative sources, and to watch for any new ideas that come along.

While of course the use of eggs in the diet is by no means a new idea, there are many things about them, and some of the principles of cookery that are not clearly understood and that are well worth explanation.

It is by learning how to make wider use, as well as a wiser use, of these simple everyday foods that the best interests of economy, health and nutrition are served.

CABBAGE AND SHRIMP SALAD
This Is An Excellent Type of a Summer Dish.

Remove the intestines from one and a half cupfuls of canned shrimp. This is the black thread which follows around the outer edge.

Break the shrimp into pieces and combine it with two cupfuls of finely shredded cabbage.

Mix with one cupful of French dressing and let it stand half an hour. Chill and moisten with mayonnaise and garnish with finely shredded green pepper.

MEDLEY PRESERVES MADE WITH FOUR FRUITS AND RHUBARB

Housewives Should Try Out This Recipe for the Winter's Jam Supply.

Berries and small fruits make the most delicious preserves. One of the most unique of these sweets is called "Medley Conserve."

The word medley, you know, means a mixture of several, and the medley conserve carries out the significance of its name as it is prepared with four kinds of fruits and one vegetable.

To make it take two quarts each of cherries, strawberries or raspberries, gooseberries and currants, and three quarts of rhubarb and eight and one-fourth cups sugar. Wash fruit carefully; pit the drained cherries; hull strawberries; tip and tail gooseberries; stem currants, and dry and slice rhubarb.

Place all fruit in preserving kettle in order of preparation; bring slowly to boiling point; boil 30 minutes. Add sugar, stir till thoroughly mixed; bring to boil and boil rapidly 20 minutes.

Turn into sterilized jars and when cold cover with melted paraffin.

POTATO AND BACON OMELET
A Suitable Dish for a Hearty Breakfast or Luncheon.

Dice bacon, measuring one-half cup; place in frying pan with one cup of cold potatoes chopped fine and fry until the potatoes are delicately browned and the bacon is crisp.

Separate four eggs, beat the yolks until creamy, add the whites which have been beaten stiff.

Add one-half teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, one-half cup of milk, and mix thoroughly.

Pour into a well-greased, medium-sized bread pan and let stand for 20 minutes.

Bake in a moderate oven until well cooked.

Cool before using, and if possible let stand for 24 hours as this will improve the flavor and slicing qualities of the bread.

TASTY COOL DRINKS FOR SUMMER DAYS

A Group of Thirst Quenchers
That Are Refreshing and Wholesome.

In warm days cool drinks are greatly in demand; we start the day with a chilled fruit juice for breakfast, we likely follow it at noon-time with iced tea, coffee or cocoa or some fruit beverage, and often repeat this same at dinner.

At various times during the day we are tempted by the soda fountain displays, or if we are at home, we like to concoct various mixtures, and combinations that will provide the long cooling draughts that we feel are so necessary a part of the summer time.

It is a good plan to keep on hand a jar of sugar syrup to use for sweetening fruit drinks. This gives a much smoother flavor than plain sugar, and has the added advantage in that it immediately mixes with the liquid and there is no frantic stirring to make the sugar dissolve.

Sugar syrup is very simply made by boiling together equal parts of sugar and water for five minutes. This may be cooled, poured into a preserve jar, and kept in a corner of the refrigerator for use as needed.

There are several classes of cool drinks for this time of the year, those made of fruit juices in combination with plain or carbonated water or some carbonated beverage probably leading in popularity. Milk shakes, iced chocolate and iced tea and coffee probably come next so far as home use goes, with ice cream combinations as a third group.

Those drinks containing milk, malted milk and ice cream have a higher food value than the fruit beverages, though the latter are perhaps more cooling and decidedly more refreshing.

On warm days one of the cold milk beverages, together with a sandwich, makes a nutritious and easy digested meal. The following recipes are for drinks that will be welcome for lunch, in the afternoon or in the evening. Most of them make use of fruit combinations, and all of them will serve at least six people.

Colonial Mint Punch.
Wash a bunch of fresh mint, remove the stems, and bruise the leaves by rubbing them with a spoon in a bowl. Add one cup of sugar syrup to the mint, together with the juice from five lemons. Let stand about thirty minutes. On warm days one of the cold milk beverages, together with a sandwich, makes a nutritious and easy digested meal.

Raspberry Delight.
Wash and mash three cups of ripe red raspberries. Then squeeze the berries through a piece of cheesecloth to extract all the juice. Boil together two cups of sugar and two cups of water for five minutes, add the grated rind of one orange and set aside to cool. When cold add the raspberry juice and the juice of two lemons and two oranges.

Serve in tall glasses with one-third cup of crushed ice in each glass. Garnish with a sprig of fresh mint or a thin slice of orange.

Chocolate Syrup.
Mix together two cups of sugar and one cup of cocoa, and then add gradually one and one-half cups of boiling water and an eighth of a teaspoon of salt. Boil for ten minutes, stirring occasionally. Cool and use for making milk shakes or chocolate sodas.

Chocolate Milk Shake.
Put two tablespoons of finely crushed ice, one-fourth cup of chocolate syrup and three-fourths cup of milk in a beverage shaker and shake thoroughly. One egg may be added to the ingredients before shaking to make an egg and milk shake. Strain into a glass for serving.

For a chocolate ice cream soda put one-fourth cup of chocolate syrup in a tall glass, add one-third cup of milk, a large tablespoon of vanilla ice cream, and fill the glass with soda water from a siphon. Siphons of soda may be bought in drug stores or most large grocery stores.

FRESH HAM SLICE STUFFED

This Dish Is Almost As Tootsome As Baked Stuffed Chicken.
Pork is one of the sweetest of meat products. Fresh pork ham, when properly prepared and cooked, is almost as tootsome as chicken.

Try this way of cooking a slice of fresh pork ham.
For one slice, about three-fourths inches thick, use one cup toasted bread crumbs, one large onion, one apple, one-half cup prunes, stoned, one teaspoon salt, two tablespoons crystallized ginger and four tablespoons water.

To bread crumbs add chopped onion, apple (unpared) and prunes, salt, finely chopped ginger and cold water. Mix thoroughly and spread on slice of ham.

Roll up like jelly roll and fasten with toothpicks or tie with string. Place in baking dish in a hot oven for 20 minutes to seal meat, then reduce heat to moderate and bake one and one-half hours longer.

A Thought for the Day.
There is no food, except milk, that means more to the human mechanism than eggs. They contain invaluable growing elements and are splendid builders of muscle and sources of minerals. Most households do not use enough eggs because of their expense, few housewives realizing that eggs themselves may be supplemented by less costly foods to make them "go farther."

CHOCOLATE CREAM PIE
RUNNER UP TO LEMON PIE

Line a pie plate with rich pie crust, putting on an extra edge of crust the same as for custard pie. Fill with the chocolate filling made after the following recipe. Bake in a hot oven until crust is done; remove, and when cool, cover with a meringue and brown very slowly in moderate oven.

Chocolate Filling.
Take two cups milk, pinch of salt, two squares chocolate, three level tablespoons flour, two egg yolks, 1/2-cup sugar, one teaspoon vanilla and three tablespoons cornstarch.
Sift together, into a saucepan, sugar, cornstarch, flour and salt; add milk gradually, stirring constantly and cook for four minutes, still stirring. Melt chocolate over hot water, add to the mixture, together with the yolks, unbeaten. Mix thoroughly and cool. Add vanilla and pour into baked pie shell and cover with meringue.

ARE REFRESHING

Fruit Ices, Ice Creams and Sherbets Are Cooling for Warm Weather

The fruit ices and sherbets are the simplest of all frozen mixtures, as they are made from fruit juices and water with sugar for sweetening and they serve the purpose as fruit beverages. That is, they supply the cooling fruit acids, the minerals and some vitamin content to the diet. In addition, their flavor has a distinct appetite appeal, they are easily digested, and very simple to make.

In speaking of digestion, it must be remembered that all frozen or well chilled products should be eaten slowly so as not to interfere with the digestion of other foods by too quick a chilling of the digestive tract.

Sherbets are sometimes made by substituting milk for the fruit juice, in which case the sugar should be thoroughly dissolved in the fruit juice before the milk is added.

The difference between ices and sherbets lies in the fact that beaten egg whites or a small amount of gelatin are added to the fruit juices to make a sherbet. The milk sherbets and the ones that are made with eggs are a little richer than the water ices and have a slightly higher nutritive value.

Both the sherbets and ices are frozen in the same way, that is by the use of ice and salt to form a freezing mixture, or by putting them in the freezing unit of one of the "closed" refrigerators.

A good recipe for a lemon or orange ice is as follows: Mix together four cups of water and two cups of sugar and boil for 20 minutes to form a thin syrup. This, by the way, is the foundation for all fruit ices.

Add three-fourths cup of lemon juice for a lemon ice; two cups of orange juice and one-fourth cup of lemon juice for an orange ice. Two cups of crushed or fresh grated pineapple and one tablespoon of lemon juice added to the syrup makes a delicious pineapple ice.

Two cups of fresh strawberry or raspberry juice, made by crushing the fruit and then squeezing through cheesecloth, makes fruit ice in these flavors.

Two cups of mashed pulp fresh apricots makes a deliciously flavored apricot ice, and two cups of finely mashed pink pulp of cantaloupes with a small amount of lemon juice to bring out the flavor makes a rather unusual frozen dessert.

For sherbet add to any of the above mixtures one tablespoon of gelatin that has been soaked in cold water for 20 minutes and then dissolved in the hot syrup. The stiffly beaten whites of three eggs may be added to the sherbet mixture when it is partly frozen.

Remember that all frozen mixtures increase in bulk during the freezing process so that the container should never be more than two-thirds full.

AN ENTICING BLACKBERRY WHIPPED CREAM CAKE
Follow These Directions and You Will Have a Toothsome

Pick over, wash and hull two cups of fresh ripe blackberries. Sprinkle with four tablespoons of sugar and let stand in a cold place. For the cake, cream together three tablespoons of butter and two-thirds of a cup of sugar.

When well blended stir in two-thirds cup of milk. Then add one and three-quarters cup of cake flour sifted with two tablespoons of baking powder and one-eighth teaspoon of salt. When well mixed fold in the stiffly beaten whites of three eggs and pour the mixture into two medium-sized, well-greased layer cake pans.

Bake in a hot oven for 20 minutes, then turn out and cool. Whip one-half pint of cream until stiff enough to hold its shape. Fold in the sugared blackberries and spread between the layers and on top of the cake.

It is best to put the cream mixture on the cake just before serving. At any rate, it must not stand too long or the cream will soak into the cake mixture and make it too soft. Any fruit may be substituted for the blackberries.

RASPBERRY NESTS
These Deliciously Flavored Berries are Delicious Served Thus.
One level tablespoonful gelatin, one-fourth cup cold water, one cup boiling water, one-fourth cup lemon juice, three-fourths cup sugar, whites of two eggs.
Soak gelatin in cold water five minutes, dissolve in boiling water, add sugar, lemon juice and salt, and the grated rind of the lemon. Strain, and when beginning to thicken beat and add a few drops green coloring. Add whites of eggs beaten very stiff and continue beating. Turn into shallow cups and when firm unmold, scoop out centers and fill with sugared raspberries.

PLANNING MENUS FOR THE COMING WEEK

Summer Meals Should Be Varied and Nourishing but Not Heavy.

There is such a wide selection of foods available in our markets just now that it is a very simple matter to serve a different fruit and a good variety of vegetables every day.

California cherries and, in some sections, homegrown varieties, both sweet and sour, may be had.

Early peaches are giving us our first opportunity for renewing acquaintance with this delicious flav.

Grapes, especially those little white seedless ones which are so good for salads and fruit cups, have put in their appearance; and cantaloupes and watermelon have come again to present their perplexing problem as to how one can be sure of buying ripe and well flavored ones.

In the vegetable line, we have asparagus, that "queen of vegetables," which is now reasonable in price and most delicious in flavor. Remember that boiled and chilled it makes an excellent salad, and that served in this way it is often a welcome change from the hot dish.

There are several varieties of green beans, to say nothing of lima beans, fresh peas, sweet corn, eggplant, cauliflower, tomatoes and the several varieties of salad greens.

In planning meals for this time of year, fruits, vegetables, eggs, fish and other easily digested foods should be given first consideration.

Warm weather calls for cooling, light dishes; there is less demand for the heat producing foods, and there is less inclination on the part of the family cook to spend much time in the kitchen.

Nevertheless, nutritional requirements cannot be neglected, and care must be taken to include a plentiful supply of the foods that are necessary to meet the daily needs of the body.

These facts have been kept in mind in planning the menus suggested for the week. In most cases foods that do not require much time in preparation have been used, but those selected are such as will meet the needs for the well balanced diet which has been found best suited to general well being.

BAKELESS CAKE DE LUXE IS AN ICE BOX DELICACY
One of the Most Alluring and Easily-Made Company Desserts.

To make it, cream one-half cup of butter with one cup of sugar. Add two beaten egg yolks, one can of grated pineapple with its juice and one-half cup of English walnut meats cut fine.

Do not be alarmed over the appearance of the mixture even if the butter separates into lumps or anything else does not look as though it would come out all right, for it will. Do not cook it.

If the pineapple is very juicy omit a little of the juice, though there is seldom too much.

Line a large shallow pan with heavy waxed paper and cover the bottom with one-third pound of vanilla wafers.

Spread the wafers with one-half of the mixture, cover with another layer of wafers, spread with the rest of the mixture and add the last third of the pound of wafers, placing them so that they just touch each other.

Let it stand in a cool place or in the refrigerator for 24 hours. Cut into squares and serve with whipped cream.

THREE - FRUIT JAM
A Delicious Sweet That Will Taste Fine Next Winter.

This has pineapple for its basis. Make it according to these directions. Use one large fresh pineapple, rhubarb, three quarts raspberries or strawberries, eight cups sugar and one cup lemon juice.

Peel and core pineapple and cut into small pieces. Measure carefully by packing into measuring cup. Wash, clean and sort rhubarb according to size. Cut in fine pieces; measure one cup. Rhubarb for each cup of pineapple. Wash, drain and hull berries.

To pineapple add two cups sugar and let stand one hour; put on to cook, bring slowly to full rolling boil and cook 20 minutes; then add finely cut rhubarb and when it is again boiling, let boil 15 minutes longer. Add berries and remaining sugar; bring to boiling point and boil 15 minutes. Add lemon juice and cook 10 minutes longer. Turn into sterilized jars or glasses. When cold seal with melted paraffin.

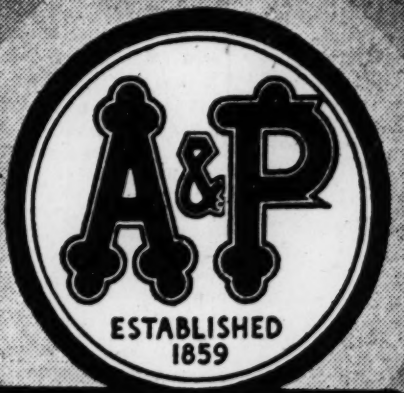

RASPBERRY COCKTAIL
Most Refreshing for an Afternoon Treat on a Hot Day.

Cut fine four bananas, and cut enough balls from a honeydew melon to make two cups. Add a half cup of chopped pineapple and a teaspoon of very finely chopped white celery leaves.

Dust with two dessertspoons of sugar and turn over a half cup of fresh raspberry puree. The puree is made by putting fresh, ripe raspberries through a puree sieve to remove the seeds.

Fill cold cocktail glasses, add a small wing of ginger ale or champagne cider and serve at once. The dominating flavor here is raspberry. The sparkling cider or ginger ale gives it a crisp taste, a real appetizing zest.

CHERRY PIES HAVE AN APPEAL FOR MEN

Suggestions That Make a Positive Answer to an Old Question.

I don't know how old the famous song "Can She Make a Cherry Pie, Billy Boy, Billy Boy" is, but long ago there evidently were eager seekers for this delicacy just as there are today, though perhaps it was not quite so hard to find.

However, for those who know the meaning of a good old-fashioned cherry pie, the cherry season still holds much of delight. Perhaps the secret to success lies in that one word "sour."

Stem the cherries, and be sure you pit them, for what good is a cherry pie that gives you nothing but a mouthful of pits? There are small devices that can be purchased for hooking the pits out of cherries, but you will probably find that the quickest way is to simply squeeze each cherry between the thumb and forefinger, pressing the pit from the bottom of the cherry up and out through the stem end.

Hold the cherries over a bowl as you do this so as to save every bit of the precious juice. It will take at least two quarts of cherries to make a medium sized pie.

Make the pastry as follows: Sift together two cups of flour, one-half teaspoon of salt and one-half teaspoon of baking powder. Rub in two-thirds cup of shortening, using a work, a pastry chopper or the very tip ends of your fingers. When the mixture is thoroughly blended, add just enough ice water to make a stiff dough. It will probably take about half a cup, but add a little at a time so that you are sure of not getting too much. A soft dough almost always means a tough crust.

Turn the ball of dough out on a floured board and roll quickly and lightly to an eighth inch thickness, and a size to fit your pan. Line the pan with the dough, trim off the edge, and save them to roll out again and make the strips for the upper crust.

Mix together one and one-half cups of sugar and three spoonfuls of flour. Add this to the pitted cherries (two quarts before pitting), mix with a fork and then fill the pan with the fruit. Roll out the scraps of dough in a long strip an eighth of an inch thick. Cut this in strips one-half inch wide and place criss-cross over the pie, pinching the edges of the strips into the dough on the edges of the pie. Bake in a very hot oven for twenty minutes, then reduce the heat to a moderate temperature and cook twenty minutes longer.

The addition of flour to the sugar will thicken the juice of the fruit so that it is less likely to soak into the crust or to bubble out of the pie.

The high temperature for the first twenty minutes will harden the crust before the juice can soak in, and will also make a more tender pie crust. The lower temperature is necessary to cook the fruit and finish baking the crust. Any fresh fruit pie may be made by the same process, varying the amount of sugar according to the acidity of the fruit.

Red raspberries, for instance, huckleberries, or peaches will seldom need more than three-fourths of a cup of sugar. Blackberries will require about one cup, and a mixture of raspberries and currants, one to one and one-half cups.

SAN FRANCISCO SALAD

Few More Tempting Fillings for Stuffed Tomatoes.

One-third cupful sliced ripe olives, one-third cupful broken walnut meats, one minced pimiento, six medium-sized tomatoes, mayonnaise and lettuce.

Combine the olives, egg, walnuts and pimiento with sufficient mayonnaise to blend. Remove the skins from the tomatoes, hollow out the centers and fill with the olive mixture. Arrange for individual service on salad plates with a garnish of lettuce and extra mayonnaise. If desired, the filled tomato may be prepared before serving time and placed in the icebox after pouring over it a little French dressing.

POTATOES AND CALVES' LIVER

A Delicious Way of Preparing Ever Popular Liver.

Put six boiled potatoes in slices and cover bottom of casserole. Over the layer of potatoes place thin strips of liver and continue until dish is filled with alternate layers of potato and liver.

Season each layer of liver with salt and pepper and season each layer of potato with one tablespoon minced onion and one slice of bacon finely minced. The last layer should be of potato.

Four one cup of stock or gravy over all, cover and bake about one hour. Remove cover and brown just before serving.

Savory Potato Salad.

Cook the potatoes with the jackets on, then peel, cut up while still warm, and put in a salad bowl. In another bowl mix some pepper, salt, dry mustard, chopped onions, chopped parsley, chives, and add some hot water or better still a little hot broth and pour over the potatoes. Dice a few slices of bacon and fry until crisp, and pour quickly over the salad. Toss without breaking the potatoes, and serve.

INCLUDE DEVILED EGGS FOR THE PICNIC LUNCHEON

No Picnic Basket Is Quite Complete Without a Generous Supply.

There are almost as many stuffings for deviled eggs as there are cooks, for every housewife has her own favorite way of concocting fillings for these picnic dainties.

The basic principle of deviled eggs are fresh eggs, hard-cooked, with the yolks removed and the halved hard-cooked whites, refilled with a savory filling made with the mashed yolks combined with other savory foods such as deviled ham, chopped meat, mayonnaise, minced parsley, chopped green peppers and other foods of like type. This recipe makes attractive stuffed eggs for the picnic basket. For six hard-cooked eggs, take two tablespoons mayonnaise, a few grains of paprika, one-half tablespoon chives, one-half teaspoon salt and one-half teaspoon lemon juice.

Cut hard-cooked eggs in halves, lengthwise, remove yolks, mash and mix with other ingredients and finely chopped chives. Make in balls size of original yolks and refill whites.

Another filling may be made according to this recipe: Take six eggs, three tablespoons grated cheese, one and one-half teaspoons vinegar, one-fourth teaspoon mustard, one-half teaspoon salt, few grains pepper and one tablespoon melted butter.

Run cheese and pimientos through the food chopper, mix and spread between thinly sliced bread as in making sandwiches. Cut in half, making triangular-shaped pieces. Butter both sides, place on griddle or skillet. Let brown and turn. Serve while hot.

DAINTY CHICKEN SANDWICHES ARE ALWAYS APPEALING

Try Making This Tasty Filling With Powl Leftover From Sunday's Dinner.

Chicken sandwiches when competing for culinary honors generally obtain the blue ribbon.

There are many and various ways of making these epicurean nibbles. Follow these directions and you will learn a new way.

Leftover chicken cooked in any of the usual ways may be utilized.

Put one cup of this meat through the food chopper with one-half cup celery, one-half cup olives, stuffed or plain.

Add to this mixture sufficient salad dressing to make a spreading mixture.

Use white bread, brown bread or whole wheat bread, cut mediumly thin. Spread the filling on the bread, which has previously been buttered.

The filling is nice spread on split finger or Parker House rolls.

Supreme of Casaba Melon Salad.

Scoop round balls from a ripe casaba or watermelon. Arrange with mayonnaise to taste on lettuce leaves with cubes of grapefruit or pineapple. Garnish delicately with pink coloring.

How the cooking tests were conducted

Slowly, carefully tasting as they went

WOMEN of the United States will be interested in knowing how the new famous cooking tests were recently conducted in New York by four famous cooking experts.

Vegetable foods were chosen and cooked in many ways, because vegetables are so important to the balanced diet. The experts were experienced in discriminating shades of flavor. Not more than three vegetables were cooked and tested at one time in order that the sense of taste should not be blunted. This explains why many tests had to be carried over such a long period of time. In every case, vegetables were cooked in little water with the addition of a dash of sugar won unanimously.

This, at first, might strike some as surprising, but it must be remembered that it is not the purpose of the small amount of sugar to make the vegetables taste sweet. Sugar is used here as a seasoning, and it is perhaps the greatest seasoning of all. It develops the natural, delicate flavors of the vegetables just as does of fruits, cereals, meats, gravies and soups.

Encourage variety and you encourage health for every member of your family. Serve at least two cooked vegetables every day in addition to a raw vegetable salad. Serve at least two fruits every day. Serve milk desserts. Then make the balanced diet so attractive that everyone will welcome it. Good food promotes good health. The Sugar Institute.

This Test Convinced Thousands that "bead" soap is fastest

Super Suds shortens dishwashing one-half to one-third. No waiting for suds. Dishwiping eliminated.

HERE is proof that this new "bead" soap, Super Suds, cuts dishwashing time one-half to one-third.

This amazing test proves—right in your own kitchen—that Super Suds, the new soap in tiny hollow beads, actually works 4 times faster than any chip or flake you ever used. See photo at right.

Right through the glass you see Super Suds burst into full rich suds instantly. Swift, active, all-through-the-water suds that wash clothes and dishes with lightning speed because they work below the surface where the real cleansing is done.

Thousands of American women have made this test. Have found it so convincing that in less than a year's time this new speed soap has replaced chips and flakes in one-third of America's homes!

Briefly, here's what an instant dissolving soap means to women.

1. No waiting for suds. You get suds in a flash, without stirring—whether water is hard or soft, hot or cool.

2. Faster dishwashing with "underwater suds." "Underwater suds" attack dirt with lightning speed. Give an instant, down-to-the-bottom soapiness that speeds dishwashing.

3. No more dishwiping. Because Super Suds dissolves so completely every trace of dirt disappears from dishes in one hot rinse. Dishes drain dry to clear sparkling brilliancy without wiping.

Make this amazing test!

Put a teaspoonful of Super Suds in a glass; a teaspoonful of any chip or flake in another. Now fill both glasses with water cool enough to be comfortable for hands.

Instantly, every bit of Super Suds rushes into each glass through the water. Instantly every drop of water in the glass becomes creamy with soapiness. While in the other glass gummy chips float about, dissolving very slowly.

This is how these two soaps act in your dishpan. This is why Super Suds gets to work faster... cleans with amazing swiftness.

WOMAN IS EDUCATION ASSOCIATION HEAD

Ruth E. Pyrtle of Lincoln, Neb., Elected President at Atlanta, Ga.—Hyde Speaks.

By the Associated Press.

ATLANTA, Ga., July 5.—Official announcement was made before the representative assembly of the National Education Association, in convention here yesterday, that Miss Ruth E. Pyrtle, principal of the Bancroft high school of Lincoln, Neb., had been elected president for the ensuing year. Miss Pyrtle received 674 votes to 211 for Miss Effie MacGregor, principal of the John Burroughs high school of Minneapolis. Miss Pyrtle was presented to the assembly and accorded an ovation. Announcement was made of election of the following vice presidents: Willis A. Sutton, Superintendent of the Atlanta Schools; Mrs. Eugenia West Jones, Los Angeles, Cal.; Miss Florence M. Hale of Augusta, Me.; E. H. Whitney, Assistant Superintendent of Schools of Portland, Ore.; Miss Jean L. Soules, Spokane, Wash.; S. M. Ragsdale, Memphis, Tenn.; Miss Elizabeth McCormick, Superior, Wis.; W. A. James, Austin, Tex.; W. H. Holmes, Mount Vernon, N. Y.; John E. Bryan, of Alabama, and W. F. Bond, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, of Jackson, Miss.

Treasurer Re-elected.

The present treasurer, Henry Lester Smith, dean of the School of Education of the University of Indiana, at Bloomington, was re-elected. The directors re-elected Frank E. Reynolds of Columbus, O., as a member of the association's Executive Committee. Joseph M. Gwinn, Superintendent of Schools in San Francisco, Cal., was re-elected a member of the board of trustees.

The trustees met soon after the directors' meeting and re-elected Walter R. Siders of Washington, D. C., chairman, and Miss Kate V. Wofford, superintendent of schools in Laurens County, South Carolina, as secretary. The association's budget committee will continue in force for another year through a vote of the directors.

The board of directors of the association voted to recommend Columbus, O., to the executive committee, for the 1930 convention.

Hyde Talks on Farms.

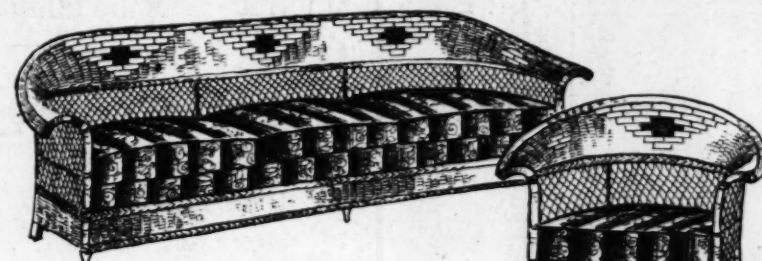

Secretary Hyde in an address told the association that "a place of economic equality and opportunity for the American farmer must be found." "There are, happily, many thousands of prosperous farmers," he said, "but agriculture as a whole has had too small a share of national prosperity. This nation cannot afford to view with complacency any inequality among the old people."

The one general answer to farm problems, he said, is organization "to control marketing, to standardize output, to eliminate the waste and duplication of a marketing and distributing system which, generally speaking, absorbs $2 for every $1 it returns to the farmer. Thus the farmer can approximate the position of industry, or of other groups."

Outlining the purpose of the Federal Farm Board to help the farmer to help himself, he said it "cannot function on its own account" but "the initiative lies with the farm co-operative associations."

Deauville Accents Suits of Wash Silk

TWO-PIECE costumes again were leading everything else for the day in the two-piece suits. But this time the two-piece suits were not of the same type as formerly, but one-piece dress and short jacket. Striped and checked wash silk sleeveless dresses with matching coats are the uniforms of the morning crowds on the boardwalk and tennis courts. In the afternoon one-piece dresses of the same type, except that the dresses are apt to be long sleeved and the jackets sleeveless, are worn. White so far leads with black else for evening wear, with black a close second. White frocks are apt to be of chiffon, satin or faille, but the majority of the black dresses are tulle. Against the black and white costumes, diamond jewelry and costume jewelry are worn. Quite a few yellow frocks, especially in blended shades of buttercup yellow and citron, appear at gala dances. Shaded blue tulle pany and pany, also have created admiring comment.

MEDITATIONS —OF A— MARRIED WOMAN

By HELEN ROWLAND

NO WEDDING RINGS!

"Men won't marry 50 years from now," declares an optimistic (masculine) in the June Cosmopolitan. Just like that!

If you believe all you read in the magazines, this world will soon be like Heaven! There will be neither marrying nor giving in marriage this side of Paradise if the men have their way.

You can hear the rumble of masculine revolt from coast to coast. La femme, say the revolutionists, is The White Man's Burden!

It is a woman who robs man of his wild bachelor freedom, dopes into docility with her lures, drags him through the horrors of wedding ceremony, makes him buy a house in the suburbs, and keeps his nose to the grindstone forever afterward.

It is a woman who turns him from a happy, carefree savage into a miserable civilized "citizen." And all by the power of a wedding ring!

It is a woman who sets up standards of culture, manners and social convention for him to live up to—and then sues him for adultery when he tries to dodge them.

It is a woman who insists on being "loved" when he only wants to be amused; when he is married when he wants to talk about himself, and on being married when he only wants to PLAY.

It is a woman who persists in "filling his life" and overflowing his spare time, when all he wanted was a little diversion and a few old kisses.

In short, if woman could be entirely dispensed with, except for amusement, a man could lead a natural, simple, irresponsible life, having only occasionally, and never worrying about his debts, his children or his complexes.

But let a man hand a woman a wedding ring, and she immediately backs him into a dinner coat and a boiled shirt, and begins making up howling ways of making him spend his evenings, when he might be enjoying himself.

It is she who serves him seven-course dinners, made up of a dab of food disguised with mushrooms or whipped cream, when he is passionately longing for an honest slice of roast beef and a hot potato.

And who polishes the floors to suicidal glassiness, puts down massive Persian rugs, and then has a brainstorm when he walks through his muddy boots?

It is woman who covers the windows with draperies so that he can't see out of them, and chokes off the lights with pink shades so that he can't see what he's reading. Who tidies up his desk, throws away his precious old clothes and hides his fishing tackle in the attic.

Take all the wedding rings out of the world, cry the Bachelors, and man will be a free, free soul again! Women will be as weak as a kitten after Delilah bobbed his hair.

Wise virgins will do their husband-shopping early—and avoid trouble for the last of the wedding rings.

THE HUMAN BODY

By Dr. Logan Clendening

BACKACHES

BACKACHES are nearly as common as headaches. And quite as mysterious. The medical profession is always getting up new theories (or to speak properly, symptoms) on backaches and headaches. They do this because so many people have one or the other, so that both are continuing problems for the practitioner.

All these symptoms one learned another will get up and about the subject from his viewpoint. For instance, with backaches an orthopedic surgeon will discuss the causes of backache as found in diseases of the bones of the spine. Then a kidney specialist will discuss backache caused by kidney disease. Then a generalist or specialist in diseases of women will discuss the symptom as it appears in women caused by diseases of the pelvic organs. And so it's all over patients keep on coming back and not getting any relief for them.

There is one other noticeable thing about these symptoms. No one ever thinks about having a general practitioner read a paper about his experience with backaches. And yet it would seem that a viewpoint of that sort would be valuable—the judgment of a man who is responsible for all sorts of people as they place themselves in his hands—his critical valuation of the methods of the specialists. I know from experience that the specialists get into a general practitioner's unkindness to discuss their ideas.

But the viewpoint of the general practitioner should be valuable because he sees the patient in all his relationships—bodily, mental, and economic. And sometimes a person has the backache because there is any disease of the spine or muscles or kidneys or uterus but because the soul is weary because the burden that is laid upon him is too heavy for the back. That is what the general practitioner sees.

The three commonest pains of the human race are headache, backache and bellyache. Did you ever stop to think that each has a psychological significance.

A Wedding Before Daybreak and a Honeymoon Abroad

STORM OF PROTEST FROM CHURCH PEOPLE FOLLOWS THE MARRIAGE OF COREY AND MABELLE GILMAN.

By GEORGE R. WITTE.

Mabelle
Gilman
At The Time She Became The Wife Of Mr. Corey.

CHAPTER FOUR.

AT 1:29 o'clock on the morning of May 14, 1907, Mabelle Gilman became the wife of William Ellis Corey, president of the United States Steel Corporation. The ceremony was performed in the royal suite of the Gotham Hotel according to the rites of the Congregational Church by the Rev. J. L. Clark of the Bushy Avenue Church, Brooklyn, under an illuminated marriage bell which shed over the bride couple a radiance mellow as moonlight.

The odd hour was chosen by the bride because she refused to be married on the thirteenth, and they were sailing for Europe on the morning of the fourteenth.

The Rev. Dr. Clark had accepted the office of uniting the divorced steel magnate and the former show girl after Bishop Burgess of the Episcopal diocese of Long Island, to whose church the groom belonged, and the Rev. Father Lavelle of St. Patrick's Cathedral, to whose faith Miss Gilman belonged, had refused to perform the ceremony.

There were only 30 guests present, members of the families of the bride couple and a few of Corey's friends who had not deserted him during his trouble. Among the latter were Judge Elbert H. Gary and his wife and Alva C. Dinkey, president of the Carnegie Steel Company, and his wife, Mrs. Jeanette Gilman, the bride's mother, and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Corey, the groom's parents, with whom he had become reconciled a short time before, also were present.

IT WAS variously estimated at the time that it cost Corey between $4,000,000 and $6,000,000 to wed the beautiful actress with whom he had become infatuated during her brief appearance in "The Mocking Bird" in Pittsburgh three and a half years before, and for whom he discarded the wife he had married when he was a $40-a-month tipple boy in his uncle's coal mine at Braddock, Pa., his home town.

Details of the wedding were sedulously guarded until a short time before the supper which preceded the ceremony was served. The name of the officiating clergyman was not made known definitely until late in the evening, after all efforts to retain a clergyman of either the faith of Miss Gilman or Corey had failed.

But the fact that the wedding would be held that night had been published in all the newspapers, and long before the ceremony a large crowd collected on the curb across from the hotel, at Fifty-fifth street and Fifth avenue, who looked up at the brilliantly illuminated windows on the third floor in hopes of catching sight of the wedding party. Detectives moved in and around the hotel and each person who entered was closely scrutinized.

The bride was delighted when, earlier in the evening, she inspected the drawing room where the wedding was to take place and which had been transformed into a chapel. Festoons of smilax depended from the walls interlaced with a wealth of orchids, floral chandeliers were stationed between two pillars. The space between the pillars lent itself to a canopy effect, curtains of orchid, at the north end of the room a flowing from either side of the pillars and being caught up at the walls with sprays of lilies of the valley.

Depending from the canopy was the marriage bell of white satin, filled with orchids and lilies of the valley, which softened the radiance of the electric lights in the cup of the bell. A white satin prie-dieu, beneath which reposed a blanket of orchids and lilies of the valley, was stationed under the bell.

By 11 o'clock, all the guests were assembled in the parlor of the suite, which had been turned into a reception room, and the bride appeared on the arm of her mother.

She wore an Empire gown of white crepe de chine, the skirt of which was trimmed with garlands of embroidered wild roses. The bodice was trimmed with point d'aiguille lace, caught up with trails of embroidered roses. The bride veil was of hand-made tulle, four yards square, and edged with point d'aiguille lace. The costume exhibited the highest attainment of the Parisian couturier's art, and cost $10,000.

The company then sat down to supper—a curiously hushed function without music. At 1 o'clock in the morning, the guests assembled in the drawing room, and a few minutes later the bride and groom made their appearance and walked slowly toward the canopy, where the Rev. Dr. Clark was awaiting them.

Dr. Clark pronounced the marriage ceremony of the Congregational Church and the bride couple knelt before the prie-dieu and received the benediction.

LIKE so many events in human life which require long and careful planning, the wedding of Corey and Gilman was no exception. The ceremony itself went off smoothly and quietly enough, but the departure of the bride couple from the scene of the nuptials was a different matter entirely.

For hours newspaper photographers armed with flashlights had been lined up on both sides of Fifty-fifth street, and the reporters and women writers assembled there were legion. At 2:10 o'clock the bride procession appeared at the street door, with Judge Gary and Mrs. Gary in the lead. The photographers, mistaking these two for the bride and groom, trained their weapons on them and a score or more of flashlights went off in a series of explosions that awakened many of the fashionable sleepers in Fifth avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Corey were a few steps behind. They paused in the doorway when they saw the formidable battery of cameras. The bride whispered something to her husband and they faced the photographers without flinching. But the flashlights had been wasted on Judge Gary and his wife, and a wonderful chance to get pictures of the bride and groom was lost.

For the steel magnate and his bride, seeing the way things had turned out, ran to their waiting automobile and took their seats, shouting with laughter at the consternation of the baffled cameramen.

"Better luck next time!" cried Corey, pulling down the curtains of the car. The automobile started away at full speed.

There were only few cars to be had in those days, but there were plenty of cabs, and a few seconds later a long line of cars and cabs were in hot pursuit of the Corey car, the shouts and yells of the newspaper men to the drivers awakening early morning echoes in Fifth avenue. But Corey and his bride gained the Thirty-fourth street ferry before his pursuers could catch up, and when they saw another army of photographers as they entered the North German Lloyd pier in Hoboken, the groom stepped on the gangplank and defied the cameramen to take his picture under penalty of having their cameras smashed. And no flashlights went off, this being before the advent of the tableds and their photographers who refuse to take "no" for an answer.

As the way across on the Kaiser Wilhelm II, the couple remained in the seclusion of their suite, neither of them exchanging a single word with their fellow passengers. And when a flock of reporters boarded the liner at Plymouth, not one of them got within megaphone distance of Corey and his bride, the companions to their suite being reined off and a great German sailor being stationed in front of this barrier to eject the more daring newspaper men who ventured too close. The bride couple reached

Chateau Villigenis without a single reporter succeeding in interviewing them or a single picture being taken. And once at the chateau, a high wall and a large staff of servants, reinforced by a squad of strong arm men protected them from unwelcome and inquisitive visitors.

But while they were honeymooning amid ideal surroundings, another storm of indignation had broken loose in this country. And it was the Rev. Dr. Clark who had to bear a large share of this new outburst.

Dr. Nehemiah Boynton, also of Brooklyn, a high authority in the Congregational Church, was one of the first to assail Dr. Clark.

"As moderator of the council which recently received the gentlemen who officiated at this so-called wedding into the fellowship of the Congregational churches," he wrote, "I wish to deny the statement that 'Congregational ministers do not mind marrying divorced persons' as explicitly as language will allow and to repudiate this exercise of ministerial function as an expression of orderly Congregationalism with as much vehemence as can be generated by the humiliation and indignation which any loyal Congregationalist feels in having his denominational principles maligned and name disgraced by connecting them in any way with such a miserable, unholy and disgustingly bestial proceeding."

From many a pulpit, the marriage was denounced as sinful, and in many an editorial the Corey-Gilman marriage was called "An outrage on decency" and "the beginning of progressive polygamy under cover of a law made possible by the bribes given by wealth."

THE Rev. Dr. Clark, however, refused to take these stern rebukes as merely as some persons had expected. He explained that great immorality would ensue if ministers refused to marry divorced persons.

"No one who saw them could doubt that it was a love match," he declared. "In a case like that I would not hesitate to marry a divorced person; but I would be sure first that the divorce was all right. I had proof that was sufficient to satisfy me. I have a good opinion of a man who, when he sees that things are unhappy at home, is gallant enough to allow his wife to get a divorce without contesting it."

Long before the honeymooners returned, a new question in connection with their marriage loomed up as the great point of debate of the hour: Would Corey and his bride be received by society?

The big five-story mansion at 503 Fifth avenue, which the steel magnate had leased a month before the wedding, had been redecorated and furnished in anticipation of their return, and was ready for occupancy when they arrived on the French liner La Savoie on July 20.

Corey at first expressed displeasure when he found a large group of reporters awaiting him as the All ship reached Quarantine, but then he yielded a bit: "I guess you must be pretty nearly through taking an interest in my affairs, so if there is anything I can tell you let me know."

He was asked whether the persistent report that he would resign as head of the United States Steel Corporation were true. He denied that he had lost his supporters on the board of directors or that he would retire, declaring he had returned earlier than at first planned because of the work that required his attention.

All that Mrs. Corey had to say on this occasion was that she would never be seen on the stage again.

Very soon after their return to New York, it was apparent that society would have nothing to do with Corey and his young actress-wife. Only rarely did automobile or carriage stop in front of their home and this or the other personage of high social standing alight to call on the wife of the steel magnate.

But although many rumors were circulated that Mrs. Corey had been snubbed by society when her husband had sent out invitations to affairs at his home, she denied that she was lonely or had social aspirations. And finally she broke her long silence and received a woman reporter.

"I would not care to lead the life of a social butterfly," she declared emphatically. "Life holds more important things. And as for the reports that society has snubbed me, we have both learned not to care."

"And, really, no one has an idea of the true situation. Everything that has been said is far from the truth. The public does not know the facts. But why try to enlighten them? The best we can do after all, is to lead our own lives and not distress ourselves over the wrong judgments of others."

Also, she went on, her music and her home were much more to her than society, and she found happiness and contentment in them.

But when the social season in New York was at its height and everybody who was anybody was in town, Mr. and Mrs. Corey sailed for France.

(To Be Continued Monday.)

LAW AND FALSE PRETENSES

By Dorothy Fooks

THERE are many discriminations in law which give the particular crime an aspect of difference. Each in the true sense of the word deals with theft. In law, however, there are many things taken into consideration. The method of parting with the property is an important matter in determining the exact status of the crime.

Larceny is a method of theft. Conversion is another. Robbery, burglary, counterfeiting all are in the same classification, yet each is interpreted by degrees that are distinct crimes, and punishable by different sentences.

In the courtroom, a woman and her husband were the prisoners. It appeared that on a simple statement of facts they were arrested and brought to answer charges against them. They were in a store and made a purchase of a small radio set. They issued a check and both signed as people do who have joint accounts in a bank.

The storekeeper appeared regular enough and the storekeeper entrusted the radio to them. After the check was exchanged for the purchase they walked out, entered a automobile and drove off. The check they had given was returned "no funds."

The storekeeper, after some police investigation, discovered the culprits. They were defendants in a case brought on by themselves. Whether or not the intention to obtain property under false pretenses existed to make the transaction a criminal offense was the question at the bar.

For several months before these defendants entered the store they had no money in the bank on which the check was drawn. As a matter of fact, they had drawn no other checks except this one since their account was closed.

The crime of obtaining goods under false pretenses is a statutory one. The statutes creating this crime were passed to remedy a defect in the law of larceny. If a person induced another to sell to or otherwise vest property in him, the intention of the owner being to part with the title as well as the possession of the property, the person receiving the property was not guilty of larceny, even though he induced the owner to part with the title by means of a false pretense. To meet this difficulty the statutes of false pretenses were enacted.

The difference is quite marked if one can differentiate the fine points. The legal interest acquired in the property obtained must be nothing less than the title. If the owner intends to part only with the custody or possession of the property and not with the title, the person obtaining by false pretenses is guilty of larceny if he converts the property. In that instance, he would not be guilty of obtaining the possession of property under false pretense. The pretense made by the prisoner on which the property is obtained must be false, otherwise the crime is not committed. Not only must the pretense be false when made, but must be false when the property is obtained.

Black Flag also comes in Liquid Form. Equally deadly. Only 35¢ a half-pint. Why pay more?

Really reproduced at last—that wonderful flavor of beans baked in the ground.

The first reproduction of that "baked-outdoors" flavor!

You've heard of the "bean hole" beans of the Maine woods lumber camps, of course. They're baked in the ground.

The big old iron bean pot, filled with alternate layers of beans, sugar-cured pork, molasses and brown sugar, is buried in a bed of pine embers in the "bean hole"—the outdoor oven in the ground. There it slowly bakes all night.

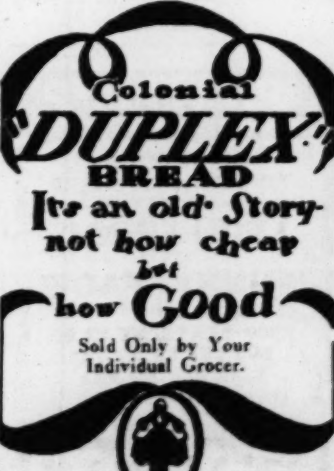

This gives the finest baked-bean flavor known—pine fragrance mingled with wood smoke.

And now this "baked-outdoors" flavor is really reproduced for you—in Bean Hole Beans. They're an achievement in fine foods which you will want to enjoy regularly. Two sizes at your grocer's—medium, 15¢; large, 25¢. Van Camp's, Indianapolis.

Lots of sugar-cured pork, molasses and brown sugar in Bean Hole Beans.

NEW YORK, July 6.—Bidding up of a number of stock specialties checked the week-end selling movement today's two-hour session of the market. Losses were limited for the close, and more action prominent issues were more into new high ground. Aside from a few more June sales reports from the systems, there was practically no news in the day's news to the market. The early day's profit taking which had been a constant in several sections of yesterday, which was the announcement of a 10% increase of $27,000,000 in Reserve brokers' loans. While the jump in broke was not unexpected, its size approximating the record increase reported for the 1928, took traders' breath for a moment, and had an effect upon speculative action. The abrupt upturn, however, attributed largely to speculation over the turn of the year, and another case in acceptance rates tended to out forecasts of better conditions for the next few least.

Food Shares Rally
Food shares were prominent in the rally, influenced by rumors and earnings of Corn Products, Continental and Coca Cola rose about points to record prices. Kodak was a buoyant feature of the session, soaring 1 1/2% to a record price of 28 1/2%. Case Thimble was up 2 1/2 points to a peak at 24 1/2. International phone, Allied Chemical, Steel, Simmons, Underwood and Peoples Gas were all up. American Telephone, which had been under moderate pressure in recent sessions, rose 1 1/2 points. International Business Machines, Western Union, Carbide, Atchafalca, Lac International Harvester and rose 2 to 4 points.

A number of issues which had been in profit taking yesterday lost their advance in profit taking. General Motors sold down 10 1/2 to 50 1/2. General Motors closed 5 lower. Commodities lost nearly 3 points. Pont dropped 4 points. A. Johns Manville and Blount 2, and such as Steel and New York Central point and more.

Foreign exchanges were practically unchanged. The yen holding at 34.8. Japanese yen rallied 1-1/2 further.

How Money Market Was
Member banks were increased their discounts at the Federal Reserve in aid the money market. The money market midyear settlement period is shown clearly in the statements of both the bank and the system as. The banks did not move money through the bill by purchase of Government. On the contrary, the banks show holdings of Federal Reserve notes a week ago. On the 1st of discounts at the local $108,000,000 during the period the system were up by nearly the same amount. Revival of interest in on a large scale is re-foreshadowing early development of considerable importance. This company, lean corporation, already contact with the French having exclusive "right" formulas for use in the States. Earnings for quarter this year increased over the corresponding of 1923, amounting to a share against 46 cents a year.
